AN INTRODUCTION TO '76—The Pickaway County Bicentennial Commission's official kickoff of the celebration of our Nation's 200th birthday was attended by about 400 persons Saturday at the Fairgrounds Coliseum. The County Band under the direction of James Kibby assisted by David Price, Boy and Girl Scout units, the Ohio National Guard, the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, The Maranatha Singers of Circleville Bible College, and the Elks Singers were all part of the program. Circleville native and former mayor of Columbus, M. E. Sensenbrenner, was the principal speaker. Rebecca Barr who designed the county's Bicentennial logo, received a plaque for her design. It was presented by Pickaway County Commissioner Dick T. Tootle and his fellow commissioners Donald Strous and Robert Liston. Walton Spangler is chairman of the Bicentennial Commission, Ned Harden is the coordinator.

Laos Falls Under Control Of Communists

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The State Department says the United States has no plans to evacuate the 1,000 Americans in Laos although the Communist Pathet Lao apparently are taking over the landlocked Indochinese kingdom.

"The situation doesn't appear to warrant it," said a State Department spokesman in Washington.

Vientiane, the Laotian capital, remained calm following a speech Sunday in which Premier Souvanna Phouma in effect conceded that the Pathet Lao now control the coalition government of rightists, leftists and neutralists established under a 1973 peace accord.

"Important changes have taken place which some had not expected so suddenly, but they are here," said the 73-year-old premier, a neutralist who for years tried unsuccessfully to forge a balance between the conservatives and Communists.

"We must stop the fighting. The war has reached an end," Souvanna Phouma told a meeting of high-ranking officials attended by King Savang Vathana. "...It is our great chance to preserve our country from further bloodshed which surely would take place if one continued to ignore the march of historical events."

The premier's speech followed the Communist victories in Cambodia and South Vietnam, attacks by Pathet Lao forces on various positions held by the rightist Royal Laotian Army, the resignation of four of the six rightist members of Souvanna Phouma's coalition cabinet and the removal of three top-ranking rightist generals from their army commands. This left the Pathet Lao the dominant faction in the government.

Defense Minister Sisouk Na Champassak and Finance Minister Ngon Sananikone, two of the strongest rightists, were among those who resigned. Diplomats in Vientiane expect the three-faction "Government of National Union" to continue, but predict the new rightist ministers will be men of less stature who will pose no challenge to Pathet Lao control.

In the wake of the Pathet Lao army attacks and a student demonstration Friday against the U.S. Embassy, a number of high-ranking officials associated with rightist, pro-American groups left Vientiane, along with Vietnamese and Chinese businessmen. But the city was peaceful Sunday on the Constitution Day holiday.

The Laotian government in a broadcast Sunday night appealed to the populace to remain calm and said Laotian and foreign residents were prohibited from leaving the country. The broadcast charged "certain rightist groups" were trying to panic the population with rumors of bloodshed.

Champassak and Sananikone were among those who fled to Thailand. Both were reported headed for Paris, and the Thai government said it wanted friendly relations with the Laotian government and would not give asylum to any political refugees from Laos. It took the same stand toward political refugees from South Vietnam and Cambodia after the Communist victories there.

Elsewhere in Indochina:

The new Communist regime in South Vietnam ordered members of the former South Vietnamese armed forces and of the civil service to register by Saturday.

A Saigon broadcast said two dozen generals and 1,500 other senior officers registered last week. It said officers from lieutenant through colonel and civil servants were to report to the central police station in Saigon by Saturday, while lower-ranking soldiers were to register with their local security units.

Armed security units made up of volunteers have been set up in every district and village of South Vietnam, Saigon's Liberation Radio said. It reported that 2,700 young people from the Youth and Students Federation of South Vietnam have volunteered for security, peacekeeping and traffic duty in the capital.

Liberation Radio said 1,700 young people in Saigon attended four-day indoctrination courses at the "Youth Voluntary Training Center" last week.

"The aim of the courses is to emphasize the significance of the great victory and the liberation of South Vietnam and the new duties of youth and students in supporting and protecting the revolutionary authority," the broadcast said.

"Youth now must keep revolutionary spirits to deserve to be called youth of the Ho Chi Minh Era."

Another broadcast from Saigon said plans were being made to repair and reopen the city's Tan Son Nhut airport, hit by rockets and shelling in the last days before the Communist takeover.

Communications with Western newsmen who remained in South Vietnamese after the surrender of Saigon continued to be fragmentary and sporadic. But Matt Franjola of The Associated Press drove through the Mekong Delta and reported commerce booming, farmers preparing their rice fields for the rainy season and homes being rebuilt. He said there appeared to be a new spirit among the people.

From Cambodia, a broadcast Sunday stressed "unity forever" between Cambodia and China and thanked North Korea, North Vietnam and Laos for their support in "defeating the U.S. imperialists." Nothing was said about the Soviet Union.

"The victory of the Cambodian

Ministers Reach 'Understanding' On Cuban Embargo

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western Hemisphere foreign ministers have reached a "general understanding" on ways to end the Cuba embargo, although the next step toward lifting the 11-year-old embargo may not come until later this year at the earliest.

The reported agreement on Cuba is the major achievement thus far of the annual Organization of American States meeting under way since Thursday. Although Cuba was not even mentioned in the 37-point agenda, it has been a dominant topic of corridor deliberations at OAS headquarters.

In an impromptu meeting with reporters Saturday, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said, "I have the impression there is a general understanding of where we want to go" on the Cuba issue.

Currently 12 of the 21 voting OAS nations are on record in support of an end to the embargo but a two-thirds majority or 14 votes is needed.

Costa Rican Foreign Minister Gonzalo Facio said a consensus was emerging in support of a special meeting later in the year to permit changes in the procedure governing lifting of the sanctions. Facio said the two-thirds majority requirement would be scrapped in favor of rule by simple majority.

Once the procedural problem is resolved, a meeting would be held to formally end the sanctions.

The divisive nature of the issue was reflected last November in Ecuador where the will of the 12-nation anti-embargo majority was thwarted by nine negative votes and abstentions.

Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro raised the possiblity of improved relations with the United States during discussions last week with Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., who visited the island nation. Castro told McGovern he is considering a series of steps, including release of some or all American political prisoners on the island.

Even though most ministers agree on the need for procedural reform, the scene outside the OAS Saturday demonstrated that at least some Cuban exiles continue opposition to Castro's regime.

A crowd of about 1,100 exiles and supporters marched peacefully, calling on the OAS to keep the embargo and shun relations with Cuba.

Field Diet Of Edible Weeds Good, Foragers Discover

BLACK DIAMOND, Wash. (AP) — "Everything I point out to eat will be something I've eaten," David Jansen said. And with that, the 25 foragers were off for a weekend of learning to live off the land.

"I read all about these in books, but you never really know for sure until somebody shows you," Bob Rollin, a forestry teacher at a local high school, said later. The group nibbled its way along the roadside, sampling miner's lettuce, bedstraw, sheep sorrel and licorice fern roots.

Jansen, a freelance instructor in edible wild foods, explained the various goodies as the group moved along. Winter cress, in the mustard family; curly dock, a good rhubarb substitute; young fern fronds, with an almond flavor, and several other plants were sampled and approved.

At one point, the group came upon a fir tree. Jansen explained "the needles taste turpentiney, but there's a lot of vitamin C. It's OK, if you like it."

Later, a Seattle woman pointed out lichen. She told the group it could be pounded into a powder, mixed with water and made into a pan bread. She said it was high in protein, though "not as high as insects."

"In survival situations, grubs — even worms — provide proteins and fat," she said.

She told one interested party that slugs also can be eaten.

"I eat raw eggs frequently, but I don't know if I could eat a slug," Rollin muttered.

The menu for the big feast of the excursion finally was decided. Jansen said the group treated itself to a main course of fuzzy thistles, cattail soup, a nettle dish, a fireweed dish and some mustard greens, chickweed and miner's lettuce salads. The meal was topped off with ginger and mint teas.

Russians Set Grain Storage Expansion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union plans to increase its grain storage facilities by nearly one-third by 1980, a move U.S. experts say could save much of the Russian crop now lost each year because of poor handling after harvest.

Fletcher R. Pope Jr., a specialist in the Agriculture Department's Economic Research Service, told a reporter he could not predict whether an improved Soviet grain handling system might eventually mean a lesser need for imports.

Pope said the Agriculture Department estimates about 10 per cent of the Soviet Union's grain harvest is lost each year on the average, much of it from lack of modern storage and handling facilities.

The proposed grain storage expansion was outlined in a report by A. Paul Danyluk, assistant U.S. agricultural attache in Moscow. He said the Soviet plan is to construct about 40 million metric tons of additional off-farm storage capacity in the next five years, boosting the total capacity to 180 million tons by then.

"The sharp rise in construction plans follows in the wake of grain crops in 1973 and 1974 that were the largest ever," Danyluk said. "It also suggests a response to criticism about the high losses of grain due to shortages of both storing and drying facilities."

The push to improve storage facilities is reminiscent of similar massive expansions in the United States in the early 1950s when huge surpluses of wheat and corn caused existing warehouses to overflow. Currently, U.S. grain storage capacity — not counting farmers' own units — is around 160 million tons.

Danyluk said Soviet leaders became aware of storage deficiencies after the 1973 grain crop yielded a record of 222.5 million tons, about 25 million more than anticipated.

Agriculture Department officials think Russia may still be a fairly consistent buyer of corn or other feed grains if Moscow's plan to push livestock production continues. Improved grain handling and storage in the Soviet Union could, if crop losses are reduced, alter the situation in future years.

Ohio No Smoking Law Blasted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio restaurant operators are set to assail a bill in the General Assembly tonight to ban smoking in public except in certain designated areas.

"We don't need that dadblasted bill, and we can't live with it," said Robert Henry, executive director of the Ohio State Restaurant Association.

He said the association will send eight witnesses before the Senate Ways and Means Committee for the first hearing set aside for opponents, proponents had their say at two previous hearings.

Henry said the eight are all restaurant operators who will tell the committee how the legislation would affect their individual operations. "There are a lot of reasons why we are against it," he said.

He said it is impossible, for one thing, to estimate the cost that would result from language in the measure. It says smoking areas in public places must be "so separated from the rest of the place of public assembly as to prevent the inhalation of tobacco smoke by nonsmoking persons."

Henry said this means restaurants would have to parition their places and change the ventilation and air conditioning. "The cost would be substantial to every restaurant in Ohio," he added.

The association also plans to report to the committee that during the first week of January 1974, 13 restaurants in Dayton gave the segregated areas a try. The veteran lobbyist said only five of fifteen no smoking tables were filled at the busiest time during the week.

He said in a survey 3,192 regular "dine out" customers were polled by the National Restaurant Association and asked to list the things they considered when selecting a restaurant. Henry said less than 3.2 per cent mentioned smoking as a factor.

Further, Henry contended the bill would increase labor costs. "You'd have to have a full time hostess, and someone who was good with people because a lot of times, they would be standing in line with tables empty."

The Monday night hearing opens a full round of committee action in both houses this week, although the major event will be House floor action Tuesday on the state's $10.7 billion budget bill for the next two fiscal years. Departmental hearings on that document started in the Senate in advance several weeks ago and are continuing this week.

Otherwise, a House insurance subcommittee plans hearings Tuesday and Wednesday, respectively, on major bills giving Ohio a system of no fault auto insurance and creating a joint underwriting association to assure doctors and hospitals of medical malpractice insurance coverage.

The Senate Commerce and Labor Committee plans a second hearing Wednesday on a bill to establish collective bargaining procedures for public employes and permitting them to strike—except for police and firemen.

Wednesday morning, the House Judiciary Committee will hear more testimony on a revised version of Atty. Gen. William J. Brown's omnibus drug control bill. Among its major features are mandated jail terms for traffickers and a proposed lessening of the penalty for possession of marijuana.

A bill to prohibit actions by public agencies at closed meetings is due for a vote Wednesday afternoon in the Senate Judiciary Committee. Hearings continue in the House Economic Affairs and Federal Relations Committee on Tuesday night on proposals to ban nonreturnable beverage cans as an effort to curtail littering.

ROUNDTOWN

THE Bicentennial kickoff Saturday was a fine program and Walton Spangler, county bicentennial chairman, and Ned Harden, coordinator, are to be congratulated . . . It is unfortunate that more people didn't attend . . . The Pageant of Flags which is a history of the American Flag will be available for presentation at other functions throughout the county and is an excellent bit of history.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices showed a scattered pattern today amid strong counteravailing forces of profit taking and buying on expectations of a developing economic recovery.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 2.04 at 848.09, but the over-all New York Stock Exchange tally showed gainers ahead of losers by about a 3-2 margin in continued active trading.

Brokers said the pace of profit taking might have been stepped up somewhat by uncertainty over whether the expected upturn in the economy might be slower than some observers had been hoping.

Occidental Petroleum, the Big Board volume leader, rose ½ to 16⅞ after a 1½-point gain Friday, when the issue also led the active list. Late this morning the company reported finding a new natural gas field in California's Sacramento Valley.

people is the same as the victory of the Chinese," the broadcast said.

The International Red Cross Committee in Geneva defended its delegation in Phnom Penh against a charge by West German television reporter Christoph Froeder that when the city surrendered, the delegation panicked and fled to the French Embassy, abandoning wounded Cambodians and medical supplies.

The committtee said the delegation tried to get the Khmer Rouge to recognize the neutral zone it proclaimed at the Hotel Le Phnom. But it said the Communist seized the medical supplies and ordered the foreign personnel evacuated, and the delegation had to leave the sick and wounded to be looked after by their own families.

Former Premier Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam said in a television interview in the United States that the next countries in line for Communist attack are Thailand and Burma. Ky, a refugee at Camp Pendleton, Calif., said on ABC's "Issues and Answers" that "there is no doubt that after Vietnam and Cambodia...the next step will be Thailand, Burma and other countries near Vietnam."

Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew of Singapore said in Washington that Asians now question whether the United States would fight to defend South Korea. Appearing on the CBS program "Face the Nation," he said there seems to be a consensus in Congress that Japan must be protected but there is debate about South Korea.

Four American ships loaded with 16,100 more Vietnamese refugees were expected to arrive at Guam today. An additional 1,300 refugees were expected Tuesday and Wednesday, according to a U.S. Navy spokesman.

The State Department said that by Sunday night a total of 48,758 refugees were gathered in Guam, Wake, Thailand and the Philippines; another 26,847 were en route to Guam; 18,700 were at Camp Pendleton; 15,000 were at Ft. Chaffee, Ark.; and 2,500 were at Eglin Uir Force Base, Fla.

Congress is still debating how much it will appropriate to aid the refugees. An initial allocation of $98 million was expected to be exhausted over the weekend.

Bicyclist Among Injured In Accidents

Nine persons sustained injuries in six weekend accidents investigated by Pickaway County Sheriff's Authorities.

Seventeen-year-old Carol D. Daniels, Route 5, was treated and released at Berger Hospital for a laceration to the forehead, when she lost control of the car she was driving.

Occurring 8:15 p.m. Saturday, Miss Daniels, was northbound on the Morris-Leist Road when she traveled off the right berm. The auto veered back across the highway into a ditch.

Deputy James Fite investigated the incident.

Larry E. Houser, 25, Route 3, Chillicothe, was cited by Deputy James Dixon for driving left of center, while he was attempting to make a right turn into a service driveway, 12:30 a.m. Sunday.

Northbound on the Chillicothe-Williamsport Road, Houser was making the turn, when he went left of center and was struck by a southbound vehicle driven by Val Skinner, 19, Route 1, Clarksburg.

Ms. Skinner was referred to a doctor for a laceration to the forehead, arm and mouth.

A Route 2, Williamsport man, Frank J. Lutz, 73, was cited by Deputy Dan Dewey for failure to maintain an assured clear distance, when he was involved in a two-car accident, 1:25 p.m. Saturday.

Lutz following a vehicle driven by Elizabeth E. Stonerock, 26, Pancoastburg, both westbound on Route 22, passed a third vehicle when Lutz struck the Stonerock vehicle in the rear.

No injuries were reported.

An 84-year-old Chillicothe man was cited by Deputy Dan Dewey for failure to yield the right of way, when he was involved in a two-car accident, 2:25 p.m. Sunday.

According to the report, Elwood Curtiss, 84, was southbound on Route 23 when he stopped in the crossover at the Circleville-Tarlton Road.

Curtiss then began to cross the northbound lanes of Route 23 when he pulled into the path of a northbound auto driven by Sara E. Betz, 21, Columbus.

Curtiss was referred to a doctor for a lacerated finger. A passenger, Clara Walker, 76, Chillicothe, was taken to Berger Hospital for a fractured pelvis.

Ms. Betz was treated for lacerations to the forehead and contusions of the scalp while a passenger, George L. Fish Jr., Gallipolis, was referred to a doctor for a lacerated hand.

Two youngsters, Sherri Maddux, 12 and Craig Maddux, 6, Washington C.H. were referred to a doctor for bumps they received, when the car they were passengers struck the rear of another car in an accident, 2:55 p.m. Sunday.

According to the report taken by Deputy Bill Huffman, James R. Heeter, 42, 426 E. Union St., was westbound on Route 22 when another car pulled from Route 56 into his path.

Heeter slammed on his brakes to avoid hitting the vehicle. Glen L. Maddux, 40, Washington C.H. following Heeter was unable to stop striking Heeter's auto in the rear.

No citation was issued.

Forty-five-year-old Chillicothe bicyclist, Raymond L. Tomlinson, was taken to the Ross County Medical Center for contusions to the forehead, elbow, eye and shoulder when he lost control of the bicycle he was riding along State Route 180.

Tomlinson was riding in loose gravel when the bike slid throwing him onto the pavement.

Deputy Dan Dewey investigated the incident.

Soviet Ships Open Visit To Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Two Soviet destroyers, first warships of their nation to visit a U.S. port since World War II, docked today under the welcomes of a harbor fireboat's spray, a 21-gun National Guard artillery salute and a party of U.S. Navy officers carrying swords in full formal dress.

In Leningrad, meanwhile, hundreds of curious Russians lined the docks and bands played vigorously as two U.S. warships entered that city's port for the first visit of American Navy vessels to the Soviet Union since World War II.

The five-day exchange visit of the warships was arranged in honor of the 30th anniversary of the Allied victory over Nazi Germany.

In Boston, the Zhguchiy tied up at Commonwealth Pier at 8:30 a.m., followed by the Boykiy, flagship of Rear Adm. A. M. Kalinin, in line behind her about 10 minutes later.

As a band played aboard the Zhguchiy, the crews of the Russian ships manned the rails in full dress uniforms, facing the American officers on the pier.

They exchanged salutes with the USS Albany, a guided missile cruiser berthed on the other side of the pier.

The two Soviet ships, armed with guided missiles, exchanged salutes with 105mm howitzers fired by National Guardsmen as they sailed past Ft. Independence on Castle Island at the mouth of the inner harbor. The Soviet and American flags flew side by side over the fort.

In Leningard, an official of the U.S. consulate said the two American vessels received and returned a 21-gun salute and dipped their flags as they entered the harbor, with a U.S. Navy band playing aboard one of the ships and a Soviet band playing on shore.

Storms Stretch Across Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms stretched from Texas to the lower Great Lakes and eastward to the Appalachians today with the heaviest rainfall in the Texas area, where a tornado watch was issued for the northwesten regions before dawn.

Showers sprinkled the northern half of the Rockies, turning to snow at higher elevations.

Most other sections of the nation were fair to partly cloudy.

The temperature in the Southwest Sunday broke 100 degrees. The high was shared by Buckeye, Ariz., and Palm Springs, Calif., which both had 102 degrees.

LE Student Selected For YCC

Randall Douglas Watkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Watkins, Route 5, Wintergreen Hills, has been selected from the Sixth Congressional District to participate in the state's Youth Conservation Corps (YCC) program for the summer.

The youths were recruited through local school districts to represent each of Ohio's 23 congressional districts.

Selections were made jointly by a board of 12 professional employees from the Department of Natural Resources, and the U.S. Agriculture and Interior departments, according to David Franklyn, Chief of DNR's Personnel and Employee Service Division, which coordinates the state YCC program.

Randy will attend one of two four-week YCC camp sessions this summer where he will receive $200 plus room and board to accomplish work which improves, maintains or enhances the state's natural resources.

The first session is June 21 through July 18, and the second session is July 20 through August 16.

There are four YCC camps in Ohio, two operated by the Department of Natural Resources, and two operated by the federal government.

The two YCC facilities operated by the Department of Natural Resources are at Zaleski State Forest in Vinton County and Shawnee State Forest in Scioto County. Both state forests have environmental resource centers where the YCC camps are conducted.

Also, the U.S. Department of Interior has a YCC camp at Hebron Fish Hatchery in Licking County and the Department of Agriculture's U.S. Forest Service has a YCC camp in Wayne National Forest in Monroe County.

This is the second year for the state-operated YCC camps in Ohio, which in 1974 became the first state authorized by the federal government to operate the camps.

This year, Ohio received a $146,000 grant to operate the two state YCC camps. The grant is part of more than $10.2 million appropriated by Congress this year for a national YCC program.

The growing YCC program provides summer work experience for thousands of young Americans each year. The YCC campers work and live in an outdoor atmosphere that creates opportunities for a better understanding and appreciation of the natural environment.

Work performed by YCC crews includes trail construction, reclamation of land, timber stand improvement, construction of picnic areas, erosion control and stream bank stabilization and wildlife habitat improvement.

Lima Girl Slain At Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—An 18-year-old Lima girl, on her way home for Mother's Day, was found shot to death Sunday near a busy Cincinnati expressway ramp, Cincinnati police said.

A 13-year-old boy said he saw the girl's body while passing by.

An autopsy was scheduled today. Police said the girl had been shot in the head.

Thieves Get Two Rugs

Thieves broke into J. Born Floors, 114 W. Main St., to take two Oriental rugs valued at $295.

Jack Born, owner of the store, told Circleville Police that entry was gained by breaking the glass from a west side door to permit access to the door lock. The store was unattended from 11 a.m. Sunday to 8:45 a.m. Monday.

The carpeting included a gold three-foot by five-foot Oriental rug valued at $140 and a moss green three-foot by five-foot Oriental rug valued at $155.

Leonard Turnage, 406 N. Scioto St., told police that thieves took a 10-gallon stone crock from his front porch Saturday or Sunday. The crock is valued at $25.

David May, 1248 Norfolk Ave., told police that he was shot in the buttock with what was suspected to be a BB while he was at the rear of his house Sunday.

Local Engineer Receives Outstanding Service Award

Frank S. Baum, Route 1, Lockbourne, received the "Outstanding Service Award" from the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers (OSPE) at its board of directors meeting May 1. It was the first award presented at OSPE's three-day annual meeting held in Toledo, May 1-3.

Baum, employed as a consulting engineer at Burgess & Niple, Ltd., Columbus, was presented the award by Charles G. Smith, president of OSPE, "for his willingness to serve as asked, his dedication to assigned tasks and, most of all, the quiet and efficient manner of accomplishment of these assignments."

After graduating from Ohio State University in 1934 with a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering, he worked for the U.S. Department of Agriculture until 1939. From then to 1950, he was Pickaway County engineer except for a three-year military absence as a civilian employee of the U.S. Signal Corps.

It was in 1950 that he became employed with Burgess and Niple, his current employer.

Baum joined OSPE in 1939, the same year the society's Southern Ohio Chapter was formed. He has served as that chapter's president, vice president and director and is now completing a third term as state director for the chapter.

He is currently the chairman of the OSPE Professional Practices Committee, the same committee he has been a member of since 1960. Baum has also served on the public relations and engineers week committee of OSPE.

Committee Approves Harsha Bill

The House Public Works and Transportation Committee has approved legislation, sponsored by Congressman William H. Harsha, extending the Appalachian Regional Development Act of 1965 for another two to four years and at a higher level of funding.

The Sixth District Representative, ranking Republican on the committee, said that he hopes for House passage of the bill before the end of the month. The Senate Public Works Committee has not yet completed hearings on its version of the Appalachian legislation.

Appalachian highway construction programs, which were to terminate at the end of the 1978 fiscal year, would be continued through fiscal year 1980 under the amended legislation.

Non-highway programs would be extended by four years, through Sept. 30, 1979 (hencceforth the Federal Government's fiscal year runs from October through September).

The extension bill authorizes federal spending of $300 million a year on the Appalachian highway program, beginning in fiscal year 1977. The existing law authorizes $185 million for 1977, and $180 million for 1978. The existing spending authorization of $185 million for fiscal 1976 remains unchanged in the new bill.

For non-highway programs, including health, education, housing, pollution control, and timber development, the bill authorizes $340 million in federal funds for the two fiscal years ending Sept. 30, 1977, and $300 million for the next two years ending Sept. 30, 1979. The current authorization for the two years ending June 30, 1975, is $294 million.

Also approved was an $8 million federal constribution to administrative expenses, shared 50-50 with the states, for the Federal-State Commisssion for the four years through 1979.

School Formula Still Unsettled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Supporters of a bill to establish a guaranteed equal yield formula for state aid to public schools say they have found truth in the old saying that holds "you can't please all the people all of the time." The ambitious plan is designed to offset disparities among property tax valuations in school districts by guaranteeing an equal return of state dollars per pupil for equal local taxing effort. The emphasis is on local effort rather than wealth.

Convinced that the new formula will please at least some of the people some of the time, sponsors are inching along with the complicated legislation relatively intact in the Senate Education and Welfare Committee.

Two major objections to the new aid system have been raised: It would perpetuate heavy reliance on local property taxes for financing of primary and secondary education, and it would not benefit high effort, high wealth districts.

The antitax forces will have to present a workable alternative for school funding to dissuade the equal yield advocates, who are resigned to property taxes as a rather unpleasant fact of life.

In its current form, the new plan would provide 48 state dollars per pupil for each of the first 20 mills assessed locally and $42 per pupil for each additional mill up to 30.

Those goals might have to be scaled down, but the legislature is expected to provide enough new money in the state budget — about $500 million — to implement the formula.

Districts that are both wealthy and willing contend the formula robs Peter to pay Paul.

"They have a legitimate complaint," said Sen. Donald J. Pease, D-13 Oberlin, chief architect of the bill.

He said framers of the proposal may raise the 30-mill ceiling for local assessments to 35 or 40 mills.

School districts would be required to levy 22 mills of real estate tax next year to qualify for the program, but as the bill currently is written the state's guaranteed return would be cut off at 30 mills.

Cincinnati school officials have told the committee their district will go bankrupt in three years if the formula is enacted into law. The district, which has a relatively high tax valuation but low local tax effort, is a classic example of the type of area that would not greatly benefit from the formula.

Pease did not buy the bankruptcy argument.

"What is suspect," he told representatives of the district, "is that Cincinnati is making a strong case for itself, but not necessarily an accurate case."

The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation has expressed opposition to a key plank in the bill that calls for equalization of property valuations by class of real property for the purpose of school taxing.

"They are afraid farmlands will not be assessed equally with commercial, industrial and residential property," he said.

A Page Of Opinion

Return Of The 'Deuce'

Would the bicentennial year of 1976 be a good time to reintroduce the $2 bill? Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing James A. Conlon advocates such a move. Of course Conlon has been in favor of the $2 bill's return for years, against a strong current of opposition from the Treasury Department.

As the man in charge of printing the nation's currency, Conlon sees several advantages to bringing back the denomination dropped in 1963. For one, the cost of printing money — as with many other items — has risen significantly in recent years.

In 1972, the cost was calculated at $7.76 per 1,000 bills, today it is $11 per 1,000. The cost remains constant, whether it is a $1 bill or a $100 bill, the largest denomination now printed. By printing $2 bills, Conlon argues, the 55 per cent of this printing work going into $1 bills could be reduced significantly.

In addition, Conlon believes, inflation has created a demand for larger denominations. Working against the director's proposal is the fact the $2 was never popularly accepted as a medium of exchange when it was circulated before. More than one man's opinion that times have changed will be required to erase the memory.

Third Rate Leaders

By JIM BISHOP

When I disagree, I am inclined to be loud. This, of course, is vulgar. But, as a lifetime student of man, I see people in relation to others who preceded them. For example, I think the President is sly when he calls the immigration of 130,000 Vietnamese "an act of mercy."

I think he's afraid to tell us that Thieu blackmailed him. The implied threat was that unless we accepted the unwanted babies, and unless we accepted the affluent adults, Thieu, would not permit our 6,000 Americans to leave. He could not be responsible, he said in a speech, for what his people might do to our people.

That's a threat. We spent $150 billion and 56,000 of the cream of our manhood propping Thieu in his American-made palace. When he fell, and couldn't find a plane big enough to carry his gold bullion, he called us traitors.

Forgive me, but Thieu is a heel. A vicious ingrate. My feelings about historical figures of this decade are best summed up by stating that most of our world leaders are less than meets the eye.

I was scanning a book written by Donald Robinson for Putnam called, "The Hundred Most Important People in the World Today." Mr. Robinson is a qualified pro. The copyright line is 1970, so, in reading this tome, we are looking backward at his judgments of five years ago.

The opening chapter is headed: "Richard M. Nixon. President of the United States, the most important man in the world." Bear in mind, this book is going to remain dusty on the shelves of public libraries for a long time. Children of this and the next generation will read it.

Among the 100 most important men he lists Charles de Gaulle. Monsieur le President was the most selfish, intractable leader of a defeated nation in modern times. The U.S. had to give uniforms and guns to Gen. Leclerc's division so that they could parade into Paris as victors.

Tito is listed far ahead of such great men as Jonas Salk and Enrico Fermi. The only credit which can be accorded to Tito is that he divorced his brand of Communism from the Soviet Union and made Stalin truckle to Yugoslavia's independence.

Gamal Nasser is listed as "leader of the Arab world." He led Egypt into losing two wars with little Israel. The Arab world listened to King Faisal. Nasser and Faisal are dead, but Faisal was so strong he wouldn't permit Nasser to shine his shoes. Assuming that Faisal wore shoes.

Indira Gandhi and Golda Meir were two leaders of government who, if you take a look at India and Israel, should have tried needlepoint.

Fidel Castro is indeed a leader. When he was in the Sierra Maestras, sobbing for freedom, he was a poor general indeed. If he is among the 100 world leaders, then enslavement of a noble nation is a righteous thing. It is no longer a question of whether the U.S will recognize Cuba, but how much it will cost to have Cuba recognize us.

Moshe Dayan is dubbed "the war hero who directs Israel's fight for survival." If you want a hawk instead of a dove, Dayan is a great man.

Robert McNamara, "who long guided U.S. efforts in the Vietnam War," is among the 100 greatest. That should sink him in history. He was a Kennedy sycophant who, as Secretary of Defense, was a cold autocrat who ran us into the deepest debt. He once contracted for one fighter plane to serve both the Air Force and the carrier fleet. It didn't work.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, applauds Chief Executives who raise salaries beyond 5 per cent, and crudely insults those who regard him as less than a kingmaker. He's old and loud.

Pope Paul VI. Now you're on my home ground. He seems to think that silence connotes intellectuality. Like Meany, he's an "aginner." I have waited a long time to hear of something he favors. He is to John XXIII what a nod is to enduring love.

McGeorge Bundy seems to be listed only because he is "head of the multibillion dollar Ford Foundation." Bundy is, beyond argument, a blinking winking intellectual. Give him all that money and he knows what to do with it. You could do as well.

I disagree with much of what men do in this decade. The world, I feel, is heavy with third-rate statesmen, first-rate scientists, and cowardly generals. America, which is the greatest, strongest, most charitable nation in the world, hasn't got a loyal friend.

Why not list Henry Kissinger in that group of the 100 greatest? Never, in the history of man, has anyone tried harder and failed so miserably . . .

Winter Wheat Crop Off To Good Start

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1975 winter wheat crop is off to a generally good start and may produce a record harvest of 1.62 billion bushels, grain needed to replenish reserves now expected to be at a 27-year low by summer.

Winter wheat makes up about three-fourths of total U.S. wheat output. The estimate, based on May 1 field conditions, was announced Friday by the Agriculture Department.

The department's Crop Reporting Board did not include spring-planted wheat and will issue its first estimate of that production in July. But USDA has projected a spring wheat crop of 525 million bushels, assuming normal yields and expected plantings.

Thus, including the winter crop's estimate, a 1975 record wheat harvest of more than 2.1 billion bushels is in the offing. But USDA a year ago predicted an even larger 1974 crop and saw poor weather, including drought, slice it to less than 1.8 billion bushels.

The May estimate for winter wheat was one per cent larger than the 1.6 billion bushels USDA initially forecast last Dec. 23. Officials said Friday that 1975 yields are expected to average 32.1 bushels an acre, compared with 29.5 last year.

"Winter wheat prospects were generally fair to good on May 1," the report said. "However, growth and development was lagging behind normal for this date in all areas except Texas due to subnormal temperatures during the spring growing season."

In Kansas, the leading producer, the crop was estimated at a record 389 million bushels, compared to 319 million last year. The Oklahoma crop was put at 172 million bushels, up from 134.4 million in 1974; and the Texas harvest at 137.5 million against a drought-ravaged crop of 52.8 million last year.

The Nebraska wheat crop, however, was indicated at less than 91.5 million bushels, down from 98.6 million in 1974. In the Pacific Northwest, however, Washington farmers were expected to harvest 114.4 million bushels compared with 109 million last year.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Morgan not only didn't love his neighbors, he hated them. They were so untidy that debris of all kinds littered their yard. Finally he asked a court to order a cleanup.

"That place is an eyesore," he told the judge. "Besides disturbing me personally, it also reduces the value of my real estate."

However, the judge refused to mix in. He said that generally speaking, a property owner has no right to impose his standards of neatness upon the neighbors.

This has long been the prevailing rule of law. It applies not only to standards of neatness but also to standards of beauty. Consider another case:

A suburban family was offended by the rough, unpainted wooden fence erected by the people next door. But in a court test, the neighbors pointed out that their fence had been put up for the legitimate purpose of protecting their garden.

Again declining to interfere, the court said:

"The defendants were not compelled to consult the taste of their neighbors as to the kind of fence they should build or the color of paint they should use. They were within their rights in satisfying their own taste."

On the other hand, unsightliness may carry at least some weight if there are other grounds for complaint as well. Another court faced the question of whether an auto wrecking yard could operate in an unzoned residential district. The court said:

"Unsightly things are not to be blamed solely on that account. Many of them are necessary in carrying on the activities of organized society.

"But such things should be properly placed, not so located as to be unduly offensive to the neighbors or to the public. A junk yard should not be located in a community of unquestioned residential character."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Letters from my readers indicate a great deal of confusion about low back pain, slipped disc, sciatica and the chronic symptoms associated with them.

Perhaps a better understanding of the anatomy of the spine will end some of the confusion.

The entire spine, from the neck to the tail bone, or coccyx, consists of 33 bones, or "vertebrae.

A firm band of protective tissue, known as interverebral discs, cushions and absorbs the shocks to the spine. They protect the bony edges of the vertebrae and prevent the destructions and wear caused by the constant movement or turning of the body.

Sometimes, after an injury to the spine and the surrounding muscles, one or more of these elastic discs may slip from the normal position. This is known as "herniation" of the disc.

The bulging may press on one or more nerves that make their exit through the spinal cord.

The most dominant symptom is severe back pain. The location of the pain depends on the part of the spinal cord that is involved. A slipped disc high in the neck will, of course, be responsible for distribution of pain in that area.

A herniated, or slipped disc, low in the back may cause pain in that area or send radiating pain down the buttocks and the back of the legs.

There was a time not long ago when the slipped or herniated disc was a self-made diagnosis that almost had social prestige. There can be no guesswork about this problem.

Examination by an orthopedist and neurologist can help to establish the proper diagnosis. Routine X-rays and special myelograms can help pinpoint the exact spot of the suspected herniated disc.

The cause of sciatica and other reasons for low back pain can also be established in this way.

A special word of caution: Some people expose themselves to the dangers of masseurs and spine manipulators before the diagnosis is established. These overactive manipulations can be fraught with danger unless they are specifically prescribed by doctors.

The new vogue for seeking and finding acupuncture "specialists" who function without proper training or guidance has potential hazard. Orthodox methods of treatment may be delayed for a long time. Relatively simple problems can, by delay, become complicated ones.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

Staggering budget deficits approved recently by both houses of Congress represent a strategic retreat in the war against both inflation and recession.

American taxpayers had every reason to expect some stiff congressional belt-tightening after last year's passage of the Budget Impoundment and Control Act.

There is something to be said for having Congress consider the whole pie instead of each piece separately. The budget reform act made this possible by establishing new House and Senate Budget committees and giving them a timetable within which to develop a congressional version of the budget.

The intent was good. A rational overall spending limit was to be created, replacing the practice of voting one each spending request on its separate and individual merits and then adding up the total at the end of the year.

In the first trial run of this new process, which was designed to allow Congress to exercise some control — and presumabley some restraint — over federal spending, the preliminary results have been disappointing.

The House approved a budget resolution calling for a deficit of $70 billion for the next fiscal year. Although less than that projected by the House Budget Committee, it is still the largest peacetime deficit in history. It is doubtful if the Congress will even adhere to this awesome deficit.

I voted against the resolution, because I believe that it carries an intolerable level of spending and one which will fuel inflation and actually retard our drive toward economic recovery.

Earlier the Senate had approved a spending target which carried a slightly smaller deficit, but neither house responded to President Ford's request that the deficit not exceed $60 billion. Even that deficit is too large, although I welcome any sincere effort to hold down this dangerous business of having the government spend money that it does not have.

The red ink could get deeper, since figures being quoted in the approved budget resolution do not include certain federal finances outside the budget and borrowing guaranteed by the government.

A budget deficit in the 70 to 100 billion-dollar range could have disasterous effects on our credit market. To cover this deficit, the government will again be forced to borrow the money and repay it with interest. With the Federal Government as a competitor for the already limited funds in the money market, private businesses, homebuyers, and other consumers will not be able to get the capital they need.

This shortage of funds will drive interest rates up again, along with inflation, and economic recovery will be slowed, if not killed altogether.

As always, part of the problem is the matter of priorities. Both budget committees recommended cuts in our defense program and more spending for welfare benefits, food stamps, and social services.

Nothing in the world situation today suggest to me that it is time for America to disarm. Our very survival depends on a strong national defense.

Economic recovery will not come from increasing the size of the non-productive public dole. American taxpayers want to get back on their feet financially. They want to get this nation back into production, not further involved with programs that weren't needed or wanted even in more prosperous times.

Following conference committee action, Congress expects to approve a budget resolution by May 15. Standing committees in each house will then use this resolution to guide them in their work this summer on authorization and appropriations bills.

Congress wanted more control over the federal budget, and now it has it. However, with that control goes responsibility. The big spenders in this Congress will have no right to criticize the President and no excuses to give the people if they saddle this nation with another large deficit and even greater inflation.

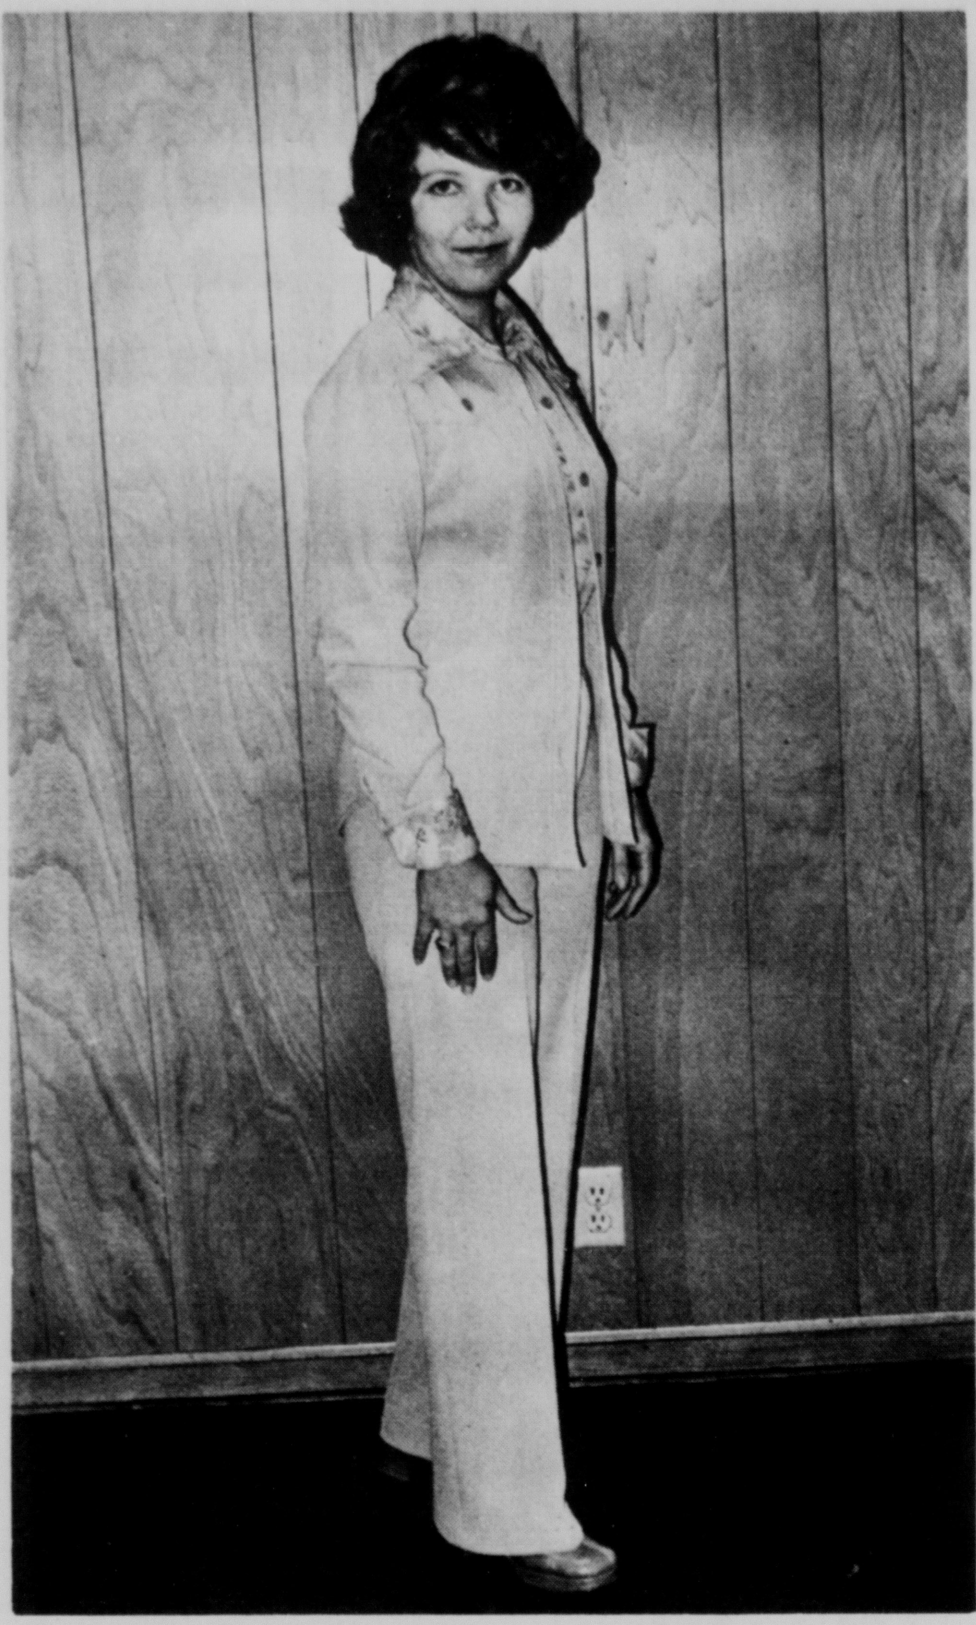
News Of Interest To Women



MRS. THELMA WILLIAMS

Saltcreek Club Member Wins Second In Sewing Contest

Mrs. Thelma Williams, Route 4, Circleville placed second in the state in the Ohio Federation of Women's Club sewing contest held recently.

The sewing contest and style show highlighted the final day of the State Convention held at the Netherland Hilton Hotel in Cincinnati. Mrs. Williams, a member of Saltcreek Town and Country Club, represented the Central Ohio River District and was competing against other district winners throughout the state.

She modeled an earthtone aqua pant suit of ribbed Butte knit. The shirt jacket had front and back yokes with detailed top stitching highlighting both front and back seams. The straight legged pants with a zippered fly front were top stitched at the yoked back. She also made a print shirt blouse of polyester knit featuring a pointed collar and turned back cuffs.

Mrs. Williams resides with her husband, Lowell, and daughters, Kimberle and Terressa at Route 4, Circleville. She began sewing about seven years ago and has learned by the sew up and rip out method as she has not had formal sewing lessons. She thinks that sewing is one of the best pasttimes for her and says it can cut clothing costs.

Besides being an active member of the Saltcreek Club, Mrs. Williams is president of the Saltcreek School Parent-Teacher Organization, an adviser for the Saltcreek Sew and Serve 4–H Club and a room mother at Saltcreek Twp. School. She is employed parttime by Larry Eveland as a secretary.

In an effort to keep society news current, The Herald has established the following policy concerning wedding news:

Wedding forms may be obtained at The Herald from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and until noon on Saturday.

It would be helpful to have the wedding form completed and returned with a picture three days before the wedding.

The Herald will make every effort to publish the story and picture on the next day of publication following the wedding providing the forms and picture are returned before the wedding.

No bridal pictures and stories will be accepted if submitted later than 30 days following the ceremony.

Bicentennial Theme Used For Mother, Daughter Banquet

Red and white striped, and blue petunias, used as favors carried the bicentennial theme into the Scioto Chapel Womens Society's annual Mother-Daughter banquet Wednesday at the Ashville Coffee Shop.

Alice Ward, president, welcomed members and guests, and the Rev. John Currens gave the invocation. Thirty members and guests were present for the dinner, meeting and program.

Mrs. Ward conducted a short business meeting before turning the events of the evening to the program committee, Mary Ellen Downs, Patsy Drummond and Mable Walker.

Audrey Hott read "The Feller Dat Yer Mudder Tinks You Are," Tammy Sprouse read "Mother's Day Cake," Gretchen Fortner gave the musical reading "My Mother" accompanied by Miss Downs at the piano, "Famous Words Of Mothers Of Famous Men" was read by Mrs. Walker.

The oldest mother present was Mrs. Womack, mother of Edith Davis; the youngest mother was Betsy Beard's mother, Judy; Sarah Fullen, Helen Emerine and Violet Currens, each the mother of seven children. Four generations were represented by Mrs. Hattie Pettibone: Thelma Hudson, Linda Beaver and daughter, Cindy. Three generations were represented by Martha Huston, Judy Beard and daughter, Betsy. Flowers and gifts were presented to each in commemoration of Mother's Day.

'Grandmothers Style Show' Highlight For Banquet

A "Grandmother's Style Show" highlighted the annual Mother-Daughter banquet for 160 members and guests of First Church of Christ in Christian Union in the Fellowship Hall on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Connie Whaley welcomed the ladies and the invocation was by Mrs. Grace Moats. Following the banquet, served by men of the church, special gifts were given to Mrs. Muriel Lane, oldest mother present; Mrs. Vickie Kennedy, youngest mother; Mrs. Clara Davis and Mrs. Muriel Lane, most children; Mrs. Marie Allison, oldest daughter and Miss Angela Whaley, youngest daughter present.

Models for the style show were: Mrs. Katie Hutchison, Mrs. Thelma Beavers, Mrs. Florence Herron, Mrs. Gladys Harrison, Mrs. Tana Williams, Mrs. Ruby Kirby, Mrs. Lorraine Benner, Mrs. Goldie Carter, Mrs. Muriel Lane, Mrs. Ellen Holbrook, Mrs. Florence Vanderpool, Mrs. Edna Temple and Mrs. Carol Davis. Narrator was Mrs. Carolyne Peters.

Mrs. Connie Whaley directed the group in singing several selections during the program. Special music was provided by the Gospelaires, Debby Ayers, Debby Payne and Vicky Ayers Beavers.

Mrs. Judy Cyrus read two appropriate poems and Mrs. Linda Grisso led the dismissal prayer.

The banquet was planned by Mrs. Carolyne Peters, Mrs. Donna Wolfe, Mrs. Judy Cyrus, Mrs. Connie Whaley, Mrs. Linda Grisso and the Misses Sue Knece and Julie Temple.

Assisting in decorating were Mrs. Suzanne Ayers and Mrs. Janna Chapman. Piano accompaniement was provided by Mrs. Sonia Frazier.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Three Times Is Three Times Too Much

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 17-year-old girl, graduating from high school this June. My problem is my parents. They don't want me to have anything to do with my boyfriend, who is 19, because I've become impregnated by him three times.

The first two times I was forced to get abortions, and the third time I waited too long, had the baby and placed him for adoption.

My parents have also heard bad things about my boyfriend, but he did those things when he was 15 and 16, and he has reformed now. He has a job and is staying out of trouble.

Abby, there is absolutely no way I could ever stop seeing him. He's a lot of fun to be with, and we love each other and want to get married some day. Please don't tell me to date others because he is the only one for me. We've been going steady for five years and don't like to sneak around behind my parents' backs. Please help me convince them to let me see him.

IN LOVE IN N.J.

DEAR IN: Sorry. I can't blame them for feeling as they do. They have been through three nightmarish experiences with you, and they're not looking for a fourth. When you have matured and are on your own, you won't need their permission, but because of your past mistakes you'll have to wait until then.

DEAR ABBY: With all due respect to Ripley's "Believe it or Not," there is no documentation to support its story that a 99-year-old American Indian woman gave birth to a child. And the same goes for the one about the 64-year-old woman who was said to have produced a child with her 80-year-old husband.

"The Guiness Book of Records" has documents to prove that Mrs. Ruth Alice Kistler (nee Taylor), at 57 years and 129 days old, gave birth to a daughter, Suzan, in Glendale, California on Oct. 18,1956.

AN M.D.

DEAR M.D.: I'll buy "Guinness." But how about the Biblical Sarah who, at age 90, bore a son for her husband, Abraham, when he was 100? (Genesis 21)

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago, my father was told that he had kidney failure and would have to go on a dialysis machine.

Because his kidney failure was recent, the chance of obtaining a kidney transplant was small. (There are adults and children who have waited 10 years and longer for a kidney-transplant because Americans are either unaware of the need or have hungups about having parts of their bodies removed after death.)

Thank heavens there was a dear man who had no such hangup. Unfortunately, he was in a fatal car accident, but he gave up his kidney, which matched my fathers needs. That was two years ago, and my family is eternally grateful to that generous man.

Needless to say, the members of my entire family are card-carrying kidney donors. How I wish more people would become donors. If they knew how much it meant to people like us, they would be.

M.C.P. IN NEWPORT BEACH

Dear m.c.p.; i am, and have been for four years. And if my readers want to leave a legacy of inestimable value, write to The National Kidney Foundation, 116 East 27th Street, N.Y., N.Y. 10016 for a donor card.

What is clean energy really worth?

Clean energy—energy that doesn't blacken skies or pollute rivers—is obviously worth quite a bit. And here's the paradox. The cleanest-burning fuel—and thus the most valuable fuel—is drastically under priced.

That fuel is natural gas.

But, because natural gas is so clean, and so inexpensive, the demand has far outgrown conventional supplies.

We need new sources of clean energy. And we need them now.

Gas from these new sources costs more to find and deliver, and eventually we'll probably all notice it in our gas bills. But natural gas will continue to be your best energy buy.

What is clean energy really worth?
Try to imagine your world without it.
Imagine your children without it.

Columbia Gas is working to help solve the energy crisis. It's expensive to duplicate nature's work, but we're doing it. A reforming plant, built at a cost of over 44 million dollars, turns petroleum liquids into pipeline quality gas and is designed to deliver eighty-eight billion cubic feet of gas each year. It's only a trickle of the new energy America needs. Still, it's shedding a bright hope on tomorrow.

COLUMBIA GAS is doing something about the energy crisis.

Ohio Senate Report

By OAKLEY C. COLLINS
17th District Senator

State Senator Oakley C. Collins reported this week that as a result of the current economic slump the Legislature has turned considerable attention toward tax codes. The overall number of bills introduced thus far in the 111th General Assembly dealing with taxes exceeds any other category of legislation.

Most of these bills attempt to lighten the financial burdens on the taxpayer and pump more dollars into the economy through private spending. In general, they either alter the tax base (who pays) through new formulae and extended deadlines for exemptions, or alter the rate structure determining how much each person pays.

One such bill which would eliminate annual updates of real property valuations is currently before a subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Ways and Means.

Present law calls for reevaluation of real property every six years. This bill would make this a quadrennial reappraisal. However, under current practice the system of annual updates can result in substantially higher evaluations in 2 to 3 years. Hence, property owners are faced with a rapidly escalating tax load.

One possible mechanism to solve this problem is an expanded "rate rollback." Under this concept, when valuations are increased, tax rates are reduced accordingly to provide the same number of tax dollars as under the previous levy.

Another cost cutting concept introduced in both the House and Senate permits gas stations to provide self-service. This bill would eliminate Ohio's requirement that gas be pumped by a station attendant. His requirement was based on safety reasons, but experience with self-service in other states does not indicate a significantly increased accident rate.

Some estimates place the consumer cost of attendant service as high as 6 cents per gallon. With an estimated consumption of 4.9 billion gallons of gasoline and 5.5 million gallons of diesel fuel in Ohio in fiscal year 1975 (July '74 to June '75) the potential savings of self-service amounts to over $300 million annually.

The House passed and sent to the Senate legislation overhauling Ohio's usury law. State chartered financial institutions cannot now lend mortgage money at greater than 8 per cent interest.

This bill would establish a maximum floating interest rate, not to exceed 3 per cent above the Federal Reserve discount rate, for conventional home and business real estate loans. The discount rate is the interest the federal government charges to lend money to other financial institutions.

It also exempts from the usury law FHA, VA, and other state and federally insured real estate loans, and business demand and business single installment notes. The latter two are generally short term loans payable in a lump sum.

The bill is intended to make more money available for new home construction and improvements by allowing state chartered banks to lend money at rates competitive with other institutions. However, when the federal government borrows money to finance next year's $70 billion deficit, prime interest rates may soar to about 13 to 15 per cent. The paradox is that state chartered banks cannot afford to make mortgage loans at 8 per cent while many people will not be able to afford loans with that rate of interest. This bill is really cosmetic in nature since major factors determining interest rates can only be influenced at the federal level.

ORDINANCE NO. 58-75

AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING THE DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC SERVICE TO ADVERTISE FOR BIDS AND ENTER INTO CONTRACTS FOR THE PURCHASE OF A 1975 DUMP TRUCK.

WHEREAS, the Department of Public Service needs to replace two dump trucks that are beyond economical repair for safe operation; NOW, THEREFORE:

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, STATE OF OHIO:

SECTION 1: That the Director of Public Service is hereby authorized to advertise for bids and enter into contracts for the purchase of one (1) 1975 truck equipped with a dump bed and salt spreader according to specifications on file in the Office of the Director of Public Service.

SECTION 2: That the Director of Public Service is hereby authorized to sell the following vehicles owned by the Department of Public Service either as trade-ins on the truck mentioned in Section 1 of this Ordinance or to the highest bidder at public auction as required by the Ohio Revised Code.

1. (1) 1963 Dodge 1½ ton truck with dump bed - Serial No. 1461268681.
2. (1) 1964 Dodge D500 truck with dump bed - Serial No. 1581386974.

SECTION 3: That this Ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Legislative Report

By MYRL SHOEMAKER,
State Representative
88th House District

After weeks of hearings, discussions, ponderings and some frustrations, the biennial budget bill, House Bill 155, emerged from the House Finance-Appropriations Committee with a floor vote anticipated for Tuesday, May 13th.

Without a doubt, the major frustration encountered during the budget formation process was the Governor's withdrawal of support for his corporation tax payment plan which would have resulted in an additional $300 million being available for appropriation during the upcoming biennium.

Pursuant to his statutory duty, the Governor submitted a balanced budget recommendation to the Legislature on March 13th. However, the balanced budget included the $300 million which the new corporation tax payment plan would have generated. Consequently, when the Governor dropped his support for the tax payment plan, his budget became $300 million out of balance.

Although the Governor's actions resulted in unbalancing his budget, the Governor made no recommendations as to where cuts in his many spending proposals should be made so as to once again bring his budget into balance.

In light of the Governor's failure to follow through on his statutory obligation to present a balanced budget, the Legislature assumed the responsibility.

As a result of the work put in by the House Finance-Appropriations Committee, chaired by nine-term Representative Myrl Shoemaker, it would be improper to call the budget bill anything but a true product of legislative action.

Before arriving at appropriation recommendations, the Finance Committee first had to establish how much money would be available to spend between the July 1, 1975 and June 30, 1977 period. Frankly, no one can be certain to the exact dollar just how much money the sales tax or the income tax or the cigarette tax (or any tax levied and collected by the State) will bring in. Consequently, some educated guesses had to be made.

After applying the formula, dubbed "Straight Line Projection and Some Guesses", the Finance Committee determined that there would be $6.12 billion available to spend out of the General Revenue Fund over the next two years. The Governor's original estimate was about $160 million below this.

It was estimated the sales tax will generate about $2.2 billion of the total $6.12 billion, while the personal income tax will bring in about $1.26 billion over the next two years.

In terms of new dollars, the budget calls for spending an additional $502 million in support of our state's primary and secondary school systems. For comparison purposes, the state is now spending approximately $1.7 billion, and will be spending approximately $2.2 billion during the next biennium.

An almost 1-3 increase in state spending for higher education is also proposed. The bulk of the increase is scheduled in the area of instructional subsidies, (basically the giving of money to the schools based on a formula related to the number of students attending) where the state's expenditure will increase from the present $590 million to approximately $790 million.

Another major item of note is the proposal to make the University of Cincinnati (U.C.) a state university. Presently, U.C. is a city university, yet has been receiving during the present biennium approximately $46 million in instructional subsidies from the state treasury. This amount will go to $63 million during the upcoming biennium.

Additionally, and because U.C. has been facing some financial difficulties, the budget proposes to extend to U.S. an additional $20.5 million as an operating supplement. However, the constructive receipt of the $20.5 million is contingent upon U.C. becoming a state university by July 1, 1976.

In an effort to assist families who have been forced on welfare with the rising cost of living, the budget calls for increasing ADC payments to the average femily on welfare from $209 per month to $253 per month.

Also in the area of human services, the budget calls for establishing a Legislative Public Welfare Social Services Review Committee, which will be charged with reviewing the administration of social services in Ohio, in an effort to insure the effective administration and delivery of social services throughout the state.

As a result of legislative frustration with the manner in which certain executive departments have or have not administered government programs established by the Legislature, the budget bill contains several statements of Legislative Intent.

The purpose of these statements is to make it clear that not only is it the intent of the Legislature to give so many dollars to such and such agency, it is also the intent of the Legislature that the dollars should be spent to accomplish certain defined goals.

World Without War, But Peace Uneasy

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

As of now, with the Vietnam fadeout, the world for the first time in about 45 years is without a conflict that can be said to rank as a war, but real peace remains elusive and threats to it are plentiful.

If there's nothing at this moment classifiable as on-going war, there's a lot of armed violence around the world, and there are two cases — the Middle East and Korea — where war has simply been suspended and states of belligerency prevail.

With regard to Korea, the Indochina outcome raises concern that the Communist North, noting a failure of American arms and what it could read as a wholly eroded American will to resist, might step up pressure on the South. Ever since the truce of 1953, the Communists have vowed to "liberate" the South and 40,000 U.S. troops are still there.

In the Middle East, the critical time now comes in July when the mandates keeping United Nations buffer forces between belligerents again will expire. If the current negotiations stalemate looks insurmountable then, the situation will be immensely dangerous.

Since World War I ended 57 years ago, there has almost always, except for relatively peaceful years in the 1920s, been one or more actual wars in progress somewhere on the planet. In 1931 the China-Japan conflict began with Japan's invasion of Manchuria. Then came the Italian invasion of Ethiopia, the Spanish civil war involving outside Communist and Fascist forces, then the Russian-Finnish war and the beginning of World War II.

The big war wasn't over before the Greek civil war started and the conflict in China was transformed into war between the Communist and Chiang Kaishek's Kuomintang. Then came France's seven years of war in Indochina and eight years of war in North Africa, the four rounds of Middle East war between Arabs and Jews between 1948 and 1973, three years of war in Korea with the United States heading a U.N. alliance, and, finally, the American phase of the Vietnam war.

But nations haven't and still don't need outside enemies to find excuses for organized killing. The map is spattered with conflicts wherein citizens of individual nations murder one another over the question, always, of: Who will rule whom?

Guerrilla activity often is equipped and abetted from outside. There still exists a serious threat to the tranquility of Thailand, the only Southeast Asian nation to avoid being colonized. Communist-backed guerrillas, long supported by China, seem to be stepping up their effort, perhaps encouraged by the Indochina outcome.

No Southeast Asian nation has escaped armed violence and in most there is always a possibility that it will became dangerously troublesome yet again.

The Malayan peninsula had its guerrilla insurgency, quelled by the British before the creation of the independent states of Malaysia and Singapore. A variety of political guerrillas, all on the left, are still active in Burma. India accuses China of encouraging guerrilla activity in Assam.

Indonesia almost came under Communist rule in a coup that failed in 1965. The Philippines had its Communist Hukbalahaps of whom there are still remnants and now has its hands full with a Moslem rebellion.

In Europe, Cyprus, for a generation or more the arena for violence between ethnic Greek and Turk, nearly caused Greece and Turkey to go to war last year. At present the situation continues to defy solution and erode the southeast anchor of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Fratricidal strife rooted in centuries of confessional hostility continues to torment Northern Ireland.

Africa experienced a generation of tumult attendant on its emergence to independence. Freedom brought unrest and conflict in the Congo, the Sudan and elsewhere. Today, thirst for freedom stirs Rhodesia's blacks. The guerrilla wars that finally brought Portuguese colonies freedom from that mother country now are being turned into wars among the "liberation fighters" themselves for control.

Ethiopia, long independent, saw its autocratic emperor deposed and then war break out between factions contending for power.

Guerrilla violence dots the map of Latin America, and in Argentina scarcely a week goes by without its toll in blood. Guerrilla movements have existed in a number of Latin-American Nations ever since the Cuban Communist victory of 1959.

In much of the world, experience suggests the outlook is for more of the same. As in the past, the danger in all this can be in the extent to which great powers become directly invovled.

OU Student Killed

LOGAN, Ohio (AP) — James E. Birchall Jr., 21, of New Richmond, a Ohio University student, was killed early Sunday morning when he fell from a cliff at Old Man's Cave in Hocking Hills State Park.

A companion, Kathy Gorman, 20, of Youngstown, was injured when she also fell while trying to reach Birchall.

Bad habits are as easy to get into as they are hard to get out of.

Like calling directory assistance when you don't absolutely have to. You try it once or twice. And before you know it you're hooked.

After a while you don't think twice about picking up the phone and asking us to find phone numbers that, three times out of four, you could find yourself. In the phone book.

And people are abusing directory assistance now like never before. (One customer called us 1,460 times in one month alone!)

The trouble is, calling directory assistance needlessly ends up costing you money.

Because phone information isn't free.

The extra operators we need to service your extra calls cost us money. A cost that shows up on your phone bill. As part of the monthly service charge. Last year millions of consumer dollars were wasted on unnecessary information requests.

And all of those dollars came out of your pocket.

If that doesn't make you mad enough to cut it out altogether, isn't it enough to make you cut it down?

Trial Impossible?

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — James Robert Hunt, 23, has been in custody for more than a year on an aggravated murder charge, but it is questionable whether he ever will be brought to trial.

The case has become bogged down in special legal problems because Hunt can neither hear nor speak and barely is able to communicate.

Hunt has virtually no formal education and was never taught the universal sign language, the basic means of communication for the deaf.

Although his is now receiving such training, it has not been established that he will ever be able to assist in his own defense, a requirement of Ohio law.

Court records show his case is without precedent in Ohio. State law requires that an accused person must be able to understand the nature of the charge against him and be able to communicate and understand trial procedures.

On March 9, 1974, Ruth Norlene Arledge, a 56-year-old widow, was found beaten to death in Tar Hollow State Park.

Hunt, who lived on the same road as Mrs. Arledge with his family, was arrested within a few hours.

Joyce Ann Hunt, the suspect's mother, has told authorities her son has been deaf since he was 18 months old, a result of a high fever during an illness.

"His sign language is homemade," said one of his attorneys, Thomas Twyford of Columbus. He and David Riebel of Columbus, were hired to defend Hunt by the Ohio Coalition for Handicapped Children.

Since his arrest he has been in the Lima State Hospital, Columbus State Institute for training, and back to Lima after walking away from CSI.

Twyford argues that no one has declared Hunt mentally ill and that he should be brought to trial rather than be confined at the facility for the criminally insane.

Twyford said interpreters hired to help Hunt report the man is making progress.

The investigation into Mrs. Arledge's murder moved swiftly, but the case was complicated by the death last month of Chief Sheriff's Deputy Wendell Counts, 47, who died of a heart attack. Counts had led the murder investigation.

Deputies said they found Hunt's fingerprints in the woman's car and bloodstained trousers were found at his home.

The incident is not Hunt's first brush with the law. In 1971 he was sent to Orient State School after he was charged with breaking and entering and arson near Circleville. He also was picked up in Columbus two weeks ago and charged with accosting and robbing a man on a Columbus street after he walked away from CSI, police said.

But those charges were dropped so Hunt could eventually be returned to Lima.

Steel Demand Remains Light

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Steelmakers awaiting a turnaround in steel demand may have to wait a few months more than they expected.

That was the conclusion of Industry Week in light of the prolonged demand lag which has seen weekly raw steel output go down since early March.

The Cleveland-based magazine states in today's editions that steelmakers have revised their timetable for economic recovery. They now expect the slump to continue two to three months more than they thought and look for a turnaround during this year's fourth quarter, the magazine said.

A healthy sign, the magazine said, has been steel inventory reductions, especially in the automotive and appliance markets.

Pickaway County Easter Seal Unit Sponsors Camperships

A week of outdoor fun and friendship is once again available to Ohio's physically and neurologically handicapped children and adults at Camp Pittenger near Tiffin, Ohio.

Camp reservations are accepted on a first come, first served basis. As facilities are limited early registration is advised. The 1975 camp dates are:

7-12 years, July 27 - August 8; 12-20 years, August 10 - 22; Adults over age 20, August 23 - 30.

Camp Pittenger is a uniquely designed modern facility, fully equipped to accomodate children and adults with physical or neurological handicaps. Usually more than half of the campers are in wheelchairs. Most common disabilities are: Cerebral palsy, polio, birth defects, muscular dystrophy, arthritis, hearing, sight and heart disorders, burns and accident victims.

There are no limitations to the enjoyment of nature, outdoor recreation and sports activities. Campers are invited to participate in a variety of programs such as: swimming, boating, nature study, hiking, cookouts, campfire songfests and other social activities to name a few.

The camping program for Ohio's handicapped children and adults began more than a quarter of a century ago at Camp Pittenger. The camp is owned by the Tiffin YMCA - YWCA and is leased to the Ohio Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults. The camp is operated by a highly trained staff that includes trained counselors knowledgeable in summer camp programing. A staff of nearly 50 young men and women skilled in working with the handicapped will direct programs to suit everyone's interest. A registered nurse is on duty full time and administers necessary medications. A doctor is on call and only minutes away.

Camp Pittenger provides the setting where handicapped campers can share experiences, help and encourage each other, enjoy old and new friendships and grow in strength to face everyday challenges.

Full or partial camperships are provided by the local unit of the Easter Seal Society, community organizations and private individuals. Anyone interested in attending this camp for the handicapped or providing a full or partial campership contribution should contact Pickaway County Easter Seal Society 474-8416 or the executive secretary, Patty Kirkwood 474-3633.

RESOLUTION NO. 63-75

A RESOLUTION PROPOSING TO COOPERATE WITH THE DIRECTOR OF THE OHIO DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION IN A PAVEMENT MARKING DEMONSTRATION PROGRAM.

WHEREAS, Section 205 of the 1973 Federal Highway Act provided for a Pavement Marking Demonstration Program to demonstrate the effectiveness of pavement markings in reducing traffic accidents; and

WHEREAS, the Ohio Department of Transportation has decided to participate in the said program; and

WHEREAS, the Ohio Department of Transportation has solicited the cooperation of various local governments in conducting this program; and

WHEREAS, the cost of the program is one hundred percent (100 per cent) federally funded; NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, STATE OF OHIO:

SECTION 1: That Council does hereby agree to cooperate with the Director of Transportation of the Ohio Department of Transportation in participating in the Pavement Marking Demonstration Program by providing all pertinent information and accident data as necessary to evaluate the proposed marking improvements as required by Section 205 of the 1973 National Federal-Aid Highway Act.

SECTION 2: That Council desires to participate under the provisions of Chapter 5521 of the Ohio Revised Code and Section 205 of the 1973 National Federal-Aid Highway Act in the improvement of all nonstandard pavement markings on streets designated by the City.

SECTION 3: That the Director of Public Service is hereby authorized and directed to enter into any necessary agreements with the Director of Transportation to complete the planning and construction and installation of the pavement marking as provided under this program.

SECTION 4: That this Resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Mr. David Crawford moved the adoption of the above Resolution.

Thereupon Mr. Tommy Wells seconded the said motion and upon the roll being called the result of the vote taken was as follows:

BEST FOOT FORWARD—Frank Plescia of Circleville is first over the hurdle in the 120 Highs. He placed second to qualify for the District Meet this week at Marysville. Plescia also qualified in the 180 low hurdles and the high jump and will be in action on Friday.

GOING ALL OUT—Logan Elm's Roy Duffey is giving it all he has in the 220-yard dash Saturday in the Sectional finals at Bexley. Duffey finished fourth to gain a berth in the District Meet at Marysville this week. He also qualified as a member of the Braves' 880 Relay team.

Area Lads Qualify For District Meet

All three area Class AA schools will be represented in the District Track Meet beginning Friday at Marysville.

The finals in the field events and the semifinals in the running events will get underway 3 p.m. Friday with the finals in the running events starting at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Berths in the District were gained Thursday and Saturday in the Sectional Meet at Bexley.

Qualifying for Circleville in the field events Thursday were: Jim Cordle, pole vault; Frank Plescia, high jump; Scott Bowman, shot and discus.

The first six place finishers in running and field events in the sectionals qualified for the District.

Moving into the District meet in the running events Saturday for the Tigers were: Plescia, 120 HH, 2nd, 15.3, and 180 LH, 3rd, 20.4; Warren Yamarick, 100-yard dash, 2nd, 10.25; Frank Merrill, mile run, 2nd, 4:40.1, broke sophomore school record of 4:41.1 held by Bill McGowan; Dave Phillips, 180 LH, 5th, 21.0; Tom McGuire, 880, 3rd, 2:01.6, broke sophomore school record of 2:04 set by Bill McGowan; Mike McCoy, 880, 4th, 2:02.4; Mile Relay Team (Frank Merrill, Tom McGuire, Jim Francis, Mike McCoy), 3rd, 3:33.2; Dave Uland, 2-mile, 6th, 10:30.2.

Gaining District berths for Logan Elm were: Roy Duffey, 220, 4th, 23.3; Dave Hulse, 220, 5th, 23.5; 880 Relay Team (Dave Hulse, Wes King, John Eanes, Roy Duffey), 5th, 1:34.5.

Bullets Edge Celts; Win Clash 98-92

The 5-foot-11 dynamo had his temper and his game under complete control Sunday, and stood tall among the giants of the National Basketball Association while leading the Washington Bullets to a 98-92 victory over the Boston Celtics.

The victory, Washington's 42nd in 48 home games this season, gave the Bullets the best-of-seven Eastern Conference title, four games to two, eliminating the defending champion Celtics.

"Kevin really took charge," said Porter's 6-9 teammate, Elvin Hayes. "He's the real key to this club. He makes things happen and he makes us go. He proved it today down the stretch. It was a fine effort by the little fellow."

In addition to handing off 11 assists, as he did all year to become the NBA assist champion, Porter scored 13 of his 21 points in the final quarter to blunt a Boston comeback.

Washington will now have a week off, which could give Mike Riordan time to recover from a severe thigh bruise, before entertaining either Golden State or Chicago in the first game of the championship series next Sunday.

Junior Tigers Compete In Meet

Gahanna Lincoln and Lancaster tied for first in the Open Division with 54 points while Circleville tallied 5½ points to place 10th.

Mark Albright was fourth in the discus with a toss of 143 feet 2½ inches. Dave Marshall took fifth place in the high jump with a leap of 5 feet 6 inches.

Columbus Westmoor compiled 58 points to win the Relay Division with Lancaster taking second with 50. Circleville had seven points for 13th place.

Gaining places for Circleville were: Mile Relay (Tim Welliver, Dave Marshall, Mike Brudzinski, Greg Berrigan), fourth, 3:49.5, school record; 2-Mile Relay (Larry Reed, Joe Leahy, Dave Holbrook, Dennis Lester), fifth, 9:00.6, school record; High Jump Relay (Dave Marshall, Greg Berrigan, Mike Edgington), 15 feet 6 inches (total three men), sixth, school record; Sprint Medley Relay (Mike Brudzinski, Dave Marshall, Tim Housh, Mike Edgington), didn't place, 1:46.5, school record.

CHS Tigers Crush Miami Trace Nine

Brent Mancini scattered four hits and went all the way as he hurled Circleville to a 10-3 win over Miami Trace Saturday on the local diamond.

Mancini gave up two earned runs, walked five and struck out seven to gain the win. Tom Riley was rapped for 11 hits and suffered the loss for Miami Trace.

Circleville scored three runs in the bottom of the first inning, one in the third, exploded for five in the fifth and added a single marker in the sixth.

Tim McNaughton carried the heavy lumber for the Tigers as he slammed a triple and single and had six RBIs for the day, Biff Bumgarner, Randy Thomas and Phil Roll each rapped two singles while Mancini, Perry Hoskins and Dave Bevan cracked a one-bagger.

Circleville is now 8-7 for the season, 6-5 in the league, and will play three home games this week, all at 4:30 p.m.

Tuesday they will host Teays Valley, meet Bishop Flaget on Wednesday and tackle Chillicothe on Friday. The cancelled game between Circleville and Unioto will be played May 19 at Unioto.

Here are the standings in the South Central Ohio League at this time: Unioto, 7-1; Greenfield, 6-4; Hillsboro, 6-4; Circleville, 6-5; Washington C.H., 4-6; Wilmington, 4-6; Miami Trace, 2-9.

Nelson Golf Classic Delayed By Downpour

DALLAS (AP) — Barring new problems from the weather, the rain-delayed $175,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic winds up today with at least nine and perhaps as many as 18 players still in title contention.

The 54-hole leaders, Bruce Crampton, Bob Eastwood and Rod Funseth, were not among the group caught in the downpour.

The U.S. Open golf championship will be held at Chicago's Medinah No. 3 course June 19-22.

Mustangs Rip Rockets

Westfall tallied in four different innings to beat visiting Berne Union, 10-3, Saturday under the lights.

The Mustangs tallied twice in the bottom of the first inning, three in the third, three more in the fourth and added two in the fifth.

Berne Union gained all three runs in the top of the third.

Craig Moore went all the way for Westfall, allowing six hits, one walk and fanned 10.

Moody and Young shared mound duties for the Rockets. They gave up a total of seven hits, nine walks and struck out eight.

Berne Union had four errors while the Mustangs had three.

Westfall is now 7-10 for the season, 3-2 in the league, and will host Piketon 4:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Tiger Reserves Claw Lions, 6-1

Brian Fath hurled four-hit ball as Circleville downed Washington C. H., 6-1, Saturday on the Blue Lions', diamond.

Fath gave up five walks, fanned five and the Blue Lions' lone tally in the bottom of the first inning was unearned.

Circleville knotted the count with a single marker in the top of the fourth, tallied the go ahead run in the fifth and erupted for four big ones in the top of the seventh.

The Tigers are now 4-3 and will host Westfall's reserves 4:30 p.m. today.

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

It wasn't a full-fledged free-for-all in the best baseball tradition, but for a lazy afternoon in Kansas City it wasn't bad.

The Royals were coasting 4-0 behind Steve Busby, Milwaukee wasn't making much of a comeback attempt and they 11,163 fans scattered around Royals Stadium were stifling yawns.

Then Kansas City's George Brett and Milwaukee's Kurt Bevacqua woke everyone up with some fisticuffs in the seventh inning. Brett barreled into second trying to break up a double play, both players came up swinging and the crowd had something to yell about.

So did Bevacqua and Brett.

Both benches and bullpens emptied, but just to get a better look. No one else through a punch. Bevacqua and Brett were ejected and everyone settled back to watch Busby finish off his five-hit, 4-0 victory.

Elsewhere in the American League, Oakland beat New York 7-5; Texas outslugged Detroit 11-7; Minnesota and Baltimore split a pair, the Twins taking the opener 6-4 and the Orioles the nightcap 9-3; Boston defeated California 5-2 and Cleveland slipped by Chicago 4-3 in 11 innings.

Busby struck out nine batters and walked just two en route to his fifth victory against two losses. Brett, Cookie Rojas, Frank White and Harmon Killebrew collected run-scoring singles. For an added touch, Killebrew, the paunchy 38-year-old designated hitter, stole a base for the first time since Sept. 15, 1971.

"I'm running better now than in about three years," Killebrew explained.

Rangers 11, Tigers 7

Jeff Burroughs and Leo Cardenas clubbed two-run homers and Tom Grieve and Roy Smalley added solo shots for Texas in a game marred by missed fly balls as well as other errors that don't show up in the boxscore. Ferguson Jenkins won his fifth straight game but left after the fifth in favor of Steve Foucault.

Each side was officially charged with only two errors but Texas' Joe Lovitto and Detroit's Leon Roberts, among others, were guilty of misplaying balls into extra-base hits.

"It was one of the worst games I've ever managed in, as far as seeing balls fall in that should have been caught," said Texas skipper Billy Martin.

A's 7, Yanks 5

Vida Blue became the American League's first seven-game winner but needed relief help from Jim Todd to hand New York its seventh loss in the last eight games. Joe Rudi drove in three runs for Oakland with a homer and single. Bobby Bonds hit a two-run homer for New York.

Twins 6-3, Orioles 4-9

Steve Brye's two-run double was the big blow in a four-run rally in the fifth that carried Minnesota to victory in the opener. Rod Carew and Tony Oliva singled in the other two runs in the inning. Bert Blyleven gave up six hits en route to his fourth win in five decisions.

The Orioles rallied in the nightcap behind the hitting of Bobby Grich and Tommy Davis. Grich unloaded a pair of solo home runs and Davis went 3-for-4 with four RBI. Jim Palmer, 5-2, won it and Mike Pazik, making his major league debut, lost.

Red Sox 5, Angeles 2

Rico Petrocelli and Rick Burleson rapped two-run singles as Boston made it seven wins in the last eight games and climbed to within one game of first-place Milwaukee in the East Division. Jim Rice added a solo home run for Boston and Bill Lee went the distance with a seven-hitter. Bill Singer, 2-5, dropped his fourth straight.

Indians 4, White Sox 3

Cleveland's Tom McCraw got an infield single to drive in the tying run with two out in the bottom of the 11th and John Ellis raced home with the game-winner on throwing errors by Terry Forster and Bob Coluccio.

Rico Carty hit a home run for the Indians who ended a five-game losing streak. Nyls Nyman had put the White Sox on top with a run-scoring single in the top of the 11th.

Cardinals Trip Giants, 4-3

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

"I thought they'd be taking some pitches to find out what I had," said Pete Falcone. The St. Louis Cardinals immediately liked what he had—and put the pitches all over the ballpark...and out of it.

"I started them off with fast balls. "I should've started them off with the curve," San Francisco's rookie pitcher added with momentous hindsight. Before Falcone knew what had happened, the Cards had jumped all over him for four runs in the first inning, all they needed for a 4-3 victory over the Giants.

In Sunday's other National League games, Los Angeles blanked Pittsburgh 7-0, New York beat Cincinnati 3-2, Houston mauled Montreal 6-0, San Diego edged Chicago 2-1 and Atlanta beat Philadelphia 7-3.

Lou Brock said it didn't matter what Falcone threw. "I wasn't taking anything" he said. "Just throw it over the plate and I'll swing at it. I can't afford to be taking pitches."

He took a Falcone offering and put it into left field for a double. Then Ted Sizemore put a pitch down the left field line for another one and a run.

Luis Melendez liked the right field line better. He tripled there, sending Sizemore home to tie the score 2-2. Ted Simmons then returned the action to left field...or, more precisely, beyond it. He unloaded Falcone's full-count pitch into the seats for his fourth home run of the season.

Dodgers 7, Pirates 0

Don Sutton "had a touch of the flu and wasn't feeling his best," Dodgers' Manager Walter Alston said. It would have been interesting to see a healthy Sutton facing the hardhitting Pirates. As it was, he limited them to eight harmless hits and chalked up his seventh victory of the season.

"My control was good and I was keeping them off balance most of the time," he said. "I was fortunate that I didn't get behind very many of them and was able to get them to hit my pitch."

The Dodgers got two runs in the fifth inning when Dave Lopes walked, Lee Lacy tripled and he came in on Ken Brett's wild pitch. Los Angeles added three in the sixth, two on Lopes' single.

Mets 3, Reds 2

Tom Seaver settled down after giving up a pair of first-inning runs, one on Pete Rose's lead-off homer, and hurled a six-hitter to help the Mets and their six-game tailspin.

Rusty Staub's single in the eighth, which foiled Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson's lefty vs. lefty strategy, delivered the tie-breaking run.

Singles by Mike Phillips and Del Unser chased Reds' starter Jack Billingham and Staub greeted reliever Will McEnaney with his line single to right.

"Sometimes I make mistakes, too," said Anderson.

Padres 2, Cubs 1

Dave Freisleben withstood Chicago's 10 hits and Hector Torres singled to drive home the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning for the Padres.

Bill Bonham walked Dave Winfield to open the eighth. Two outs later, Winfield stole second and, after Steve Huntz was inentionally walked, Torres singled to right.

Both teams scored a run in the fifth inning, San Diego on Winfield's bases-loaded grounder and the Cubs on Tim Hosley's homer.

Astros 6, Expos 0

Larry Dierker's five-hitter and Roger Metzger's three runs batted in—two with a homer— gave the Astros their victory over Montreal, Houston's first shutout of the season.

Dierker got a fourth-inning run on Jose Cruz' single, Houston added two in the fifth on Ken Boswell's single, Greg Gross' triple and Metzger's infield single. In the ninth, Gross singled for another run before Metzger belted his first homer of the year.

Braves 7, Phillies 3

Atlanta's Buzz Capra, with help from the potent bats of Earl Williams and Ralph Garr, ended his personal four-game losing streak, scattering eight Philadelphia hits.

Williams hit a two-run homer to cap a four-run first inning against Wayne Twitchell and Garr unleashed a three-run clout in the fourth.

Mets Stop Reds

"Beautiful!" said Manager Yogi Berra.

Were they talking about Seaver's six-hitter? About John Milner's home run? About Rusty Staub's clutch single? About Sunday's 3-2 victory over Cincinnati that enabled the New York Mets to snap a six-game losing streak?

Nope. They were talking about substitute shortstop Mike Phillips' eighth-inning relay throw that gunned down Pete Rose at the plate and held the Reds in a 2-2 tie until Staub could come through in the bottom of the inning.

That, Berra said, was the turning point.

Or maybe it was when the Mets picked him up from the San Francisco Giants for the $20,000 waiver price, or when Berra put him in the lineup at shortstop because Bud Harrelson was hurting and Jack Heidemann wasn't hitting.

"The scouting report on him said shortstop and third were his best positions," Berra said, "but he couldn't play short for the Giants with Chris Speier there."

Eastern Michigan Tops OU In Baseball

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — Eastern Michigan swept past Ohio University twice Saturday and grabbed first place in the Mid-American Conference race with a pair of last-inning baseball victories, 5-4 and 8-6.

With two outs in the seventh inning ot the first game, Randy Brier singled to drive in John Schmeling to notch Eastern's victory.

A. J. Foyt Heads Indy 500 Field

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The old master, A.J. Foyt, will lead the Indianapolis 500 field for a record-tying fourth time May 25, but again there will be an explosive list of chargers in the back of the 33-car pack.

Foyt, with a dramatic late afternoon effort Saturday, wrestled his new Aztec orange Coyote Racer through its 10-mile, four-lap speed test at an average of 193.976 miles per hour, with a top lap of 195.313 m.p.h. Only the late Rex Mays, who never won here, earned as many No. 1 starting positions in the May classic.

The list of speedsters relegated to the rear of the field, because they missed the first day of qualifying for one reason or another, includes Wally Dallenbach, Roger McCluskey, Steve Krisiloff and Mario Andretti.

Each hopes for the same luck that helped Johnny Rutherford come from 25th starting spot to win last year. Rutherford missed the first day of qualifying because of a blown engine and had to make the field later and start at the rear, despite second fastest speed.

Foyt solved the problems in his new Coyote, which started out the week at barely 173 m.p.h.

"That really shook me up," Foyt said. "But I knew what the car would do—what it was capable of doing—so we stuck with it."

The only other driver to crack 190 m.p.h. was Tom Sneva, starting on the inside of the second row with a 190.094 showing in a McLaren. Rutherford, though better off than last year, starts seventh with a disappointing 185.998 average. Two-time winner Al Unser goes off from a fourth row center spot after a 185.452 test.

Another 17 cars considered capable of high-speed runs will be vying next weekend for starting positions.

Donna Young Wins Lady Tara Tourney

ATLANTA (AP) — "I told my caddy I didn't know if I could make it or not on 18," said Donna Caponi Young. "I was just walking around in circles talking to myself, telling myself I could make it."

It was only a one-foot par putt, albeit over a spike mark on the path to the hole, but Mrs. Young made it and earned a one-shot victory over Gloria Ehret and a charging Sandra Palmer to win the $40,000 Lady Tara golf tournament Sunday.

The 30-year-old tour veteran earned her seventh career victory with a closing one-under-par 72 for a 54-hold total of 214, five under par on the tough, tight Indian Hills Country Club course.

Mrs. Young, a two-time U.S. Women's Open champion, did it the hard way. She held an imposing four-shot advantage after turning the front nine at three-under-par 34, but ran into considerable trouble with a double-bogey seven at No. 12 and a bogey six at No. 14, turning what appeared to be a runaway into a down-to-the-wire finish.

And she had to go back only one year to remember blowing a championship on this same course, taking double-bogey, bogey on the final two holes to fall into a three-way playoff, won by Sandra Spuzich on the fifth extra hole.

"I was thinking of what I did last year," Mrs. Young said. "I didn't want to make the same mistakes again."

She made almost tap-in birdies on the second and ninth holes, rolled one in from 12 feet at No. 8 and sank a 20-footer at No. 5. "When I made that putt (on No. 5) I knew the tournament was over. When it went in I was high as a kite."

Kathy Whitworth, the all-time leading money winner, was alone in fourth place at 216, followed by Susie McAllister at 217 and a quartet at 218—Japan's Chako Higuchi, Joanne Carner, Mary Crocker and Maria Astrologes.

Warriors Stun Bulls

"I said before this sixth game that if we didn't come out blazing, we'd go on a vacation until next October," Attles said after his Warriors stunned the Chicago Bulls 86-72 Sunday to carry the National Basketball Association's Western Conference playoff final to a seventh game.

The Warriors, and Rick Barry in particular, did come out blazing to create a 3-3 standoff and give the Warriors home court advantage in the seventh game in Oakland Wednesday night.

The winner will face the Washington Bullets in a best-of-seven showdown for the NBA championship.

Barry, who has had an up and down series, was at his best before a Chicago Stadium record crowd of 19,594.

Barry led both teams with 36 points. He also had seven steals, eight rebounds and eight assists.

It was Barry's hustling play that keyed a Warrior defense that outrebounded the Bulls 51-39 and had Chicago handling the ball like a hot potato most of the time.

Tribe Tops White Sox

CLEVELAND (AP) — "It was a tough break for the White Sox," said Cleveland Indian catcher John Ellis. "And a good break for us. They had the game in the bag."

The White Sox had the game in the bag until the 11th inning when a Tom McCraw pinch chopper down the third base line precipitated two errors, which allowed the winning run to cross the plate.

The Indians ended their five-game losing streak by beating the White Sox 4-3 Sunday afternoon in a Sunday afternoon American League baseball game.

The White Sox took a 3-2 lead in the top of the eleventh when Tony Muser singled, moved to second on Bucky Dent's sacrifice bunt and scored on Nyles Nyman's single to right, off the winner—reliever Tom Bussey, 2-0.

Rico Carty opened the Indians half of the 11th with a walk, moved to second on a Charlie Spikes' sacrifice bunt and to third on a long foul out by Buddy Bell.

With two outs, reliever and loser Terry Forster, 2-2, intentionally walked John Ellis.

McCraw came to the plate and hit his chopper to Forster, which scored Carty. But Forster tried to get McCraw at first and threw the ball wild.

Ellis reached third and kept going toward the plate as the ball was fielded by right fielder Bob Coluccio who threw wild allowing Ellis to score the winning run on an error.

Ferrari Wins Monaco Grand Prix

MONTE CARLO (AP) — The red cars from Italy are winning races again and the people who run them figure it's time to forget about false modesty.

"Ferrari is back on top again," said team manager Luca de Montezomolo after Niki Lauda's victory in the Monaco Grand Prix Sunday. "I've got a terrific car, terrific people driving and we're going to make a change in the racing world over the rest of the season."

The car is the Ferrari 312-T, a new model the team did without during the first two Grand Prix races of the season. Since the big 12-cylinder racer was introduced this spring, it has won Silverstone, the Spanish grand Prix and now Monte Carlo.

Lauda, an Austrian, was only out of the lead for one lap during the 75 laps that began at the end of a rainstorm. Until recently, Lauda often seemed a nervous driver, but in a show of coolness he let Emerson Fittipaldi in a McLaren almost catch him during the final stages.

"Lauda has matured tremendously," de Montemozolo said. "He was following orders. We wanted him to protect his victory and save wear on the car. He did it with great professionalism."

The victory was Ferrari's first here since 1955. This race is one Ferrari particularly wanted because it is followed closely by many Italians.

Michigan State Recruiting Probed

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State University President Clifford Wharton Jr. says the signing of an "unusually excellent group of prospects" last spring has triggered rumors of alleged football recruiting violations at MSU.

Wharton previously has declined comment on the reported probe by the National Collegiate Athletic Association except to acknowledge that the NCAA is looking into MSU's athletic program. He also has ordered those connected with the school to withhold comment.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): An excellent day in which to formulate long-range plans. Something which has seemed out of reach is closer than you may imagine.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Watch and wait before you engage in new undertakings, but do not hesitate where real advantages are obvious. A somewhat mild day, but tricky in spots.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): If you know you are on the right track, stay there; do not go off on tangents without good reason. Curb your innate tendency toward restlessness.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Financial matters now have an element of risk, so make your moves slowly and deliberately. Personal relationships, however, promise to be exceptionally congenial.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Perseverance, despite possible obstacles, will bring handsome rewards soon. Your business acumen should be highly stimulated.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): You may have to revise some views, revamp a preplanned program if you are to attain the goals you desire. But do this efficiently and good results are certain.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): The position of Venus suggests that you stress your innate artistry and create those clever "twists" which make the difference between the so-so and top attainment.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Benefits indicated if you are alert, but opportunities could be lost through indifference or tendencies toward extremism.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Though there is a favorable outlook, some not entirely successful operations may need an added "shot in the arm" — new methods, tightening up, new data.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Time is important, of course, but don't let the thought of it rush you into hasty moves, decisions. Confusion will reign if the guard is down.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): This should be a highly profitable day for those of you who capitalize on your innate imagination and originality. On the personal side, emotions may rise and fall, so maintain equilibrium and poise.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): You may have a tendency to be too impressionable now. Avoid becoming involved in ticklish situations which could disturb you later.

YOU BORN TODAY are one of the most versatile individuals in the entire spectrum of the zodiac. Governed by Venus, the planet of love and beauty, you are naturally endowed with the potentials to succeed at almost any of the arts but, in addition, you have a practical side which fits you for many other careers. Thus, if you do not take up painting, sculpture or music, at which you are particularly adept, as a career, you may follow one or the other avocationally. Other fields in which you could succeed: business management, the law, jurisprudence, teaching or horiculture. Traits to curb: obstinacy and jealousy. Birthdate of: Sir Arthur Sullivan, composer (Gilbert and Sullivan); George Braques, French painter; Daphne du Maurier, famed author.

Rick Ferkel Winner Of Eldora Sprint

ROSSBURG, Ohio (AP) — Rick Ferkel of Bowling Green took the lead on the 10th lap and stayed out front the rest of the way to win the 25-lap sprint car feature at Eldora Speedway Sunday.

Girls Wanted Prime Time

CUPERTINO, Calif. (AP) — Four women physical education teachers accused Cupertino High School officials of sex discrimination. The instructors had complained for weeks that the boys' basketball team was getting use of the gym floor during the prime time of 2-5 p.m.

The Fremont Education Assn. led the fight and won. Now, under a new ruling, the girls will get the prime time while the school's undefeated boys' basketball squad will have to work out at a later time.

The women have conceded, however, that they are willing to make special arrangements for the gym if the boys' team gets into the area championships and requires more practice time.

Views On Television

He's Jack Tafoya, whose half-hour "Jazz Adventures" series has appeared the past two seasons on New York's municipal public TV station, WNYC-TV.

On May 20, his series, expanded to an hour, kicks off with pianist Bill Evans' trio, followed by nine more weeks of shows with such jazz greats as Donald Byrd, Stan Getz and the Gil Evans orchestra.

The shows will appear only locally now. But Tafoya says he plans to approach both prospective underwriters and the Public Broadcasting Service about getting some or all the new programs aired nationally.

"One of the reasons jazz has never got its due is that it's never hit the mass medium, at least with artists like these," says Tafoya, a former bassist and singer who hosts all his shows.

"When you see jazz on TV, it's always going to be Ella Fitzgerald or Benny Goodman. It's always these same people. And that's what all the kids think jazz is. They don't get to hear a Bill Evans."

He spoke before a screening of the Evans show. The program's production was modest, but the camera work was good and the sound quality — often mediocre even in network shows — was magnificent.

Tafoya says he gets most of the money for his non-profit "Jazz Adventures," which also holds off-camera concerts locally, from the New York State Council on the Arts.

The council, a tax-supported body, says it gave JA an $11,000 grant for the 1973-74 season and doubled that this season.

Tafoya said he taped the current batch of "Jazz Adventures" TV shows at Brooklyn College before a student audience in January and February.

He says he hopes to enlist PBS' wealthiest station, WNET-TV here, in helping him find corporate underwriters who would pay for the series' national broadcast, when and if such ever occurs.

Nadarko Victorious In Race

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Nadarko staged a stretch drive to draw away for a length and a half victory in the $2,600 feature Sunday at River Downs.

The winner completed the six furlongs in 1:12 to pay $10.60, $5.40 and $3.40. Mayme's Joye returned $5.40 and $3.80. Lot O Song was the show horse at $3.00.

Cuba Reshaped Under Castro

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Only an hour's flying time from Miami, the Cuban capital is a world apart from any other city in the Western Hemisphere.

For a reporter who last saw the island 20 years ago, Fidel Castro's new Cuba is a startling experience.

Long gone are those once-familiar billboards proclaiming: "Beba Coca Cola," or "Vuele Pan American." There are no advertising agencies on the island — not a single commercial ad in any newspaper, nor on any radio or television show. Only a few scattered billboards discreetly describe the routes of Aeroflot, the Soviet airline.

In place of commercials, the Cuban media bombard the populace with exhortations to work harder, produce more, to rally behind the Communist party and to waste nothing.

These outward signs catch the eye instantly in Cuba. More difficult to comprehend are the inward signs of the "new Cuban man." In 16 years of rule, the Castro regime has managed to submerge the individual's own welfare into a cog of the collective wheel.

Since Castro seized power in 1959, 600,000 Cubans have fled the island. But the 9 million who remain exhibit a spirit of pride and patriotic fervor which must explain their willingness to endure the years of shortages suffered by an island isolated for more than a decade from most of the world except the Soviet bloc.

Cuba is a youth society. Almost half of the nation is under 20 years of age, knowing no other government than that of Castro. The revolution heaps its scant resources on educating its youth and convincing them of its socialistic way of life.

Everywhere you go, teachers, factory foremen, agricultural planners, editors of newspapers, movie producers and baseball managers all speak of life in Cuba as if everything began in 1959.

They say with pride that since the revolution Cuba has achieved successes in every field, wiping out illiteracy, tripling the number of students in schools, doubling steel production, and providing free medical and dental care for all.

They have a good word for nobody before Castro's revolution but Jose Marti and his heroic exploits against Spanish colonial rule and the founders of the Communist party who laid the seeds for the guerrilla campaign which Castro and his aides waged from the Sierra Maestra mountains.

One encounters sharp contrasts in Havana. People line up patiently with their ration coupons to buy food and clothes. Some workers wait in line an hour just to buy a newspaper, which costs five cents.

On Sundays the papers publish readers' letters, some of which voice criticism of life in Cuba such as poor service in a restaurant. In one recent case workers aired their complaints about a cafe which, according to one journalist, promptly "shaped up."

On Saturday nights Havana's luxury hotels are jammed with what could pass for a new affluent youth class. In rooms once graced by one-armed bandits and gaming tables, couples dance to Cuban rhythms. In a bar where a daiquiri costs the equivalent of $2, a pianist plays the theme song from "Love Story" and other tunes from the United States.

One wonders where they get the money. Most students get 30 pesos a month — about $24 — and all are kept busy in "productive work" 25 hours a week outside the classroom.

Young Cubans are well dressed. Young men wear opennecked sport shirts and slacks. Despite the beards worn by Castro and his fellow guerrillas, Cuba's youth is cleanshaven. Girls wear miniskirts.

There appears to be no drug problem and there are no drunks on the streets. Like other socialist states, Cuba is a puritanical society where no X-rated movies or literature are permitted. The most popular Hollywood movie in recent months was "The Godfather," but most U.S. films here are of an older vintage, such as "Hud" with Paul Newman.

No one can be fired and everyone is required by law to work or study between the ages of 16 and 60. Doctors can earn $480 a month, while journalists get about $165 and workers in the steel mills about $120.

The government has evolved an elaborate "bonus" plan which brings throngs of workers to the night spots.

On Saturdays and Sundays the famed Tropicana nightclub is turned over to workers who for their production achievements have been awarded a night on the town by their unions, paying half price to see the elaborate floor show at Havana's most famous club.

Solons Wrap Up Energy-Tax Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional tax writers trying to wrap up an energy-tax package face a major controversy over whether to include a tax on petroleum company windfall profits.

Regardless of whether the issue is immediately resolved, the Ways and Means Committee planned to start a tax bill through the legislative process today, beginning a busy congressional week with attention focused on domestic energy problems and the plight of Vietnamese and Cambodian refugees.

The House vote on a measure authorizing relief and resettlement of an estimated 114,000 Indochinese is scheduled Wednesday, to be followed immediately by consideration of a $405 million appropriation for the purpose. The Senate Foreign Affairs Committee rearranged its schedule to begin considering the refugee legislation today.

The House also will take up a compromise version of the congressional budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1. A Senate-House conference committee last week worked out a compromise between versions passed by both chambers and came up with a spending target of $367 billion and a $68.8 billion deficit.

Before the week is over the House expects to dispose of a $32 billion authorization for weapons for the armed services.

Consideration of that bill will be complicated by a drive to attach to it provisions requiring admission of women to the service academies and perhaps to open some combat assignments to servicewomen.

About midweek, the Senate expects to try to limit debate to allow a vote on a controversial bill to create a consumer protection agency.

As already written, the Ways and Means Committee's energy bill would increase gasoline taxes by yearly increments, impose a special levy on high gasconsuming new automobiles, create new duties to replace petroleum tariffs, tax some industrial use of petroleum and natural gas, and give tax benefits for installing energy-saving insulation.

Church Order Protested

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Members of the Cincinnati chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW) were met by counter-pickets Sunday during a "National Day of Outrage" protest.

Children of NOW members carried signs saying "Chosen child" while adults urged "Children by choice-not force."

The NOW group, numbering about 30, was protesting a recent order by a California bishop, who ruled all parishes in his diocese must deny sacraments to members of any organization not opposed to abortion.

Heavy Trucks Plague Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The chance to make more money outweighs the risk of getting caught, officials say, and some overloaded Michigan trucks regularly are violating the city and state truck weight limits.

Random checks showed trucks were several tons over the allowable 78,000-pound gross vehicle weight while making deliveries to local industries. In one case, a steelhauling rig was found to weigh 159,000 pounds, 5,000 pounds more than Michigan's limit.

Richard Curtis, Michigan Public Service Commission district supervisor, said Michigan crews, using portable scales, often will catch truckers on U.S. 23, headed for Ohio, who are exceeding Michigan limits. Fines of several thousand dollars for weight violations are not uncommon, he added.

"We know they're going on into Ohio, but if the trucks are legal in Michigan, there's no way we can hold them up," Curtis said.

READY TO GO—This cyclist, who toured the Scioto River Valley with about 3,125 other bike riders last weekend, had his sights set on a longer trip than the 208-mile journey from Columbus to Portsmouth and back. He had no takers by the time he arrived at Ted Lewis Park Saturday.

ALPHA BICYCLE SHOP MARION OHIO

LONG TRIP—The Tour of the Scioto River Valley last weekend was a long one for this youngster, whose bike is attached to the rear extension of his dad's 10-speed. The bicycle built for one and a half was one of many contraptions devised for use on the 208-mile trek.

Boy Convicted Of Reduced Charge

David Tinney, 17, Route 4, was incorrectly reported in Saturday's Herald as being convicted in Juvenile Court of reckless operation.

Tinney was originally charged with reckless operation by L. E. Sines, of the Williamsport Police. When the case came before Judge Guy G. Cline for hearing, the judge reduced the charge from reckless operation to driving left of center and sentenced the boy accordingly.

The records on file had not been updated to the revised charge and therefore carried a conviction of the more severe offense.

Tinney was given a suspended $10 fine and had his license suspended for one month.

Civil Case Settled Out Of Court

A group of jurors was called and dismissed this morning in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court on a civil matter which was settled before the jury was seated.

Charles R. and Betty Crawford of Grove City had sued Buckeye Culvert and Supply Company Inc. of Fredericktown and Jim Nichols of Centerburg. The plaintiffs were asking for judgment in the amount of $250,000 as a result of injuries Crawford sustained when struck by a large piece of pipe that fell off the defendant's truck.

Crawford was a foreman at the time and since the injuries, alleges that he can no longer hold gainful employment. The accident occurred at the Scioto Estates Mobile Home Park in South Bloomfield.

Refugees Continue To Swamp Centers

AGANA, Guam (AP) — Refgees from South Vietnam continue to pour into Guam by the thousands despite a limit on departures to the United States.

The population of the sweltering Pacific island refugee camps approached 50,000 today as arrivals streamed in while departures trickled out. Camps at three locations stateside already are filled to capacity.

"It will be crowded but we will be able to handle it all right," said Rear Adm. G. Steve Morrison as four ships with 16,000 aboard approached Guam.

Among the latest arrivals were 94 refugees jammed aboard a sinking boat who made it to Guam only because the aircraft carrier Midway chanced by. The Midway already was loaded with 101 fighter planes and helicopters, the battered remnants of South Vietnam's air force.

About 3,400 refugees were scheduled to leave Guam today, with the pace slowing to 1,000 daily beginning Tuesday, Morrison said.

Overcrowding also was reported at refugee camps in Arkansas and Florida.

The Army said the number of refugees at Ft. Chaffee, Ark., would reach 20,000 sometime today. That is as many as the installation in northwest Arkansas can house at this time, the Army said.

James King, a State Department spokesman, said Arkansas Gov. David Pryor has no objection to raising the limit if it would not overburden sewer and water facilities or adversely affect nearby communities.

Red Cross workers at Eglin Air Ford Base, meantime, were busy distributing toys to refugee children. Two planes loaded with toys from Daytona Beach and friendship boxes sent as a welcome from elementary school children throughout the United States arrived Sunday.

Refugee population at Camp Pendleton in California was as high as 19,000 over the weekend, about 900 over its capacity, officials said.

AN INTRODUCTION TO '76—The Pickaway County Bicentennial Commission's official kickoff of the celebration of our Nation's 200th birthday was attended by about 400 persons Saturday at the Fairgrounds Coliseum. The County Band under the direction of James Kibby assisted by David Price, Boy and Girl Scout units, the Ohio National Guard, the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, The Maranatha Singers of Circleville Bible College, and the Elks Singers were all part of the program. Circleville native and former mayor of Columbus, M. E. Sensenbrenner, was the principal speaker. Rebecca Barr who designed the county's Bicentennial logo, received a plaque for her design. It was presented by Pickaway County Commissioner Dick T. Tootle and his fellow commissioners Donald Strous and Robert Liston. Walton Spangler is chairman of the Bicentennial Commission, Ned Harden is the coordinator.

Laos Falls Under Control Of Communists

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The State Department says the United States has no plans to evacuate the 1,000 Americans in Laos although the Communist Pathet Lao apparently are taking over the landlocked Indochinese kingdom.

"The situation doesn't appear to warrant it," said a State Department spokesman in Washington.

Vientiane, the Laotian capital, remained calm following a speech Sunday in which Premier Souvanna Phouma in effect conceded that the Pathet Lao now control the coalition government of rightists, leftists and neutralists established under a 1973 peace accord.

"Important changes have taken place which some had not expected so suddenly, but they are here," said the 73-year-old premier, a neutralist who for years tried unsuccessfully to forge a balance between the conservatives and Communists.

"We must stop the fighting. The war has reached an end," Souvanna Phouma told a meeting of high-ranking officials attended by King Savang Vathana. "...It is our great chance to preserve our country from further bloodshed which surely would take place if one continued to ignore the march of historical events."

The premier's speech followed the Communist victories in Cambodia and South Vietnam, attacks by Pathet Lao forces on various positions held by the rightist Royal Laotian Army, the resignation of four of the six rightist members of Souvanna Phouma's coalition cabinet and the removal of three top-ranking rightist generals from their army commands. This left the Pathet Lao the dominant faction in the government.

Defense Minister Sisouk Na Champassak and Finance Minister Ngon Sananikone, two of the strongest rightists, were among those who resigned. Diplomats in Vientiane expect the three-faction "Government of National Union" to continue, but predict the new rightist ministers will be men of less stature who will pose no challenge to Pathet Lao control.

In the wake of the Pathet Lao army attacks and a student demonstration Friday against the U.S. Embassy, a number of high-ranking officials associated with rightist, pro-American groups left Vientiane, along with Vietnamese and Chinese businessmen. But the city was peaceful Sunday on the Constitution Day holiday.

The Laotian government in a broadcast Sunday night appealed to the populace to remain calm and said Laotian and foreign residents were prohibited from leaving the country. The broadcast charged "certain rightist groups" were trying to panic the population with rumors of bloodshed.

Champassak and Sananikone were among those who fled to Thailand. Both were reported headed for Paris, and the Thai government said it wanted friendly relations with the Laotian government and would not give asylum to any political refugees from Laos. It took the same stand toward political refugees from South Vietnam and Cambodia after the Communist victories there.

Elsewhere in Indochina:

The new Communist regime in South Vietnam ordered members of the former South Vietnamese armed forces and of the civil service to register by Saturday.

A Saigon broadcast said two dozen generals and 1,500 other senior officers registered last week. It said officers from lieutenant through colonel and civil servants were to report to the central police station in Saigon by Saturday, while lower-ranking soldiers were to register with their local security units.

Armed security units made up of volunteers have been set up in every district and village of South Vietnam, Saigon's Liberation Radio said. It reported that 2,700 young people from the Youth and Students Federation of South Vietnam have volunteered for security, peacekeeping and traffic duty in the capital.

Liberation Radio said 1,700 young people in Saigon attended four-day indoctrination courses at the "Youth Voluntary Training Center" last week.

"The aim of the courses is to emphasize the significance of the great victory and the liberation of South Vietnam and the new duties of youth and students in supporting and protecting the revolutionary authority," the broadcast said.

"Youth now must keep revolutionary spirits to deserve to be called youth of the Ho Chi Minh Era."

Another broadcast from Saigon said plans were being made to repair and reopen the city's Tan Son Nhut airport, hit by rockets and shelling in the last days before the Communist takeover.

Communications with Western newsmen who remained in South Vietnamese after the surrender of Saigon continued to be fragmentary and sporadic. But Matt Franjola of The Associated Press drove through the Mekong Delta and reported commerce booming, farmers preparing their rice fields for the rainy season and homes being rebuilt. He said there appeared to be a new spirit among the people.

From Cambodia, a broadcast Sunday stressed "unity forever" between Cambodia and China and thanked North Korea, North Vietnam and Laos for their support in "defeating the U.S. imperialists." Nothing was said about the Soviet Union.

"The victory of the Cambodian

Ministers Reach 'Understanding' On Cuban Embargo

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western Hemisphere foreign ministers have reached a "general understanding" on ways to end the Cuba embargo, although the next step toward lifting the 11-year-old embargo may not come until later this year at the earliest.

The reported agreement on Cuba is the major achievement thus far of the annual Organization of American States meeting under way since Thursday. Although Cuba was not even mentioned in the 37-point agenda, it has been a dominant topic of corridor deliberations at OAS headquarters.

In an impromptu meeting with reporters Saturday, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said, "I have the impression there is a general understanding of where we want to go" on the Cuba issue.

Currently 12 of the 21 voting OAS nations are on record in support of an end to the embargo but a two-thirds majority or 14 votes is needed.

Costa Rican Foreign Minister Gonzalo Facio said a consensus was emerging in support of a special meeting later in the year to permit changes in the procedure governing lifting of the sanctions. Facio said the two-thirds majority requirement would be scrapped in favor of rule by simple majority.

Once the procedural problem is resolved, a meeting would be held to formally end the sanctions.

The divisive nature of the issue was reflected last November in Ecuador where the will of the 12-nation anti-embargo majority was thwarted by nine negative votes and abstentions.

Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro raised the possiblity of improved relations with the United States during discussions last week with Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., who visited the island nation. Castro told McGovern he is considering a series of steps, including release of some or all American political prisoners on the island.

Even though most ministers agree on the need for procedural reform, the scene outside the OAS Saturday demonstrated that at least some Cuban exiles continue opposition to Castro's regime.

A crowd of about 1,100 exiles and supporters marched peacefully, calling on the OAS to keep the embargo and shun relations with Cuba.

Russians Set Grain Storage Expansion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union plans to increase its grain storage facilities by nearly one-third by 1980, a move U.S. experts say could save much of the Russian crop now lost each year because of poor handling after harvest.

Fletcher R. Pope Jr., a specialist in the Agriculture Department's Economic Research Service, told a reporter he could not predict whether an improved Soviet grain handling system might eventually mean a lesser need for imports.

Pope said the Agriculture Department estimates about 10 per cent of the Soviet Union's grain harvest is lost each year on the average, much of it from lack of modern storage and handling facilities.

The proposed grain storage expansion was outlined in a report by A. Paul Danyluk, assistant U.S. agricultural attache in Moscow. He said the Soviet plan is to construct about 40 million metric tons of additional off-farm storage capacity in the next five years, boosting the total capacity to 180 million tons by then.

"The sharp rise in construction plans follows in the wake of grain crops in 1973 and 1974 that were the largest ever," Danyluk said. "It also suggests a response to criticism about the high losses of grain due to shortages of both storing and drying facilities."

The push to improve storage facilities is reminiscent of similar massive expansions in the United States in the early 1950s when huge surpluses of wheat and corn caused existing warehouses to overflow. Currently, U.S. grain storage capacity — not counting farmers' own units — is around 160 million tons.

Danyluk said Soviet leaders became aware of storage deficiencies after the 1973 grain crop yielded a record of 222.5 million tons, about 25 million more than anticipated.

Agriculture Department officials think Russia may still be a fairly consistent buyer of corn or other feed grains if Moscow's plan to push livestock production continues. Improved grain handling and storage in the Soviet Union could, if crop losses are reduced, alter the situation in future years.

THE Bicentennial kickoff Saturday was a fine program and Walton Spangler, county bicentennial chairman, and Ned Harden, coordinator, are to be congratulated ... It is unfortunate that more people didn't attend ... The Pageant of Flags which is a history of the American Flag will be available for presentation at other functions throughout the county and is an excellent bit of history.

THE senior citizens garden plots have been plowed, disced, dragged and laid out thanks to the Streber Brothers, Tom Boyer Jr., Mark Pontius and George Hamrick.

Field Diet Of Edible Weeds Good, Foragers Discover

BLACK DIAMOND, Wash. (AP) — "Everything I point out to eat will be something I've eaten," David Jansen said. And with that, the 25 foragers were off for a weekend of learning to live off the land.

"I read all about these in books, but you never really know for sure until somebody shows you," Bob Rollin, a forestry teacher at a local high school, said later. The group nibbled its way along the roadside, sampling miner's lettuce, bedstraw, sheep sorrel and licorice fern roots.

Jansen, a freelance instructor in edible wild foods, explained the various goodies as the group moved along. Winter cress, in the mustard family; curly dock, a good rhubarb substitute; young fern fronds, with an almond flavor, and several other plants were sampled and approved.

At one point, the group came upon a fir tree. Jansen explained "the needles taste turpentiney, but there's a lot of vitamin C. It's OK, if you like it."

Later, a Seattle woman pointed out lichen. She told the group it could be pounded into a powder, mixed with water and made into a pan bread. She said it was high in protein, though "not as high as insects."

"In survival situations, grubs — even worms — provide proteins and fat," she said.

She told one interested party that slugs also can be eaten.

"I eat raw eggs frequently, but I don't know if I could eat a slug," Rollin muttered.

The menu for the big feast of the excursion finally was decided. Jansen said the group treated itself to a main course of fuzzy thistles, cattail soup, a nettle dish, a fireweed dish and some mustard greens, chickweed and miner's lettuce salads. The meal was topped off with ginger and mint teas.

Ohio No Smoking Law Blasted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio restaurant operators are set to assail a bill in the General Assembly tonight to ban smoking in public except in certain designated areas.

"We don't need that dadblasted bill, and we can't live with it," said Robert Henry, executive director of the Ohio State Restaurant Association.

He said the association will send eight witnesses before the Senate Ways and Means Committee for the first hearing set aside for opponents, proponents had their say at two previous hearings.

Henry said the eight are all restaurant operators who will tell the committee how the legislation would affect their individual operations. "There are a lot of reasons why we are against it," he said.

He said it is impossible, for one thing, to estimate the cost that would result from language in the measure. It says smoking areas in public places must be "so separated from the rest of the place of public assembly as to prevent the inhalation of tobacco smoke by nonsmoking persons."

Henry said this means restaurants would have to parition their places and change the ventilation and air conditioning. "The cost would be substantial to every restaurant in Ohio," he added.

The association also plans to report to the committee that during the first week of January 1974, 13 restaurants in Dayton gave the segregated areas a try. The veteran lobbyist said only five of fifteen no smoking tables were filled at the busiest time during the week.

He said in a survey 3,192 regular "dine out" customers were polled by the National Restaurant Association and asked to list the things they considered when selecting a restaurant. Henry said less than 3.2 per cent mentioned smoking as a factor.

Further, Henry contended the bill would increase labor costs. "You'd have to have a full time hostess, and someone who was good with people because a lot of times, they would be standing in line with tables empty."

The Monday night hearing opens a full round of committee action in both houses this week, although the major event will be House floor action Tuesday on the state's $10.7 billion budget bill for the next two fiscal years. Departmental hearings on that document started in the Senate in advance several weeks ago and are continuing this week.

Otherwise, a House insurance subcommittee plans hearings Tuesday and Wednesday, respectively, on major bills giving Ohio a system of no fault auto insurance and creating a joint underwriting association to assure doctors and hospitals of medical malpractice insurance coverage.

The Senate Commerce and Labor Committee plans a second hearing Wednesday on a bill to establish collective bargaining procedures for public employes and permitting them to strike—except for police and firemen.

Wednesday morning, the House Judiciary Committee will hear more testimony on a revised version of Atty. Gen. William J. Brown's omnibus drug control bill. Among its major features are mandated jail terms for traffickers and a proposed lessening of the penalty for possession of marijuana.

A bill to prohibit actions by public agencies at closed meetings is due for a vote Wednesday afternoon in the Senate Judiciary Committee. Hearings continue in the House Economic Affairs and Federal Relations Committee on Tuesday night on proposals to ban nonreturnable beverage cans as an effort to curtail littering.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices showed a scattered pattern today amid strong counteravailing forces of profit taking and buying on expectations of a developing economic recovery.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 2.04 at 848.09, but the over-all New York Stock Exchange tally showed gainers ahead of losers by about a 3-2 margin in continued active trading.

Brokers said the pace of profit taking might have been stepped up somewhat by uncertainty over whether the expected upturn in the economy might be slower than some observers had been hoping.

Occidental Petroleum, the Big Board volume leader, rose ½ to 16⅞ after a 1½-point gain Friday, when the issue also led the active list. Late this morning the company reported finding a new natural gas field in California's Sacramento Valley.

people is the same as the victory of the Chinese," the broadcast said.

The International Red Cross Committee in Geneva defended its delegation in Phnom Penh against a charge by West German television reporter Christoph Froeder that when the city surrendered, the delegation panicked and fled to the French Embassy, abandoning wounded Cambodians and medical supplies.

The committtee said the delegation tried to get the Khmer Rouge to recognize the neutral zone it proclaimed at the Hotel Le Phnom. But it said the Communist seized the medical supplies and ordered the foreign personnel evacuated, and the delegation had to leave the sick and wounded to be looked after by their own families.

Former Premier Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam said in a television interview in the United States that the next countries in line for Communist attack are Thailand and Burma. Ky, a refugee at Camp Pendleton, Calif., said on ABC's "Issues and Answers" that "there is no doubt that after Vietnam and Cambodia...the next step will be Thailand, Burma and other countries near Vietnam."

Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew of Singapore said in Washington that Asians now question whether the United States would fight to defend South Korea. Appearing on the CBS program "Face the Nation," he said there seems to be a consensus in Congress that Japan must be protected but there is debate about South Korea.

Four American ships loaded with 16,100 more Vietnamese refugees were expected to arrive at Guam today. An additional 1,300 refugees were expected Tuesday and Wednesday, according to a U.S. Navy spokesman.

The State Department said that by Sunday night a total of 48,758 refugees were gathered in Guam, Wake, Thailand and the Philippines; another 26,847 were en route to Guam; 18,700 were at Camp Pendleton; 15,000 were at Ft. Chaffee, Ark.; and 2,500 were at Eglin Uir Force Base, Fla.

Congress is still debating how much it will appropriate to aid the refugees. An initial allocation of $98 million was expected to be exhausted over the weekend.

Bicyclist Among Injured In Accidents

Nine persons sustained injuries in six weekend accidents investigated by Pickaway County Sheriff's Authorities.

Seventeen-year-old Carol D. Daniels, Route 5, was treated and released at Berger Hospital for a laceration to the forehead, when she lost control of the car she was driving.

Occurring 8:15 p.m. Saturday, Miss Daniels, was northbound on the Morris-Leist Road when she traveled off the right berm. The auto veered back across the highway into a ditch.

Deputy James Fite investigated the incident.

Larry E. Houser, 25, Route 3, Chillicothe, was cited by Deputy James Dixon for driving left of center, while he was attempting to make a right turn into a service driveway, 12:30 a.m. Sunday.

Northbound on the Chillicothe-Williamsport Road, Houser was making the turn, when he went left of center and was struck by a southbound vehicle driven by Val Skinner, 19, Route 1, Clarksburg.

Ms. Skinner was referred to a doctor for a laceration to the forehead, arm and mouth.

A Route 2, Williamsport man, Frank J. Lutz, 73, was cited by Deputy Dan Dewey for failure to maintain an assured clear distance, when he was involved in a two-car accident, 1:25 p.m. Saturday.

Lutz following a vehicle driven by Elizabeth E. Stonerock, 26, Pancoastburg, both westbound on Route 22, passed a third vehicle when Lutz struck the Stonerock vehicle in the rear.

No injuries were reported.

An 84-year-old Chillicothe man was cited by Deputy Dan Dewey for failure to yield the right of way, when he was involved in a two-car accident, 2:25 p.m. Sunday.

According to the report, Elwood Curtiss, 84, was southbound on Route 23 when he stopped in the crossover at the Circleville-Tarlton Road.

Curtiss then began to cross the northbound lanes of Route 23 when he pulled into the path of a northbound auto driven by Sara E. Betz, 21, Columbus.

Curtiss was referred to a doctor for a lacerated finger. A passenger, Clara Walker, 76, Chillicothe, was taken to Berger Hospital for a fractured pelvis.

Ms. Betz was treated for lacerations to the forehead and contusions of the scalp while a passenger, George L. Fish Jr., Gallipolis, was referred to a doctor for a lacerated hand.

Two youngsters, Sherri Maddux, 12 and Craig Maddux, 6, Washington C.H. were referred to a doctor for bumps they received, when the car they were passengers struck the rear of another car in an accident, 2:55 p.m. Sunday.

According to the report taken by Deputy Bill Huffman, James R. Heeter, 42, 426 E. Union St., was westbound on Route 22 when another car pulled from Route 56 into his path.

Heeter slammed on his brakes to avoid hitting the vehicle. Glen L. Maddux, 40, Washington C.H. following Heeter was unable to stop striking Heeter's auto in the rear.

No citation was issued.

Forty-five-year-old Chillicothe bicyclist, Raymond L. Tomlinson, was taken to the Ross County Medical Center for contusions to the forehead, elbow, eye and shoulder when he lost control of the bicycle he was riding along State Route 180.

Tomlinson was riding in loose gravel when the bike slid throwing him onto the pavement.

Deputy Dan Dewey investigated the incident.

Soviet Ships Open Visit To Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Two Soviet destroyers, first warships of their nation to visit a U.S. port since World War II, docked today under the welcomes of a harbor fireboat's spray, a 21-gun National Guard artillery salute and a party of U.S. Navy officers carrying swords in full formal dress.

In Leningrad, meanwhile, hundreds of curious Russians lined the docks and bands played vigorously as two U.S. warships entered that city's port for the first visit of American Navy vessels to the Soviet Union since World War II.

The five-day exchange visit of the warships was arranged in honor of the 30th anniversary of the Allied victory over Nazi Germany.

In Boston, the Zhguchiy tied up at Commonwealth Pier at 8:30 a.m., followed by the Boykiy, flagship of Rear Adm. A. M. Kalinin, in line behind her about 10 minutes later.

As a band played aboard the Zhguchiy, the crews of the Russian ships manned the rails in full dress uniforms, facing the American officers on the pier.

They exchanged salutes with the USS Albany, a guided missile cruiser berthed on the other side of the pier.

The two Soviet ships, armed with guided missiles, exchanged salutes with 105mm howitzers fired by National Guardsmen as they sailed past Ft. Independence on Castle Island at the mouth of the inner harbor. The Soviet and American flags flew side by side over the fort.

In Leningard, an official of the U.S. consulate said the two American vessels received and returned a 21-gun salute and dipped their flags as they entered the harbor, with a U.S. Navy band playing aboard one of the ships and a Soviet band playing on shore.

Storms Stretch Across Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms stretched from Texas to the lower Great Lakes and eastward to the Appalachians today with the heaviest rainfall in the Texas area, where a tornado watch was issued for the northwesten regions before dawn.

Showers sprinkled the northern half of the Rockies, turning to snow at higher elevations.

Most other sections of the nation were fair to partly cloudy.

The temperature in the Southwest Sunday broke 100 degrees. The high was shared by Buckeye, Ariz., and Palm Springs, Calif., which both had 102 degrees.

LE Student Selected For YCC

Randall Douglas Watkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Watkins, Route 5, Wintergreen Hills, has been selected from the Sixth Congressional District to participate in the state's Youth Conservation Corps (YCC) program for the summer.

The youths were recruited through local school districts to represent each of Ohio's 23 congressional districts.

Selections were made jointly by a board of 12 professional employees from the Department of Natural Resources, and the U.S. Agriculture and Interior departments, according to David Franklyn, Chief of DNR's Personnel and Employee Service Division, which coordinates the state YCC program.

Randy will attend one of two four-week YCC camp sessions this summer where he will receive $200 plus room and board to accomplish work which improves, maintains or enhances the state's natural resources.

The first session is June 21 through July 18, and the second session is July 20 through August 16.

There are four YCC camps in Ohio, two operated by the Department of Natural Resources, and two operated by the federal government.

The two YCC facilities operated by the Department of Natural Resources are at Zaleski State Forest in Vinton County and Shawnee State Forest in Scioto County. Both state forests have environmental resource centers where the YCC camps are conducted.

Also, the U.S. Department of Interior has a YCC camp at Hebron Fish Hatchery in Licking County and the Department of Agriculture's U.S. Forest Service has a YCC camp in Wayne National Forest in Monroe County.

This is the second year for the state-operated YCC camps in Ohio, which in 1974 became the first state authorized by the federal government to operate the camps.

This year, Ohio received a $146,000 grant to operate the two state YCC camps. The grant is part of more than $10.2 million appropriated by Congress this year for a national YCC program.

The growing YCC program provides summer work experience for thousands of young Americans each year. The YCC campers work and live in an outdoor atmosphere that creates opportunities for a better understanding and appreciation of the natural environment.

Work performed by YCC crews includes trail construction, reclamation of land, timber stand improvement, construction of picnic areas, erosion control and stream bank stabilization and wildlife habitat improvement.

Lima Girl Slain At Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—An 18-year-old Lima girl, on her way home for Mother's Day, was found shot to death Sunday near a busy Cincinnati expressway ramp, Cincinnati police said.

A 13-year-old boy said he saw the girl's body while passing by.

An autopsy was scheduled today. Police said the girl had been shot in the head.

Thieves Get Two Rugs

Thieves broke into J. Born Floors, 114 W. Main St., to take two Oriental rugs valued at $295.

Jack Born, owner of the store, told Circleville Police that entry was gained by breaking the glass from a west side door to permit access to the door lock. The store was unattended from 11 a.m. Sunday to 8:45 a.m. Monday.

The carpeting included a gold three-foot by five-foot Oriental rug valued at $140 and a moss green three-foot by five-foot Oriental rug valued at $155.

Leonard Turnage, 406 N. Scioto St., told police that thieves took a 10-gallon stone crock from his front porch Saturday or Sunday. The crock is valued at $25.

David May, 1248 Norfolk Ave., told police that he was shot in the buttock with what was suspected to be a BB while he was at the rear of his house Sunday.

Local Engineer Receives Outstanding Service Award

Frank S. Baum, Route 1, Lockbourne, received the "Outstanding Service Award" from the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers (OSPE) at its board of directors meeting May 1. It was the first award presented at OSPE's three-day annual meeting held in Toledo, May 1-3.

Baum, employed as a consulting engineer at Burgess & Niple, Ltd., Columbus, was presented the award by Charles G. Smith, president of OSPE, "for his willingness to serve as asked, his dedication to assigned tasks and, most of all, the quiet and efficient manner of accomplishment of these assignments."

After graduating from Ohio State University in 1934 with a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering, he worked for the U.S. Department of Agriculture until 1939. From then to 1950, he was Pickaway County engineer except for a three-year military absence as a civilian employee of the U.S. Signal Corps.

It was in 1950 that he became employed with Burgess and Niple, his current employer.

Baum joined OSPE in 1939, the same year the society's Southern Ohio Chapter was formed. He has served as that chapter's president, vice president and director and is now completing a third term as state director for the chapter.

He is currently the chairman of the OSPE Professional Practices Committee, the same committee he has been a member of since 1960. Baum has also served on the public relations and engineers week committee of OSPE.

Committee Approves Harsha Bill

The House Public Works and Transportation Committee has approved legislation, sponsored by Congressman William H. Harsha, extending the Appalachian Regional Development Act of 1965 for another two to four years and at a higher level of funding.

The Sixth District Representative, ranking Republican on the committee, said that he hopes for House passage of the bill before the end of the month. The Senate Public Works Committee has not yet completed hearings on its version of the Appalachian legislation.

Appalachian highway construction programs, which were to terminate at the end of the 1978 fiscal year, would be continued through fiscal year 1980 under the amended legislation.

Non-highway programs would be extended by four years, through Sept. 30, 1979 (hencceforth the Federal Government's fiscal year runs from October through September).

The extension bill authorizes federal spending of $300 million a year on the Appalachian highway program, beginning in fiscal year 1977. The existing law authorizes $185 million for 1977, and $180 million for 1978. The existing spending authorization of $185 million for fiscal 1976 remains unchanged in the new bill.

For non-highway programs, including health, education, housing, pollution control, and timber development, the bill authorizes $340 million in federal funds for the two fiscal years ending Sept. 30, 1977, and $300 million for the next two years ending Sept. 30, 1979. The current authorization for the two years ending June 30, 1975, is $294 million.

Also approved was an $8 million federal constribution to administrative expenses, shared 50-50 with the states, for the Federal-State Commisssion for the four years through 1979.

School Formula Still Unsettled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Supporters of a bill to establish a guaranteed equal yield formula for state aid to public schools say they have found truth in the old saying that holds "you can't please all the people all of the time." The ambitious plan is designed to offset disparities among property tax valuations in school districts by guaranteeing an equal return of state dollars per pupil for equal local taxing effort. The emphasis is on local effort rather than wealth.

Convinced that the new formula will please at least some of the people some of the time, sponsors are inching along with the complicated legislation relatively intact in the Senate Education and Welfare Committee.

Two major objections to the new aid system have been raised: It would perpetuate heavy reliance on local property taxes for financing of primary and secondary education, and it would not benefit high effort, high wealth districts.

The antitax forces will have to present a workable alternative for school funding to dissuade the equal yield advocates, who are resigned to property taxes as a rather unpleasant fact of life.

In its current form, the new plan would provide 48 state dollars per pupil for each of the first 20 mills assessed locally and $42 per pupil for each additional mill up to 30.

Those goals might have to be scaled down, but the legislature is expected to provide enough new money in the state budget — about $500 million — to implement the formula.

Districts that are both wealthy and willing contend the formula robs Peter to pay Paul.

"They have a legitimate complaint," said Sen. Donald J. Pease, D-13 Oberlin, chief architect of the bill.

He said framers of the proposal may raise the 30-mill ceiling for local assessments to 35 or 40 mills.

School districts would be required to levy 22 mills of real estate tax next year to qualify for the program, but as the bill currently is written the state's guaranteed return would be cut off at 30 mills.

Cincinnati school officials have told the committee their district will go bankrupt in three years if the formula is enacted into law. The district, which has a relatively high tax valuation but low local tax effort, is a classic example of the type of area that would not greatly benefit from the formula.

Pease did not buy the bankruptcy argument.

"What is suspect," he told representatives of the district, "is that Cincinnati is making a strong case for itself, but not necessarily an accurate case."

The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation has expressed opposition to a key plank in the bill that calls for equalization of property valuations by class of real property for the purpose of school taxing.

"They are afraid farmlands will not be assessed equally with commercial, industrial and residential property," he said.

A Page Of Opinion

Would the bicentennial year of 1976 be a good time to reintroduce the $2 bill? Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing James A. Conlon advocates such a move. Of course Conlon has been in favor of the $2 bill's return for years, against a strong current of opposition from the Treasury Department.

As the man in charge of printing the nation's currency, Conlon sees several advantages to bringing back the denomination dropped in 1963. For one, the cost of printing money — as with many other items — has risen significantly in recent years.

In 1972, the cost was calculated at $7.76 per 1,000 bills, today it is $11 per 1,000. The cost remains constant, whether it is a $1 bill or a $100 bill, the largest denomination now printed. By printing $2 bills, Conlon argues, the 55 per cent of this printing work going into $1 bills could be reduced significantly.

In addition, Conlon believes, inflation has created a demand for larger denominations. Working against the director's proposal is the fact the $2 was never popularly accepted as a medium of exchange when it was circulated before. More than one man's opinion that times have changed will be required to erase the memory.

Third Rate Leaders

By JIM BISHOP

When I disagree, I am inclined to be loud. This, of course, is vulgar. But, as a lifetime student of man, I see people in relation to others who preceded them. For example, I think the President is sly when he calls the immigration of 130,000 Vietnamese "an act of mercy."

I think he's afraid to tell us that Thieu blackmailed him. The implied threat was that unless we accepted the unwanted babies, and unless we accepted the affluent adults, Thieu, would not permit our 6,000 Americans to leave. He could not be responsible, he said in a speech, for what his people might do to our people.

That's a threat. We spent $150 billion and 56,000 of the cream of our manhood propping Thieu in his American-made palace. When he fell, and couldn't find a plane big enough to carry his gold bullion, he called us traitors.

Forgive me, but Thieu is a heel. A vicious ingrate. My feelings about historical figures of this decade are best summed up by stating that most of our world leaders are less than meets the eye.

I was scanning a book written by Donald Robinson for Putnam called, "The Hundred Most Important People in the World Today." Mr. Robinson is a qualified pro. The copyright line is 1970, so, in reading this tome, we are looking backward at his judgments of five years ago.

The opening chapter is headed: "Richard M. Nixon. President of the United States, the most important man in the world." Bear in mind, this book is going to remain dusty on the shelves of public libraries for a long time. Children of this and the next generation will read it.

Among the 100 most important men he lists Charles de Gaulle. Monsieur le President was the most selfish, intractable leader of a defeated nation in modern times. The U.S. had to give uniforms and guns to Gen. Leclerc's division so that they could parade into Paris as victors.

Tito is listed far ahead of such great men as Jonas Salk and Enrico Fermi. The only credit which can be accorded to Tito is that he divorced his brand of Communism from the Soviet Union and made Stalin truckle to Yugoslavia's independence.

Gamal Nasser is listed as "leader of the Arab world." He led Egypt into losing two wars with little Israel. The Arab world listened to King Faisal. Nasser and Faisal are dead, but Faisal was so strong he wouldn't permit Nasser to shine his shoes. Assuming that Faisal wore shoes.

Indira Gandhi and Golda Meir were two leaders of government who, if you take a look at India and Israel, should have tried needlepoint.

Fidel Castro is indeed a leader. When he was in the Sierra Maestras, sobbing for freedom, he was a poor general indeed. If he is among the 100 world leaders, then enslavement of a noble nation is a righteous thing. It is no longer a question of whether the U.S will recognize Cuba, but how much it will cost to have Cuba recognize us.

Moshe Dayan is dubbed "the war hero who directs Israel's fight for survival." If you want a hawk instead of a dove, Dayan is a great man.

Robert McNamara, "who long guided U.S. efforts in the Vietnam War," is among the 100 greatest. That should sink him in history. He was a Kennedy sycophant who, as Secretary of Defense, was a cold autocrat who ran us into the deepest debt. He once contracted for one fighter plane to serve both the Air Force and the carrier fleet. It didn't work.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, applauds Chief Executives who raise salaries beyond 5 per cent, and crudely insults those who regard him as less than a kingmaker. He's old and loud.

Pope Paul VI. Now you're on my home ground. He seems to think that silence connotes intellectuality. Like Meany, he's an "aginner." I have waited a long time to hear of something he favors. He is to John XXIII what a nod is to enduring love.

McGeorge Bundy seems to be listed only because he is "head of the multi-billion dollar Ford Foundation." Bundy is, beyond argument, a blinking winking intellectual. Give him all that money and he knows what to do with it. You could do as well.

I disagree with much of what men do in this decade. The world, I feel, is heavy with third-rate statesmen, first-rate scientists, and cowardly generals. America, which is the greatest, strongest, most charitable nation in the world, hasn't got a loyal friend.

Why not list Henry Kissinger in that group of the 100 greatest? Never, in the history of man, has anyone tried harder and failed so miserably . . .

Winter Wheat Crop Off To Good Start

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1975 winter wheat crop is off to a generally good start and may produce a record harvest of 1.62 billion bushels, grain needed to replenish reserves now expected to be at a 27-year low by summer.

Winter wheat makes up about three-fourths of total U.S. wheat output. The estimate, based on May 1 field conditions, was announced Friday by the Agriculture Department.

The department's Crop Reporting Board did not include spring-planted wheat and will issue its first estimate of that production in July. But USDA has projected a spring wheat crop of 525 million bushels, assuming normal yields and expected plantings.

Thus, including the winter crop's estimate, a 1975 record wheat harvest of more than 2.1 billion bushels is in the offing. But USDA a year ago predicted an even larger 1974 crop and saw poor weather, including drought, slice it to less than 1.8 billion bushels.

The May estimate for winter wheat was one per cent larger than the 1.6 billion bushels USDA initially forecast last Dec. 23. Officials said Friday that 1975 yields are expected to average 32.1 bushels an acre, compared with 29.5 last year.

"Winter wheat prospects were generally fair to good on May 1," the report said. "However, growth and development was lagging behind normal for this date in all areas except Texas due to subnormal temperatures during the spring growing season."

In Kansas, the leading producer, the crop was estimated at a record 389 million bushels, compared to 319 million last year. The Oklahoma crop was put at 172 million bushels, up from 134.4 million in 1974; and the Texas harvest at 137.5 million against a drought-ravaged crop of 52.8 million last year.

The Nebraska wheat crop, however, was indicated at less than 91.5 million bushels, down from 98.6 million in 1974. In the Pacific Northwest, however, Washington farmers were expected to harvest 114.4 million bushels compared with 109 million last year.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Morgan not only didn't love his neighbors, he hated them. They were so untidy that debris of all kinds littered their yard. Finally he asked a court to order a cleanup.

"That place is an eyesore," he told the judge. "Besides disturbing me personally, it also reduces the value of my real estate."

However, the judge refused to mix in. He said that generally speaking, a property owner has no right to impose his standards of neatness upon the neighbors.

This has long been the prevailing rule of law. It applies not only to standards of neatness but also to standards of beauty. Consider another case:

A suburban family was offended by the rough, unpainted wooden fence erected by the people next door. But in a court test, the neighbors pointed out that their fence had been put up for the legitimate purpose of protecting their garden.

Again declining to interfere, the court said:

"The defendants were not compelled to consult the taste of their neighbors as to the kind of fence they should build or the color of paint they should use. They were within their rights in satisfying their own taste."

On the other hand, unsightliness may carry at least some weight if there are other grounds for complaint as well. Another court faced the question of whether an auto wrecking yard could operate in an unzoned residential district. The court said:

"Unsightly things are not to be blamed solely on that account. Many of them are necessary in carrying on the activities of organized society.

"But such things should be properly placed, not so located as to be unduly offensive to the neighbors or to the public. A junk yard should not be located in a community of unquestioned residential character."

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, May 12, the 132nd day of 1975. There are 233 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1949, the Soviets announced that the 328-day blockade of land routes to isolated West Berlin had been lifted.

On this date —

In 1820, the English woman who founded modern nursing, Florence Nightingale, was born in Florence, Italy.

In 1932, the dead body of the kidnapped baby son of Charles Lindbergh was found in a wooded area in Hopewell, N.J.

In 1943, the World War II Battle of North Africa ended with the German surrender of Cape Bon in Tunisia.

In 1965, West Germany and Israel established diplomatic relations.

Ten years ago: A Soviet spacecraft, Luna five, hit the moon, but it was not the soft landing hoped for.

Five years ago: The U.S. Senate unanimously confirmed Harry Blackman of Minnesota as the 99th Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court.

One year ago: Vice President Gerald Ford said the U.S. was a lot better off under President Richard Nixon than it would have been under George McGovern.

Today's birthdays: Manager Yogi Berra of the New York Mets baseball team is 50. Composer Burt Bacharach is 46. Thought for today: Things don't turn up in this world until somebody turns them up — President James Garfield, 1831-1881.

Bicentennial footnote: It was 200 years ago today that American troops known as the Green Mountain Boys captured Crown Point, N.Y. on Lake Champlain from the British.

The Home and Hospital celebrated its 30th anniversary with a basket picnic to which the public was invited to attend with the aged ladies of the Home.

The annual high school county field meet and oratorical contest was held at the Jackson Twp. School. Saltcreek boys and Monroe Township girls led the athletic events. The evening oratorical contest was won by Margaret Ellen Kirk of New Holland on the subject "The Great Neglect."

The Circleville Hardware Store, Howard D. Fairley manager, was purchased by a Dayton firm. Leonard Davidson, former salesman with the old firm, was named manager.

The comedy "Aunt Billy From Texas" was presented to a capacity crowd by the dramatic class of Circleville High School. Notable roles were played by Alice Ada May, Franklin Kibler and Forrest Liston. In the minstrel portion of the performance, roles were assumed by Ralph Barnhart, George Hitler, Carl Palm and Eleanor Snyder as Topsy.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Letters from my readers indicate a great deal of confusion about low back pain, slipped disc, sciatica and the chronic symptoms associated with them.

Perhaps a better understanding of the anatomy of the spine will end some of the confusion.

The entire spine, from the neck to the tail bone, or coccyx, consists of 33 bones, or "vertebrae.

A firm band of protective tissue, known as interverebral discs, cushions and absorbs the shocks to the spine. They protect the bony edges of the vertebrae and prevent the destructions and wear caused by the constant movement or turning of the body.

Sometimes, after an injury to the spine and the surrounding muscles, one or more of these elastic discs may slip from the normal position. This is known as "herniation" of the disc.

The bulging may press on one or more nerves that make their exit through the spinal cord.

The most dominant symptom is severe back pain. The location of the pain depends on the part of the spinal cord that is involved. A slipped disc high in the neck will, of course, be responsible for distribution of pain in that area.

A herniated, or slipped disc, low in the back may cause pain in that area or send radiating pain down the buttocks and the back of the legs.

There was a time not long ago when the slipped or herniated disc was a self-made diagnosis that almost had social prestige. There can be no guesswork about this problem.

Examination by an orthopedist and neurologist can help to establish the proper diagnosis. Routine X-rays and special myelograms can help pinpoint the exact spot of the suspected herniated disc.

The cause of sciatica and other reasons for low back pain can also be established in this way.

A special word of caution: Some people expose themselves to the dangers of masseurs and spine manipulators before the diagnosis is established. These overactive manipulations can be fraught with danger unless they are specifically prescribed by doctors.

The new vogue for seeking and finding acupuncture "specialists" who function without proper training or guidance has potential hazard. Orthodox methods of treatment may be delayed for a long time. Relatively simple problems can, by delay, become complicated ones.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Sixth District Of Ohio

Staggering budget deficits approved recently by both houses of Congress represent a strategic retreat in the war against both inflation and recession.

American taxpayers had every reason to expect some stiff congressional belt-tightening after last year's passage of the Budget Impoundment and Control Act.

There is something to be said for having Congress consider the whole pie instead of each piece separately. The budget reform act made this possible by establishing new House and Senate Budget committees and giving them a timetable within which to develop a congressional version of the budget.

The intent was good. A rational overall spending limit was to be created, replacing the practice of voting one each spending request on its separate and individual merits and then adding up the total at the end of the year.

In the first trial run of this new process, which was designed to allow Congress to exercise some control — and presumabley some restraint — over federal spending, the preliminary results have been disappointing.

The House approved a budget resolution calling for a deficit of $70 billion for the next fiscal year. Although less than that projected by the House Budget Committee, it is still the largest peacetime deficit in history. It is doubtful if the Congress will even adhere to this awesome deficit.

I voted against the resolution, because I believe that it carries an intolerable level of spending and one which will fuel inflation and actually retard our drive toward economic recovery.

Earlier the Senate had approved a spending target which carried a slightly smaller deficit, but neither house responded to President Ford's request that the deficit not exceed $60 billion. Even that deficit is too large, although I welcome any sincere effort to hold down this dangerous business of having the government spend money that it does not have.

The red ink could get deeper, since figures being quoted in the approved budget resolution do not include certain federal finances outside the budget and borrowing guaranteed by the government.

A budget deficit in the 70 to 100 billion-dollar range could have disasterous effects on our credit market. To cover this deficit, the government will again be forced to borrow the money and repay it with interest. With the Federal Government as a competitor for the already limited funds in the money market, private businesses, homebuyers, and other consumers will not be able to get the capital they need.

This shortage of funds will drive interest rates up again, along with inflation, and economic recovery will be slowed, if not killed altogether.

As always, part of the problem is the matter of priorities. Both budget committees recommended cuts in our defense program and more spending for welfare benefits, food stamps, and social services.

Nothing in the world situation today suggest to me that it is time for America to disarm. Our very survival depends on a strong national defense.

Economic recovery will not come from increasing the size of the non-productive public dole. American taxpayers want to get back on their feet financially. They want to get this nation back into production, not further involved with programs that weren't needed or wanted even in more prosperous times.

Following conference committee action, Congress expects to approve a budget resolution by May 15. Standing committees in each house will then use this resolution to guide them in their work this summer on authorization and appropriations bills.

Congress wanted more control over the federal budget, and now it has it. However, with that control goes responsibility. The big spenders in this Congress will have no right to criticize the President and no excuses to give the people if they saddle this nation with another large deficit and even greater inflation.

For years explorers tried to capture a Giant Panda, an animal that lives in the mountains of western China. It wasn't until 1937 that one was caught and sent to the Chicago Brookfield Zoo. Since then several others have been caught.

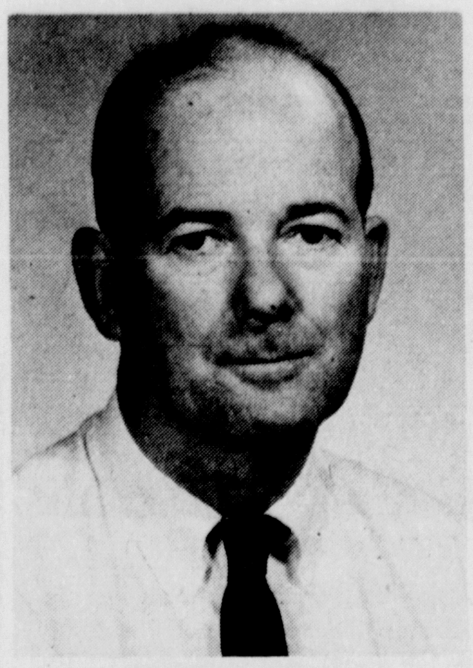
Professor To Address Dentists, MDs



THOMAS S. MORSE

Thomas S. Morse, M.D., surgeon on the staff of Children's and Ohio State University Hospitals and director of Out-patient Services at Children's Hospital, will be the principal speaker at the annual combined meeting of members of the Dental and Medical professions to be held Tuesday at R & N Steeles.

Doctor Morse will speak about emergency medical services and the American Trauma Society of which he is the national president. A number of local residents interested in the promotion of emergency medical services have been invited.

He attended Cornell University and received post-graduate training at Bellevue and Boston Children's Hospitals. During World War II he was a sergeant in the Marine Corps. He is married and has four children.

In 1966 Dr. Morse was awarded the Medical Award for outstanding service in Specialized Renal Areas by the Kidney Foundation of Central Ohio and he was named one of the Top Ten Men of 1967 by the Columbus Citizen Journal.

MRS. THELMA WILLIAMS

Saltcreek Club Member Wins Second In Sewing Contest

Mrs. Thelma Williams, Route 4, Circleville placed second in the state in the Ohio Federation of Women's Club sewing contest held recently.

The sewing contest and style show highlighted the final day of the State Convention held at the Netherland Hilton Hotel in Cincinnati. Mrs. Williams, a member of Saltcreek Town and Country Club, represented the Central Ohio River District and was competing against other district winners throughout the state.

She modeled an earthtone aqua pant suit of ribbed Butte knit. The shirt jacket had front and back yokes with detailed top stitching highlighting both front and back seams. The straight legged pants with a zippered fly front were top stitched at the yoked back. She also made a print shirt blouse of polyester knit featuring a pointed collar and turned back cuffs.

Mrs. Williams resides with her husband, Lowell, and daughters, Kimberle and Terressa at Route 4, Circleville. She began sewing about seven years ago and has learned by the sew up and rip out method as she has not had formal sewing lessons. She thinks that sewing is one of the best pasttimes for her and says it can cut clothing costs.

Besides being an active member of the Saltcreek Club, Mrs. Williams is president of the Saltcreek School Parent-Teacher Organization, an adviser for the Saltcreek Sew and Serve 4–H Club and a room mother at Saltcreek Twp. School. She is employed parttime by Larry Eveland as a secretary.

In an effort to keep society news current, The Herald has established the following policy concerning wedding news:

Wedding forms may be obtained at The Herald from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and until noon on Saturday.

It would be helpful to have the wedding form completed and returned with a picture three days before the wedding.

The Herald will make every effort to publish the story and picture on the next day of publication following the wedding providing the forms and picture are returned before the wedding.

No bridal pictures and stories will be accepted if submitted later than 30 days following the ceremony.

Bicentennial Theme Used For Mother, Daughter Banquet

Red and white striped, and blue petunias, used as favors carried the bicentennial theme into the Scioto Chapel Womens Society's annual Mother-Daughter banquet Wednesday at the Ashville Coffee Shop.

Alice Ward, president, welcomed members and guests, and the Rev. John Currens gave the invocation. Thirty members and guests were present for the dinner, meeting and program.

Mrs. Ward conducted a short business meeting before turning the events of the evening to the program committee, Mary Ellen Downs, Patsy Drummond and Mable Walker.

Audrey Hott read "The Feller Dat Yer Mudder Tinks You Are," Tammy Sprouse read "Mother's Day Cake," Gretchen Fortner gave the musical reading "My Mother" accompanied by Miss Downs at the piano, "Famous Words Of Mothers Of Famous Men" was read by Mrs. Walker.

The oldest mother present was Mrs. Womack, mother of Edith Davis; the youngest mother was Betsy Beard's mother, Judy; Sarah Fullen, Helen Emerine and Violet Currens, each the mother of seven children. Four generations were represented by Mrs. Hattie Pettibone: Thelma Hudson, Linda Beaver and daughter, Cindy. Three generations were represented by Martha Huston, Judy Beard and daughter, Betsy. Flowers and gifts were presented to each in commemoration of Mother's Day.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Three Times Is Three Times Too Much

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 17-year-old girl, graduating from high school this June. My problem is my parents. They don't want me to have anything to do with my boyfriend, who is 19, because I've become impregnated by him three times.

The first two times I was forced to get abortions, and the third time I waited too long, had the baby and placed him for adoption.

My parents have also heard bad things about my boyfriend, but he did those things when he was 15 and 16, and he has reformed now. He has a job and is staying out of trouble.

Abby, there is absolutely no way I could ever stop seeing him. He's a lot of fun to be with, and we love each other and want to get married some day. Please don't tell me to date others because he is the only one for me. We've been going steady for five years and don't like to sneak around behind my parents' backs. Please help me convince them to let me see him.

IN LOVE IN N.J.

DEAR IN: Sorry. I can't blame them for feeling as they do. They have been through three nightmarish experiences with you, and they're not looking for a fourth. When you have matured and are on your own, you won't need their permission, but because of your past mistakes you'll have to wait until then.

DEAR ABBY: With all due respect to Ripley's "Believe it or Not," there is no documentation to support its story that a 99-year-old American Indian woman gave birth to a child. And the same goes for the one about the 64-year-old woman who was said to have produced a child with her 80-year-old husband.

"The Guiness Book of Records" has documents to prove that Mrs. Ruth Alice Kistler (nee Taylor), at 57 years and 129 days old, gave birth to a daughter, Suzan, in Glendale, California on Oct. 18,1956.

AN M.D.

DEAR M.D.: I'll buy "Guinness." But how about the Biblical Sarah who, at age 90, bore a son for her husband, Abraham, when he was 100? (Genesis 21)

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago, my father was told that he had kidney failure and would have to go on a dialysis machine.

Because his kidney failure was recent, the chance of obtaining a kidney transplant was small. (There are adults and children who have waited 10 years and longer for a kidney-transplant because Americans are either unaware of the need or have hungups about having parts of their bodies removed after death.)

Thank heavens there was a dear man who had no such hangup. Unfortunately, he was in a fatal car accident, but he gave up his kidney, which matched my fathers needs. That was two years ago, and my family is eternally grateful to that generous man.

Needless to say, the members of my entire family are card-carrying kidney donors. How I wish more people would become donors. If they knew how much it meant to people like us, they would be.

M.C.P. IN NEWPORT BEACH

Dear m.c.p.; i am, and have been for four years. And if my readers want to leave a legacy of inestimable value, write to The National Kidney Foundation, 116 East 27th Street, N.Y., N.Y. 10016 for a donor card.

Ohio Senate Report

By OAKLEY C. COLLINS
17th District Senator

State Senator Oakley C. Collins reported this week that as a result of the current economic slump the Legislature has turned considerable attention toward tax codes. The overall number of bills introduced thus far in the 111th General Assembly dealing with taxes exceeds any other category of legislation.

Most of these bills attempt to lighten the financial burdens on the taxpayer and pump more dollars into the economy through private spending. In general, they either alter the tax base (who pays) through new formulae and extended deadlines for exemptions, or alter the rate structure determining how much each person pays.

One such bill which would eliminate annual updates of real property valuations is currently before a subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Ways and Means.

Present law calls for reevaluation of real property every six years. This bill would make this a quadrennial reappraisal. However, under current practice the system of annual updates can result in substantially higher evaluations in 2 to 3 years. Hence, property owners are faced with a rapidly escalating tax load.

One possible mechanism to solve this problem is an expanded "rate rollback." Under this concept, when valuations are increased, tax rates are reduced accordingly to provide the same number of tax dollars as under the previous levy.

Another cost cutting concept introduced in both the House and Senate permits gas stations to provide self-service. This bill would eliminate Ohio's requirement that gas be pumped by a station attendant. His requirement was based on safety reasons, but experience with self-service in other states does not indicate a significantly increased accident rate.

Some estimates place the consumer cost of attendant service as high as 6 cents per gallon. With an estimated consumption of 4.9 billion gallons of gasoline and 5.5 million gallons of diesel fuel in Ohio in fiscal year 1975 (July '74 to June '75) the potential savings of self-service amounts to over $300 million annually.

The House passed and sent to the Senate legislation overhauling Ohio's usury law. State chartered financial institutions cannot now lend mortgage money at greater than 8 per cent interest.

This bill would establish a maximum floating interest rate, not to exceed 3 per cent above the Federal Reserve discount rate, for conventional home and business real estate loans. The discount rate is the interest the federal government charges to lend money to other financial institutions.

It also exempts from the usury law FHA, VA, and other state and federally insured real estate loans, and business demand and business single installment notes. The latter two are generally short term loans payable in a lump sum.

The bill is intended to make more money available for new home construction and improvements by allowing state chartered banks to lend money at rates competitive with other institutions. However, when the federal government borrows money to finance next year's $70 billion deficit, prime interest rates may soar to about 13 to 15 per cent. The paradox is that state chartered banks cannot afford to make mortgage loans at 8 per cent while many people will not be able to afford loans with that rate of interest. This bill is really cosmetic in nature since major factors determining interest rates can only be influenced at the federal level.

ORDINANCE NO. 58-75

AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING THE DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC SERVICE TO ADVERTISE FOR BIDS AND ENTER INTO CONTRACTS FOR THE PURCHASE OF A 1975 DUMP TRUCK.

WHEREAS, the Department of Public Service needs to replace two dump trucks that are beyond economical repair for safe operation; NOW, THEREFORE:

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, STATE OF OHIO:

SECTION 1: That the Director of Public Service is hereby authorized to advertise for bids and enter into contracts for the purchase of one (1) 1975 truck equipped with a dump bed and salt spreader according to specifications on file in the Office of the Director of Public Service.

SECTION 2: That the Director of Public Service is hereby authorized to sell the following vehicles owned by the Department of Public Service either as trade-ins on the truck mentioned in Section 1 of this Ordinance or to the highest bidder at public auction as required by the Ohio Revised Code.

1. (1) 1963 Dodge 1½ ton truck with dump bed - Serial No. 1461268681.

SECTION 3: That this Ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

What is clean energy really worth?

Clean energy—energy that doesn't blacken skies or pollute rivers—is obviously worth quite a bit. And here's the paradox. The cleanest-burning fuel—and thus the most valuable fuel—is drastically under priced.

But, because natural gas is so clean, and so inexpensive, the demand has far outgrown conventional supplies.

We need new sources of clean energy. And we need them now.

Gas from these new sources costs more to find and deliver, and eventually we'll probably all notice it in our gas bills. But natural gas will continue to be your best energy buy.

Columbia Gas is working to help solve the energy crisis. It's expensive to duplicate nature's work, but we're doing it. A reforming plant, built at a cost of over 44 million dollars, turns petroleum liquids into pipeline quality gas and is designed to deliver eighty-eight billion cubic feet of gas each year. It's only a trickle of the new energy America needs. Still, it's shedding a bright hope on tomorrow.

Legislative Report

By MYRL SHOEMAKER,
88th House District

After weeks of hearings, discussions, ponderings and some frustrations, the biennial budget bill, House Bill 155, emerged from the House Finance-Appropriations Committee with a floor vote anticipated for Tuesday, May 13th.

Without a doubt, the major frustration encountered during the budget formation process was the Governor's withdrawal of support for his corporation tax payment plan which would have resulted in an additional $300 million being available for appropriation during the upcoming biennium.

Pursuant to his statutory duty, the Governor submitted a balanced budget recommendation to the Legislature on March 13th. However, the balanced budget included the $300 million which the new corporation tax payment plan would have generated. Consequently, when the Governor dropped his support for the tax payment plan, his budget became $300 million out of balance.

Although the Governor's actions resulted in unbalancing his budget, the Governor made no recommendations as to where cuts in his many spending proposals should be made so as to once again bring his budget into balance.

In light of the Governor's failure to follow through on his statutory obligation to present a balanced budget, the Legislature assumed the responsibility.

As a result of the work put in by the House Finance-Appropriations Committee, chaired by nine-term Representative Myrl Shoemaker, it would be improper to call the budget bill anything but a true product of legislative action.

Before arriving at appropriation recommendations, the Finance Committee first had to establish how much money would be available to spend between the July 1, 1975 and June 30, 1977 period. Frankly, no one can be certain to the exact dollar just how much money the sales tax or the income tax or the cigarette tax (or any tax levied and collected by the State) will bring in. Consequently, some educated guesses had to be made.

After applying the formula, dubbed "Straight Line Projection and Some Guesses", the Finance Committee determined that there would be $6.12 billion available to spend out of the General Revenue Fund over the next two years. The Governor's original estimate was about $160 million below this.

It was estimated the sales tax will generate about $2.2 billion of the total $6.12 billion, while the personal income tax will bring in about $1.26 billion over the next two years.

In terms of new dollars, the budget calls for spending an additional $502 million in support of our state's primary and secondary school systems. For comparison purposes, the state is now spending approximately $1.7 billion, and will be spending approximately $2.2 billion during the next biennium.

An almost 1-3 increase in state spending for higher education is also proposed. The bulk of the increase is scheduled in the area of instructional subsidies, (basically the giving of money to the schools based on a formula related to the number of students attending) where the state's expenditure will increase from the present $590 million to approximately $790 million.

Another major item of note is the proposal to make the University of Cincinnati (U.C.) a state university. Presently, U.C. is a city university, yet has been receiving during the present biennium approximately $46 million in instructional subsidies from the state treasury. This amount will go to $63 million during the upcoming biennium.

Additionally, and because U.C. has been facing some financial difficulties, the budget proposes to extend to U.S. an additional $20.5 million as an operating supplement. However, the constructive receipt of the $20.5 million is contingent upon U.C. becoming a state university by July 1, 1976.

In an effort to assist families who have been forced on welfare with the rising cost of living, the budget calls for increasing ADC payments to the average femily on welfare from $209 per month to $253 per month.

Also in the area of human services, the budget calls for establishing a Legislative Public Welfare Social Services Review Committee, which will be charged with reviewing the administration of social services in Ohio, in an effort to insure the effective administration and delivery of social services throughout the state.

As a result of legislative frustration with the manner in which certain executive departments have or have not administered government programs established by the Legislature, the budget bill contains several statements of Legislative Intent.

The purpose of these statements is to make it clear that not only is it the intent of the Legislature to give so many dollars to such and such agency, it is also the intent of the Legislature that the dollars should be spent to accomplish certain defined goals.

World Without War, But Peace Uneasy

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

As of now, with the Vietnam fadeout, the world for the first time in about 45 years is without a conflict that can be said to rank as a war, but real peace remains elusive and threats to it are plentiful.

If there's nothing at this moment classifiable as on-going war, there's a lot of armed violence around the world, and there are two cases — the Middle East and Korea — where war has simply been suspended and states of belligerency prevail.

With regard to Korea, the Indochina outcome raises concern that the Communist North, noting a failure of American arms and what it could read as a wholly eroded American will to resist, might step up pressure on the South. Ever since the truce of 1953, the Communists have vowed to "liberate" the South and 40,000 U.S. troops are still there.

In the Middle East, the critical time now comes in July when the mandates keeping United Nations buffer forces between belligerents again will expire. If the current negotiations stalemate looks insurmountable then, the situation will be immensely dangerous.

Since World War I ended 57 years ago, there has almost always, except for relatively peaceful years in the 1920s, been one or more actual wars in progress somewhere on the planet. In 1931 the China-Japan conflict began with Japan's invasion of Manchuria. Then came the Italian invasion of Ethiopia, the Spanish civil war involving outside Communist and Fascist forces, then the Russian-Finnish war and the beginning of World War II.

The big war wasn't over before the Greek civil war started and the conflict in China was transformed into war between the Communist and Chiang Kaishek's Kuomintang. Then came France's seven years of war in Indochina and eight years of war in North Africa, the four rounds of Middle East war between Arabs and Jews between 1948 and 1973, three years of war in Korea with the United States heading a U.N. alliance, and, finally, the American phase of the Vietnam war.

But nations haven't and still don't need outside enemies to find excuses for organized killing. The map is spattered with conflicts wherein citizens of individual nations murder one another over the question, always, of: Who will rule whom?

Guerrilla activity often is equipped and abetted from outside. There still exists a serious threat to the tranquility of Thailand, the only Southeast Asian nation to avoid being colonized. Communist-backed guerrillas, long supported by China, seem to be stepping up their effort, perhaps encouraged by the Indochina outcome.

No Southeast Asian nation has escaped armed violence and in most there is always a possibility that it will became dangerously troublesome yet again.

The Malayan peninsula had its guerrilla insurgency, quelled by the British before the creation of the independent states of Malaysia and Singapore. A variety of political guerrillas, all on the left, are still active in Burma. India accuses China of encouraging guerrilla activity in Assam.

Indonesia almost came under Communist rule in a coup that failed in 1965. The Philippines had its Communist Hukbalahaps of whom there are still remnants and now has its hands full with a Moslem rebellion.

In Europe, Cyprus, for a generation or more the arena for violence between ethnic Greek and Turk, nearly caused Greece and Turkey to go to war last year. At present the situation continues to defy solution and erode the southeast anchor of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Fratricidal strife rooted in centuries of confessional hostility continues to torment Northern Ireland.

Africa experienced a generation of tumult attendant on its emergence to independence. Freedom brought unrest and conflict in the Congo, the Sudan and elsewhere. Today, thirst for freedom stirs Rhodesia's blacks. The guerrilla wars that finally brought Portuguese colonies freedom from that mother country now are being turned into wars among the "liberation fighters" themselves for control.

Ethiopia, long independent, saw its autocratic emperor deposed and then war break out between factions contending for power.

Guerrilla violence dots the map of Latin America, and in Argentina scarcely a week goes by without its toll in blood. Guerrilla movements have existed in a number of Latin-American Nations ever since the Cuban Communist victory of 1959.

In much of the world, experience suggests the outlook is for more of the same. As in the past, the danger in all this can be in the extent to which great powers become directly invovled.

OU Student Killed

LOGAN, Ohio (AP) — James E. Birchall Jr., 21, of New Richmond, a Ohio University student, was killed early Sunday morning when he fell from a cliff at Old Man's Cave in Hocking Hills State Park.

A companion, Kathy Gorman, 20, of Youngstown, was injured when she also fell while trying to reach Birchall.

Like calling directory assistance when you don't absolutely have to. You try it once or twice. And before you know it you're hooked.

After a while you don't think twice about picking up the phone and asking us to find phone numbers that, three times out of four, you could find yourself. In the phone book.

And people are abusing directory assistance now like never before. (One customer called us 1,460 times in one month alone!)

The extra operators we need to service your extra calls cost us money. A cost that shows up on your phone bill. As part of the monthly service charge. Last year millions of consumer dollars were wasted on unnecessary information requests.

And all of those dollars came out of your pocket.

If that doesn't make you mad enough to cut it out altogether, isn't it enough to make you cut it down?

Trial Impossible?

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — James Robert Hunt, 23, has been in custody for more than a year on an aggravated murder charge, but it is questionable whether he ever will be brought to trial.

The case has become bogged down in special legal problems because Hunt can neither hear nor speak and barely is able to communicate.

Hunt has virtually no formal education and was never taught the universal sign language, the basic means of communication for the deaf.

Although his is now receiving such training, it has not been established that he will ever be able to assist in his own defense, a requirement of Ohio law.

Court records show his case is without precedent in Ohio. State law requires that an accused person must be able to understand the nature of the charge against him and be able to communicate and understand trial procedures.

Hunt, who lived on the same road as Mrs. Arledge with his family, was arrested within a few hours.

Joyce Ann Hunt, the suspect's mother, has told authorities her son has been deaf since he was 18 months old, a result of a high fever during an illness.

"His sign language is homemade," said one of his attorneys, Thomas Twyford of Columbus. He and David Riebel of Columbus, were hired to defend Hunt by the Ohio Coalition for Handicapped Children.

Since his arrest he has been in the Lima State Hospital, Columbus State Institute for training, and back to Lima after walking away from CSI.

Twyford argues that no one has declared Hunt mentally ill and that he should be brought to trial rather than be confined at the facility for the criminally insane.

Twyford said interpreters hired to help Hunt report the man is making progress.

The investigation into Mrs. Arledge's murder moved swiftly, but the case was complicated by the death last month of Chief Sheriff's Deputy Wendell Counts, 47, who died of a heart attack. Counts had led the murder investigation.

Deputies said they found Hunt's fingerprints in the woman's car and bloodstained trousers were found at his home.

The incident is not Hunt's first brush with the law. In 1971 he was sent to Orient State School after he was charged with breaking and entering and arson near Circleville. He also was picked up in Columbus two weeks ago and charged with accosting and robbing a man on a Columbus street after he walked away from CSI, police said.

But those charges were dropped so Hunt could eventually be returned to Lima.

Steel Demand Remains Light

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Steelmakers awaiting a turnaround in steel demand may have to wait a few months more than they expected.

That was the conclusion of Industry Week in light of the prolonged demand lag which has seen weekly raw steel output go down since early March.

The Cleveland-based magazine states in today's editions that steelmakers have revised their timetable for economic recovery. They now expect the slump to continue two to three months more than they thought and look for a turnaround during this year's fourth quarter, the magazine said.

A healthy sign, the magazine said, has been steel inventory reductions, especially in the automotive and appliance markets.

Pickaway County Easter Seal Unit Sponsors Camperships

A week of outdoor fun and friendship is once again available to Ohio's physically and neurologically handicapped children and adults at Camp Pittenger near Tiffin, Ohio.

Camp reservations are accepted on a first come, first served basis. As facilities are limited early registration is advised. The 1975 camp dates are:

7-12 years, July 27 - August 8; 12-20 years, August 10 - 22; Adults over age 20, August 23 - 30.

Camp Pittenger is a uniquely designed modern facility, fully equipped to accomodate children and adults with physical or neurological handicaps. Usually more than half of the campers are in wheelchairs. Most common disabilities are: Cerebral palsy, polio, birth defects, muscular dystrophy, arthritis, hearing, sight and heart disorders, burns and accident victims.

There are no limitations to the enjoyment of nature, outdoor recreation and sports activities. Campers are invited to participate in a variety of programs such as: swimming, boating, nature study, hiking, cookouts, campfire songfests and other social activities to name a few.

The camping program for Ohio's handicapped children and adults began more than a quarter of a century ago at Camp Pittenger. The camp is owned by the Tiffin YMCA - YWCA and is leased to the Ohio Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults. The camp is operated by a highly trained staff that includes trained counselors knowledgeable in summer camp programing. A staff of nearly 50 young men and women skilled in working with the handicapped will direct programs to suit everyone's interest. A registered nurse is on duty full time and administers necessary medications. A doctor is on call and only minutes away.

Camp Pittenger provides the setting where handicapped campers can share experiences, help and encourage each other, enjoy old and new friendships and grow in strength to face everyday challenges.

Full or partial camperships are provided by the local unit of the Easter Seal Society, community organizations and private individuals. Anyone interested in attending this camp for the handicapped or providing a full or partial campership contribution should contact Pickaway County Easter Seal Society 474-8416 or the executive secretary, Patty Kirkwood 474-3633.

RESOLUTION NO. 63-75

A RESOLUTION PROPOSING TO COOPERATE WITH THE DIRECTOR OF THE OHIO DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION IN A PAVEMENT MARKING DEMONSTRATION PROGRAM.

WHEREAS, Section 205 of the 1973 Federal Highway Act provided for a Pavement Marking Demonstration Program to demonstrate the effectiveness of pavement markings in reducing traffic accidents; and

WHEREAS, the Ohio Department of Transportation has decided to participate in the said program; and

WHEREAS, the Ohio Department of Transportation has solicited the cooperation of various local governments in conducting this program; and

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, STATE OF OHIO:

SECTION 1: That Council does hereby agree to cooperate with the Director of Transportation of the Ohio Department of Transportation in participating in the Pavement Marking Demonstration Program by providing all pertinent information and accident data as necessary to evaluate the proposed marking improvements as required by Section 205 of the 1973 National Federal-Aid Highway Act.

SECTION 2: That Council desires to participate under the provisions of Chapter 5521 of the Ohio Revised Code and Section 205 of the 1973 National Federal-Aid Highway Act in the improvement of all nonstandard pavement markings on streets designated by the City.

SECTION 3: That the Director of Public Service is hereby authorized and directed to enter into any necessary agreements with the Director of Transportation to complete the planning and construction and installation of the pavement marking as provided under this program.

SECTION 4: That this Resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Thereupon Mr. Tommy Wells seconded the said motion and upon the roll being called the result of the vote taken was as follows:

BEST FOOT FORWARD—Frank Plescia of Circleville is first over the hurdle in the 120 Highs. He placed second to qualify for the District Meet this week at Marysville. Plescia also qualified in the 180 low hurdles and the high jump and will be in action on Friday.

GOING ALL OUT—Logan Elm's Roy Duffey is giving it all he has in the 220-yard dash Saturday in the Sectional finals at Bexley. Duffey finished fourth to gain a berth in the District Meet at Marysville this week. He also qualified as a member of the Braves' 880 Relay team.

Area Lads Qualify For District Meet

All three area Class AA schools will be represented in the District Track Meet beginning Friday at Marysville.

The finals in the field events and the semifinals in the running events will get underway 3 p.m. Friday with the finals in the running events starting at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Berths in the District were gained Thursday and Saturday in the Sectional Meet at Bexley.

Qualifying for Circleville in the field events Thursday were: Jim Cordle, pole vault; Frank Plescia, high jump; Scott Bowman, shot and discus.

The first six place finishers in running and field events in the sectionals qualified for the District.

Moving into the District meet in the running events Saturday for the Tigers were: Plescia, 120 HH, 2nd, 15.3, and 180 LH, 3rd, 20.4; Warren Yamarick, 100-yard dash, 2nd, 10.25; Frank Merrill, mile run, 2nd, 4:40.1, broke sophomore school record of 4:41.1 held by Bill McGowan; Dave Phillips, 180 LH, 5th, 21.0; Tom McGuire, 880, 3rd, 2:01.6, broke sophomore school record of 2:04 set by Bill McGowan; Mike McCoy, 880, 4th, 2:02.4; Mile Relay Team (Frank Merrill, Tom McGuire, Jim Francis, Mike McCoy), 3rd, 3:33.2; Dave Uland, 2-mile, 6th, 10:30.2.

Bullets Edge Celts; Win Clash 98-92

The 5-foot-11 dynamo had his temper and his game under complete control Sunday, and stood tall among the giants of the National Basketball Association while leading the Washington Bullets to a 98-92 victory over the Boston Celtics.

The victory, Washington's 42nd in 48 home games this season, gave the Bullets the best-of-seven Eastern Conference title, four games to two, eliminating the defending champion Celtics.

"Kevin really took charge," said Porter's 6-9 teammate, Elvin Hayes. "He's the real key to this club. He makes things happen and he makes us go. He proved it today down the stretch. It was a fine effort by the little fellow."

In addition to handing off 11 assists, as he did all year to become the NBA assist champion, Porter scored 13 of his 21 points in the final quarter to blunt a Boston comeback.

Washington will now have a week off, which could give Mike Riordan time to recover from a severe thigh bruise, before entertaining either Golden State or Chicago in the first game of the championship series next Sunday.

Junior Tigers Compete In Meet

Gahanna Lincoln and Lancaster tied for first in the Open Division with 54 points while Circleville tallied 5½ points to place 10th.

Mark Albright was fourth in the discus with a toss of 143 feet 2½ inches. Dave Marshall took fifth place in the high jump with a leap of 5 feet 6 inches.

Columbus Westmoor compiled 58 points to win the Relay Division with Lancaster taking second with 50. Circleville had seven points for 13th place.

Gaining places for Circleville were: Mile Relay (Tim Welliver, Dave Marshall, Mike Brudzinski, Greg Berrigan), fourth, 3:49.5, school record; 2-Mile Relay (Larry Reed, Joe Leahy, Dave Holbrook, Dennis Lester), fifth, 9:00.6, school record; High Jump Relay (Dave Marshall, Greg Berrigan, Mike Edgington), 15 feet 6 inches (total three men), sixth, school record; Sprint Medley Relay (Mike Brudzinski, Dave Marshall, Tim Housh, Mike Edgington), didn't place, 1:46.5, school record.

CHS Tigers Crush Miami Trace Nine

Brent Mancini scattered four hits and went all the way as he hurled Circleville to a 10-3 win over Miami Trace Saturday on the local diamond.

Mancini gave up two earned runs, walked five and struck out seven to gain the win. Tom Riley was rapped for 11 hits and suffered the loss for Miami Trace.

Circleville scored three runs in the bottom of the first inning, one in the third, exploded for five in the fifth and added a single marker in the sixth.

Tim McNaughton carried the heavy lumber for the Tigers as he slammed a triple and single and had six RBIs for the day, Biff Bumgarner, Randy Thomas and Phil Roll each rapped two singles while Mancini, Perry Hoskins and Dave Bevan cracked a one-bagger.

Circleville is now 8-7 for the season, 6-5 in the league, and will play three home games this week, all at 4:30 p.m.

Tuesday they will host Teays Valley, meet Bishop Flaget on Wednesday and tackle Chillicothe on Friday. The cancelled game between Circleville and Unioto will be played May 19 at Unioto.

Here are the standings in the South Central Ohio League at this time: Unioto, 7-1; Greenfield, 6-4; Hillsboro, 6-4; Circleville, 6-5; Washington C.H., 4-6; Wilmington, 4-6; Miami Trace, 2-9.

Nelson Golf Classic Delayed By Downpour

DALLAS (AP) — Barring new problems from the weather, the rain-delayed $175,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic winds up today with at least nine and perhaps as many as 18 players still in title contention.

The 54-hole leaders, Bruce Crampton, Bob Eastwood and Rod Funseth, were not among the group caught in the downpour.

The U.S. Open golf championship will be held at Chicago's Medinah No. 3 course June 19-22.

Mustangs Rip Rockets

Westfall tallied in four different innings to beat visiting Berne Union, 10-3, Saturday under the lights.

The Mustangs tallied twice in the bottom of the first inning, three in the third, three more in the fourth and added two in the fifth.

Berne Union gained all three runs in the top of the third.

Craig Moore went all the way for Westfall, allowing six hits, one walk and fanned 10.

Moody and Young shared mound duties for the Rockets. They gave up a total of seven hits, nine walks and struck out eight.

Berne Union had four errors while the Mustangs had three.

Westfall is now 7-10 for the season, 3-2 in the league, and will host Piketon 4:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Tiger Reserves Claw Lions, 6-1

Brian Fath hurled four-hit ball as Circleville downed Washington C. H., 6-1, Saturday on the Blue Lions' diamond.

Fath gave up five walks, fanned five and the Blue Lions' lone tally in the bottom of the first inning was unearned.

Circleville knotted the count with a single marker in the top of the fourth, tallied the go ahead run in the fifth and erupted for four big ones in the top of the seventh.

The Tigers are now 4-3 and will host Westfall's reserves 4:30 p.m. today.

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

It wasn't a full-fledged free-for-all in the best baseball tradition, but for a lazy afternoon in Kansas City it wasn't bad.

The Royals were coasting 4-0 behind Steve Busby, Milwaukee wasn't making much of a comeback attempt and they 11,163 fans scattered around Royals Stadium were stifling yawns.

Then Kansas City's George Brett and Milwaukee's Kurt Bevacqua woke everyone up with some fisticuffs in the seventh inning. Brett barreled into second trying to break up a double play, both players came up swinging and the crowd had something to yell about.

So did Bevacqua and Brett.

Both benches and bullpens emptied, but just to get a better look. No one else through a punch. Bevacqua and Brett were ejected and everyone settled back to watch Busby finish off his five-hit, 4-0 victory.

Elsewhere in the American League, Oakland beat New York 7-5; Texas outslugged Detroit 11-7; Minnesota and Baltimore split a pair, the Twins taking the opener 6-4 and the Orioles the nightcap 9-3; Boston defeated California 5-2 and Cleveland slipped by Chicago 4-3 in 11 innings.

Busby struck out nine batters and walked just two en route to his fifth victory against two losses. Brett, Cookie Rojas, Frank White and Harmon Killebrew collected run-scoring singles. For an added touch, Killebrew, the paunchy 38-year-old designated hitter, stole a base for the first time since Sept. 15, 1971.

"I'm running better now than in about three years," Killebrew explained.

Rangers 11, Tigers 7

Jeff Burroughs and Leo Cardenas clubbed two-run homers and Tom Grieve and Roy Smalley added solo shots for Texas in a game marred by missed fly balls as well as other errors that don't show up in the boxscore. Ferguson Jenkins won his fifth straight game but left after the fifth in favor of Steve Foucault.

Each side was officially charged with only two errors but Texas' Joe Lovitto and Detroit's Leon Roberts, among others, were guilty of misplaying balls into extra-base hits.

"It was one of the worst games I've ever managed in, as far as seeing balls fall in that should have been caught," said Texas skipper Billy Martin.

A's 7, Yanks 5

Vida Blue became the American League's first seven-game winner but needed relief help from Jim Todd to hand New York its seventh loss in the last eight games. Joe Rudi drove in three runs for Oakland with a homer and single. Bobby Bonds hit a two-run homer for New York.

Twins 6-3, Orioles 4-9

Steve Brye's two-run double was the big blow in a four-run rally in the fifth that carried Minnesota to victory in the opener. Rod Carew and Tony Oliva singled in the other two runs in the inning. Bert Blyleven gave up six hits en route to his fourth win in five decisions.

The Orioles rallied in the nightcap behind the hitting of Bobby Grich and Tommy Davis. Grich unloaded a pair of solo home runs and Davis went 3-for-4 with four RBI. Jim Palmer, 5-2, won it and Mike Pazik, making his major league debut, lost.

Red Sox 5, Angeles 2

Rico Petrocelli and Rick Burleson rapped two-run singles as Boston made it seven wins in the last eight games and climbed to within one game of first-place Milwaukee in the East Division. Jim Rice added a solo home run for Boston and Bill Lee went the distance with a seven-hitter. Bill Singer, 2-5, dropped his fourth straight.

Indians 4, White Sox 3

Cleveland's Tom McCraw got an infield single to drive in the tying run with two out in the bottom of the 11th and John Ellis raced home with the game-winner on throwing errors by Terry Forster and Bob Coluccio.

Rico Carty hit a home run for the Indians who ended a five-game losing streak. Nyls Nyman had put the White Sox on top with a run-scoring single in the top of the 11th.

Cardinals Trip Giants, 4-3

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

"I thought they'd be taking some pitches to find out what I had," said Pete Falcone. The St. Louis Cardinals immediately liked what he had—and put the pitches all over the ballpark...and out of it.

"I started them off with fast balls. "I should've started them off with the curve," San Francisco's rookie pitcher added with momentous hindsight. Before Falcone knew what had happened, the Cards had jumped all over him for four runs in the first inning, all they needed for a 4-3 victory over the Giants.

In Sunday's other National League games, Los Angeles blanked Pittsburgh 7-0, New York beat Cincinnati 3-2, Houston mauled Montreal 6-0, San Diego edged Chicago 2-1 and Atlanta beat Philadelphia 7-3.

Lou Brock said it didn't matter what Falcone threw. "I wasn't taking anything" he said. "Just throw it over the plate and I'll swing at it. I can't afford to be taking pitches."

He took a Falcone offering and put it into left field for a double. Then Ted Sizemore put a pitch down the left field line for another one and a run.

Luis Melendez liked the right field line better. He tripled there, sending Sizemore home to tie the score 2-2. Ted Simmons then returned the action to left field...or, more precisely, beyond it. He unloaded Falcone's full-count pitch into the seats for his fourth home run of the season.

Dodgers 7, Pirates 0

Don Sutton "had a touch of the flu and wasn't feeling his best," Dodgers' Manager Walter Alston said. It would have been interesting to see a healthy Sutton facing the hardhitting Pirates. As it was, he limited them to eight harmless hits and chalked up his seventh victory of the season.

"My control was good and I was keeping them off balance most of the time," he said. "I was fortunate that I didn't get behind very many of them and was able to get them to hit my pitch."

The Dodgers got two runs in the fifth inning when Dave Lopes walked, Lee Lacy tripled and he came in on Ken Brett's wild pitch. Los Angeles added three in the sixth, two on Lopes' single.

Mets 3, Reds 2

Tom Seaver settled down after giving up a pair of first-inning runs, one on Pete Rose's lead-off homer, and hurled a six-hitter to help the Mets and their six-game tailspin.

Rusty Staub's single in the eighth, which foiled Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson's lefty vs. lefty strategy, delivered the tie-breaking run.

Singles by Mike Phillips and Del Unser chased Reds' starter Jack Billingham and Staub greeted reliever Will McEnaney with his line single to right.

"Sometimes I make mistakes, too," said Anderson.

Padres 2, Cubs 1

Dave Freisleben withstood Chicago's 10 hits and Hector Torres singled to drive home the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning for the Padres.

Bill Bonham walked Dave Winfield to open the eighth. Two outs later, Winfield stole second and, after Steve Huntz was inentionally walked, Torres singled to right.

Both teams scored a run in the fifth inning, San Diego on Winfield's bases-loaded grounder and the Cubs on Tim Hosley's homer.

Astros 6, Expos 0

Larry Dierker's five-hitter and Roger Metzger's three runs batted in—two with a homer— gave the Astros their victory over Montreal, Houston's first shutout of the season.

Dierker got a fourth-inning run on Jose Cruz' single, Houston added two in the fifth on Ken Boswell's single, Greg Gross' triple and Metzger's infield single. In the ninth, Gross singled for another run before Metzger belted his first homer of the year.

Braves 7, Phillies 3

Williams hit a two-run homer to cap a four-run first inning against Wayne Twitchell and Garr unleashed a three-run clout in the fourth.

Mets Stop Reds

"Beautiful!" said Manager Yogi Berra.

Were they talking about Seaver's six-hitter? About John Milner's home run? About Rusty Staub's clutch single? About Sunday's 3-2 victory over Cincinnati that enabled the New York Mets to snap a six-game losing streak?

Nope. They were talking about substitute shortstop Mike Phillips' eighth-inning relay throw that gunned down Pete Rose at the plate and held the Reds in a 2-2 tie until Staub could come through in the bottom of the inning.

That, Berra said, was the turning point.

Or maybe it was when the Mets picked him up from the San Francisco Giants for the $20,000 waiver price, or when Berra put him in the lineup at shortstop because Bud Harrelson was hurting and Jack Heidemann wasn't hitting.

"The scouting report on him said shortstop and third were his best positions," Berra said, "but he couldn't play short for the Giants with Chris Speier there."

Eastern Michigan Tops OU In Baseball

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — Eastern Michigan swept past Ohio University twice Saturday and grabbed first place in the Mid-American Conference race with a pair of last-inning baseball victories, 5-4 and 8-6.

With two outs in the seventh inning of the first game, Randy Brier singled to drive in John Schmeling to notch Eastern's victory.

A. J. Foyt Heads Indy 500 Field

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The old master, A.J. Foyt, will lead the Indianapolis 500 field for a record-tying fourth time May 25, but again there will be an explosive list of chargers in the back of the 33-car pack.

Foyt, with a dramatic late afternoon effort Saturday, wrestled his new Aztec orange Coyote Racer through its 10-mile, four-lap speed test at an average of 193.976 miles per hour, with a top lap of 195.313 m.p.h. Only the late Rex Mays, who never won here, earned as many No. 1 starting positions in the May classic.

The list of speedsters relegated to the rear of the field, because they missed the first day of qualifying for one reason or another, includes Wally Dallenbach, Roger McCluskey, Steve Krisiloff and Mario Andretti.

Each hopes for the same luck that helped Johnny Rutherford come from 25th starting spot to win last year. Rutherford missed the first day of qualifying because of a blown engine and had to make the field later and start at the rear, despite second fastest speed.

Foyt solved the problems in his new Coyote, which started out the week at barely 173 m.p.h.

"That really shook me up," Foyt said. "But I knew what the car would do—what it was capable of doing—so we stuck with it."

The only other driver to crack 190 m.p.h. was Tom Sneva, starting on the inside of the second row with a 190.094 showing in a McLaren. Rutherford, though better off than last year, starts seventh with a disappointing 185.998 average. Two-time winner Al Unser goes off from a fourth row center spot after a 185.452 test.

Another 17 cars considered capable of high-speed runs will be vying next weekend for starting positions.

Donna Young Wins Lady Tara Tourney

ATLANTA (AP) — "I told my caddy I didn't know if I could make it or not on 18," said Donna Caponi Young. "I was just walking around in circles talking to myself, telling myself I could make it."

It was only a one-foot par putt, albeit over a spike mark on the path to the hole, but Mrs. Young made it and earned a one-shot victory over Gloria Ehret and a charging Sandra Palmer to win the $40,000 Lady Tara golf tournament Sunday.

The 30-year-old tour veteran earned her seventh career victory with a closing one-under-par 72 for a 54-hold total of 214, five under par on the tough, tight Indian Hills Country Club course.

Mrs. Young, a two-time U.S. Women's Open champion, did it the hard way. She held an imposing four-shot advantage after turning the front nine at three-under-par 34, but ran into considerable trouble with a double-bogey seven at No. 12 and a bogey six at No. 14, turning what appeared to be a runaway into a down-to-the-wire finish.

And she had to go back only one year to remember blowing a championship on this same course, taking double-bogey, bogey on the final two holes to fall into a three-way playoff, won by Sandra Spuzich on the fifth extra hole.

"I was thinking of what I did last year," Mrs. Young said. "I didn't want to make the same mistakes again."

She made almost tap-in birdies on the second and ninth holes, rolled one in from 12 feet at No. 8 and sank a 20-footer at No. 5. "When I made that putt (on No. 5) I knew the tournament was over. When it went in I was high as a kite."

Warriors Stun Bulls

"I said before this sixth game that if we didn't come out blazing, we'd go on a vacation until next October," Attles said after his Warriors stunned the Chicago Bulls 86-72 Sunday to carry the National Basketball Association's Western Conference playoff final to a seventh game.

The Warriors, and Rick Barry in particular, did come out blazing to create a 3-3 standoff and give the Warriors home court advantage in the seventh game in Oakland Wednesday night.

The winner will face the Washington Bullets in a best-of-seven showdown for the NBA championship.

Barry, who has had an up and down series, was at his best before a Chicago Stadium record crowd of 19,594.

Barry led both teams with 36 points. He also had seven steals, eight rebounds and eight assists.

It was Barry's hustling play that keyed a Warrior defense that outrebounded the Bulls 51-39 and had Chicago handling the ball like a hot potato most of the time.

Tribe Tops White Sox

CLEVELAND (AP) — "It was a tough break for the White Sox," said Cleveland Indian catcher John Ellis. "And a good break for us. They had the game in the bag."

The White Sox had the game in the bag until the 11th inning when a Tom McCraw pinch chopper down the third base line precipitated two errors, which allowed the winning run to cross the plate.

The Indians ended their five-game losing streak by beating the White Sox 4-3 Sunday afternoon in a Sunday afternoon American League baseball game.

The White Sox took a 3-2 lead in the top of the eleventh when Tony Muser singled, moved to second on Bucky Dent's sacrifice bunt and scored on Nyles Nyman's single to right, off the winner—reliever Tom Bussey, 2-0.

Rico Carty opened the Indians half of the 11th with a walk, moved to second on a Charlie Spikes' sacrifice bunt and to third on a long foul out by Buddy Bell.

With two outs, reliever and loser Terry Forster, 2-2, intentionally walked John Ellis.

McCraw came to the plate and hit his chopper to Forster, which scored Carty. But Forster tried to get McCraw at first and threw the ball wild.

Ellis reached third and kept going toward the plate as the ball was fielded by right fielder Bob Coluccio who threw wild allowing Ellis to score the winning run on an error.

Ferrari Wins Monaco Grand Prix

MONTE CARLO (AP) — The red cars from Italy are winning races again and the people who run them figure it's time to forget about false modesty.

"Ferrari is back on top again," said team manager Luca de Montezomolo after Niki Lauda's victory in the Monaco Grand Prix Sunday. "I've got a terrific car, terrific people driving and we're going to make a change in the racing world over the rest of the season."

The car is the Ferrari 312-T, a new model the team did without during the first two Grand Prix races of the season. Since the big 12-cylinder racer was introduced this spring, it has won Silverstone, the Spanish grand Prix and now Monte Carlo.

Lauda, an Austrian, was only out of the lead for one lap during the 75 laps that began at the end of a rainstorm. Until recently, Lauda often seemed a nervous driver, but in a show of coolness he let Emerson Fittipaldi in a McLaren almost catch him during the final stages.

"Lauda has matured tremendously," de Montemozolo said. "He was following orders. We wanted him to protect his victory and save wear on the car. He did it with great professionalism."

The victory was Ferrari's first here since 1955. This race is one Ferrari particularly wanted because it is followed closely by many Italians.

Michigan State Recruiting Probed

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State University President Clifford Wharton Jr. says the signing of an "unusually excellent group of prospects" last spring has triggered rumors of alleged football recruiting violations at MSU.

Wharton previously has declined comment on the reported probe by the National Collegiate Athletic Association except to acknowledge that the NCAA is looking into MSU's athletic program. He also has ordered those connected with the school to withhold comment.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): An excellent day in which to formulate long-range plans. Something which has seemed out of reach is closer than you may imagine.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Watch and wait before you engage in new undertakings, but do not hesitate where real advantages are obvious. A somewhat mild day, but tricky in spots.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): If you know you are on the right track, stay there; do not go off on tangents without good reason. Curb your innate tendency toward restlessness.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Financial matters now have an element of risk, so make your moves slowly and deliberately. Personal relationships, however, promise to be exceptionally congenial.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Perseverance, despite possible obstacles, will bring handsome rewards soon. Your business acumen should be highly stimulated.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): You may have to revise some views, revamp a preplanned program if you are to attain the goals you desire. But do this efficiently and good results are certain.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): The position of Venus suggests that you stress your innate artistry and create those clever "twists" which make the difference between the so-so and top attainment.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Benefits indicated if you are alert, but opportunities could be lost through indifference or tendencies toward extremism.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Though there is a favorable outlook, some not entirely successful operations may need an added "shot in the arm" — new methods, tightening up, new data.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Time is important, of course, but don't let the thought of it rush you into hasty moves, decisions. Confusion will reign if the guard is down.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): This should be a highly profitable day for those of you who capitalize on your innate imagination and originality. On the personal side, emotions may rise and fall, so maintain equilibrium and poise.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): You may have a tendency to be too impressionable now. Avoid becoming involved in ticklish situations which could disturb you later.

YOU BORN TODAY are one of the most versatile individuals in the entire spectrum of the zodiac. Governed by Venus, the planet of love and beauty, you are naturally endowed with the potentials to succeed at almost any of the arts but, in addition, you have a practical side which fits you for many other careers. Thus, if you do not take up painting, sculpture or music, at which you are particularly adept, as a career, you may follow one or the other avocationally. Other fields in which you could succeed: business management, the law, jurisprudence, teaching or horiculture. Traits to curb: obstinacy and jealousy. Birthdate of: Sir Arthur Sullivan, composer (Gilbert and Sullivan); George Braques, French painter; Daphne du Maurier, famed author.

Rick Ferkel Winner Of Eldora Sprint

ROSSBURG, Ohio (AP) — Rick Ferkel of Bowling Green took the lead on the 10th lap and stayed out front the rest of the way to win the 25-lap sprint car feature at Eldora Speedway Sunday.

Girls Wanted Prime Time

CUPERTINO, Calif. (AP) — Four women physical education teachers accused Cupertino High School officials of sex discrimination. The instructors had complained for weeks that the boys' basketball team was getting use of the gym floor during the prime time of 2-5 p.m.

The Fremont Education Assn. led the fight and won. Now, under a new ruling, the girls will get the prime time while the school's undefeated boys' basketball squad will have to work out at a later time.

The women have conceded, however, that they are willing to make special arrangements for the gym if the boys' team gets into the area championships and requires more practice time.

Views On Television

He's Jack Tafoya, whose half-hour "Jazz Adventures" series has appeared the past two seasons on New York's municipal public TV station, WNYC-TV.

On May 20, his series, expanded to an hour, kicks off with pianist Bill Evans' trio, followed by nine more weeks of shows with such jazz greats as Donald Byrd, Stan Getz and the Gil Evans orchestra.

The shows will appear only locally now. But Tafoya says he plans to approach both prospective underwriters and the Public Broadcasting Service about getting some or all the new programs aired nationally.

"One of the reasons jazz has never got its due is that it's never hit the mass medium, at least with artists like these," says Tafoya, a former bassist and singer who hosts all his shows.

"When you see jazz on TV, it's always going to be Ella Fitzgerald or Benny Goodman. It's always these same people. And that's what all the kids think jazz is. They don't get to hear a Bill Evans."

He spoke before a screening of the Evans show. The program's production was modest, but the camera work was good and the sound quality — often mediocre even in network shows — was magnificent.

Tafoya says he gets most of the money for his non-profit "Jazz Adventures," which also holds off-camera concerts locally, from the New York State Council on the Arts.

The council, a tax-supported body, says it gave JA an $11,000 grant for the 1973-74 season and doubled that this season.

Tafoya said he taped the current batch of "Jazz Adventures" TV shows at Brooklyn College before a student audience in January and February.

He says he hopes to enlist PBS' wealthiest station, WNET-TV here, in helping him find corporate underwriters who would pay for the series' national broadcast, when and if such ever occurs.

Nadarko Victorious In Race

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Nadarko staged a stretch drive to draw away for a length and a half victory in the $2,600 feature Sunday at River Downs.

The winner completed the six furlongs in 1:12 to pay $10.60, $5.40 and $3.40. Mayme's Joye returned $5.40 and $3.80. Lot O Song was the show horse at $3.00.

Cuba Reshaped Under Castro

For a reporter who last saw the island 20 years ago, Fidel Castro's new Cuba is a startling experience.

Long gone are those once-familiar billboards proclaiming: "Beba Coca Cola," or "Vuele Pan American." There are no advertising agencies on the island — not a single commercial ad in any newspaper, nor on any radio or television show. Only a few scattered billboards discreetly describe the routes of Aeroflot, the Soviet airline.

In place of commercials, the Cuban media bombard the populace with exhortations to work harder, produce more, to rally behind the Communist party and to waste nothing.

These outward signs catch the eye instantly in Cuba. More difficult to comprehend are the inward signs of the "new Cuban man." In 16 years of rule, the Castro regime has managed to submerge the individual's own welfare into a cog of the collective wheel.

Since Castro seized power in 1959, 600,000 Cubans have fled the island. But the 9 million who remain exhibit a spirit of pride and patriotic fervor which must explain their willingness to endure the years of shortages suffered by an island isolated for more than a decade from most of the world except the Soviet bloc.

Cuba is a youth society. Almost half of the nation is under 20 years of age, knowing no other government than that of Castro. The revolution heaps its scant resources on educating its youth and convincing them of its socialistic way of life.

Everywhere you go, teachers, factory foremen, agricultural planners, editors of newspapers, movie producers and baseball managers all speak of life in Cuba as if everything began in 1959.

They say with pride that since the revolution Cuba has achieved successes in every field, wiping out illiteracy, tripling the number of students in schools, doubling steel production, and providing free medical and dental care for all.

They have a good word for nobody before Castro's revolution but Jose Marti and his heroic exploits against Spanish colonial rule and the founders of the Communist party who laid the seeds for the guerrilla campaign which Castro and his aides waged from the Sierra Maestra mountains.

One encounters sharp contrasts in Havana. People line up patiently with their ration coupons to buy food and clothes. Some workers wait in line an hour just to buy a newspaper, which costs five cents.

On Sundays the papers publish readers' letters, some of which voice criticism of life in Cuba such as poor service in a restaurant. In one recent case workers aired their complaints about a cafe which, according to one journalist, promptly "shaped up."

On Saturday nights Havana's luxury hotels are jammed with what could pass for a new affluent youth class. In rooms once graced by one-armed bandits and gaming tables, couples dance to Cuban rhythms. In a bar where a daiquiri costs the equivalent of $2, a pianist plays the theme song from "Love Story" and other tunes from the United States.

One wonders where they get the money. Most students get 30 pesos a month — about $24 — and all are kept busy in "productive work" 25 hours a week outside the classroom.

There appears to be no drug problem and there are no drunks on the streets. Like other socialist states, Cuba is a puritanical society where no X-rated movies or literature are permitted. The most popular Hollywood movie in recent months was "The Godfather," but most U.S. films here are of an older vintage, such as "Hud" with Paul Newman.

No one can be fired and everyone is required by law to work or study between the ages of 16 and 60. Doctors can earn $480 a month, while journalists get about $165 and workers in the steel mills about $120.

The government has evolved an elaborate "bonus" plan which brings throngs of workers to the night spots.

On Saturdays and Sundays the famed Tropicana nightclub is turned over to workers who for their production achievements have been awarded a night on the town by their unions, paying half price to see the elaborate floor show at Havana's most famous club.

Solons Wrap Up Energy-Tax Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional tax writers trying to wrap up an energy-tax package face a major controversy over whether to include a tax on petroleum company windfall profits.

Regardless of whether the issue is immediately resolved, the Ways and Means Committee planned to start a tax bill through the legislative process today, beginning a busy congressional week with attention focused on domestic energy problems and the plight of Vietnamese and Cambodian refugees.

The House vote on a measure authorizing relief and resettlement of an estimated 114,000 Indochinese is scheduled Wednesday, to be followed immediately by consideration of a $405 million appropriation for the purpose. The Senate Foreign Affairs Committee rearranged its schedule to begin considering the refugee legislation today.

The House also will take up a compromise version of the congressional budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1. A Senate-House conference committee last week worked out a compromise between versions passed by both chambers and came up with a spending target of $367 billion and a $68.8 billion deficit.

Before the week is over the House expects to dispose of a $32 billion authorization for weapons for the armed services.

Consideration of that bill will be complicated by a drive to attach to it provisions requiring admission of women to the service academies and perhaps to open some combat assignments to servicewomen.

About midweek, the Senate expects to try to limit debate to allow a vote on a controversial bill to create a consumer protection agency.

As already written, the Ways and Means Committee's energy bill would increase gasoline taxes by yearly increments, impose a special levy on high gasconsuming new automobiles, create new duties to replace petroleum tariffs, tax some industrial use of petroleum and natural gas, and give tax benefits for installing energy-saving insulation.

Church Order Protested

The NOW group, numbering about 30, was protesting a recent order by a California bishop, who ruled all parishes in his diocese must deny sacraments to members of any organization not opposed to abortion.

Heavy Trucks Plague Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The chance to make more money outweighs the risk of getting caught, officials say, and some overloaded Michigan trucks regularly are violating the city and state truck weight limits.

Random checks showed trucks were several tons over the allowable 78,000-pound gross vehicle weight while making deliveries to local industries. In one case, a steelhauling rig was found to weigh 159,000 pounds, 5,000 pounds more than Michigan's limit.

Richard Curtis, Michigan Public Service Commission district supervisor, said Michigan crews, using portable scales, often will catch truckers on U.S. 23, headed for Ohio, who are exceeding Michigan limits. Fines of several thousand dollars for weight violations are not uncommon, he added.

"We know they're going on into Ohio, but if the trucks are legal in Michigan, there's no way we can hold them up," Curtis said.

ANYONE INTERESTED?

READY TO GO—This cyclist, who toured the Scioto River Valley with about 3,125 other bike riders last weekend, had his sights set on a longer trip than the 208-mile journey from Columbus to Portsmouth and back. He had no takers by the time he arrived at Ted Lewis Park Saturday.

LONG TRIP—The Tour of the Scioto River Valley last weekend was a long one for this youngster, whose bike is attached to the rear extension of his dad's 10-speed. The bicycle built for one and a half was one of many contraptions devised for use on the 208-mile trek.

Boy Convicted Of Reduced Charge

David Tinney, 17, Route 4, was incorrectly reported in Saturday's Herald as being convicted in Juvenile Court of reckless operation.

Tinney was originally charged with reckless operation by L. E. Sines, of the Williamsport Police. When the case came before Judge Guy G. Cline for hearing, the judge reduced the charge from reckless operation to driving left of center and sentenced the boy accordingly.

The records on file had not been updated to the revised charge and therefore carried a conviction of the more severe offense.

Tinney was given a suspended $10 fine and had his license suspended for one month.

Civil Case Settled Out Of Court

A group of jurors was called and dismissed this morning in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court on a civil matter which was settled before the jury was seated.

Charles R. and Betty Crawford of Grove City had sued Buckeye Culvert and Supply Company Inc. of Fredericktown and Jim Nichols of Centerburg. The plaintiffs were asking for judgment in the amount of $250,000 as a result of injuries Crawford sustained when struck by a large piece of pipe that fell off the defendant's truck.

Crawford was a foreman at the time and since the injuries, alleges that he can no longer hold gainful employment. The accident occurred at the Scioto Estates Mobile Home Park in South Bloomfield.

Refugees Continue To Swamp Centers

AGANA, Guam (AP) — Refgees from South Vietnam continue to pour into Guam by the thousands despite a limit on departures to the United States.

The population of the sweltering Pacific island refugee camps approached 50,000 today as arrivals streamed in while departures trickled out. Camps at three locations stateside already are filled to capacity.

"It will be crowded but we will be able to handle it all right," said Rear Adm. G. Steve Morrison as four ships with 16,000 aboard approached Guam.

Among the latest arrivals were 94 refugees jammed aboard a sinking boat who made it to Guam only because the aircraft carrier Midway chanced by. The Midway already was loaded with 101 fighter planes and helicopters, the battered remnants of South Vietnam's air force.

About 3,400 refugees were scheduled to leave Guam today, with the pace slowing to 1,000 daily beginning Tuesday, Morrison said.

Overcrowding also was reported at refugee camps in Arkansas and Florida.

The Army said the number of refugees at Ft. Chaffee, Ark., would reach 20,000 sometime today. That is as many as the installation in northwest Arkansas can house at this time, the Army said.

James King, a State Department spokesman, said Arkansas Gov. David Pryor has no objection to raising the limit if it would not overburden sewer and water facilities or adversely affect nearby communities.

Red Cross workers at Eglin Air Ford Base, meantime, were busy distributing toys to refugee children. Two planes loaded with toys from Daytona Beach and friendship boxes sent as a welcome from elementary school children throughout the United States arrived Sunday.

Refugee population at Camp Pendleton in California was as high as 19,000 over the weekend, about 900 over its capacity, officials said.

Kroger

TOTAL SATISFACTION GUARANTEE

Everything you buy at Kroger is guaranteed for your total satisfaction regardless of manufacturer. If you are not satisfied, Kroger will replace your item with the same brand or a comparable brand or refund your purchase price.

We also guarantee that we will do everything in our power to have ample supplies of all advertised specials on our shelves when you shop for them. If, due to conditions beyond our control, we run out of an advertised special, we will substitute the same item in a comparable brand (when such an item is available) reflecting the same savings or, if you prefer, give you a "RAIN CHECK" which entitles you to the same advertised special at the same special price any time within 30 days.
